Key to last week's puzzles:
 No. 1—Invert picture. Messenger is in the tapestry directly over the head of the priest.
 No. 2—Turn right side of picture down. Head of first opponent is between priest at right side of picture and the courtier at upper end of the table. Invert picture. Head of second opponent is on the other side of the same courtier, his body formed by map on the wall.
 No. 3—Invert picture. Head of first advisor is between those of the king and queen. Face and body of second is outlined by head of fear in extreme left of picture.
 No. 4—Invert picture. Head of first stranger is in wall of city, his nose at Columbus' left shoulder. Second is in rocks at the right of the explorer in a line with the hand in which he carries the scroll.

The two winners this week are:
 Ruth McNeil, "Danville; Cecelia Foley, 10 Almira St., city.
 Honor roll:
