A BRILLIANT CAREER.

A Beautiful Catholic Story Written For The Catholic Journal. BY MARY ROWENA COTTER.

CHAPTER I.

June, the bright month of roses and sweet girl graduates was drawing to a close, and nature could not have endowed the alumni of a New York High School with a pleasanter evening than that which they had chosen for their commencement exercises.

Long before eight, the hour appointed for the exercises, the great hall was thronged with friends and relatives of the class, and the low murmur of voices might be heard until silenced by the sound of a brilliant march.

Beatrice was the eldest of five daughters of a wealthy New York broker who spared only one thing for preparing his children to become accomplished members of society.

Each day the mother managed to snatch from the multiplied social duties some time which she would devote exclusively to her girls, listening attentively to an account of the day which each had to relate, and so true was her sympathy that unlike the children of, alas, to many society ladies, each felt irresistibly drawn toward "dear mamma" in every joy and sorrow.

The year following Mrs. Snow's marriage had been spent in foreign travel, the last place her husband took her being Rome where, nearly a month was spent. Here she went about with eyes blind to the beauties of the Catholic faith, which from infancy she had been taught to despise as something far beneath her notice.

As for the convents, she could not at first be persuaded to visit them; but finally led within their peaceful walls by idle curiosity she trembled with fear lest she might fall victim to some of the plots which she believed to be enacted behind the grates where her eyes were not permitted to penetrate.

early that G-d might give him strength to resist all temptation. He felt a tender, fatherly interest in all, but few were dear to him as the bright, eldest daughter of Mr. Snow, in whom from the first time he had met her he had felt a deep interest which he could not understand.

With a proud smile Mrs. Snow turned to one of her lady friends saying: "You see our young minister has actually carried off my daughter when her father would have claimed the honor of being her escort to supper."

Ready For The Bicycle Season Of 1903.

The Bicycle Store is ready to show you 1903 wheels. Department is a little farther back in Basement this year but you'll feel at home as soon as you get there.

Through all the vicissitudes of the bicycle business, while other wheels have made a name and been forgotten, the Lenox, year after year, has been gaining friends and favor. It was the first bicycle in Rochester to be sold at a fair price. We believe it the best of bicycle values to-day.

It is for the Lenox of 1903 that we want first attention now. It's the same thoroughly reliable wheel with here and there an improvement making it strictly up-to-date, but leaving it still the Lenox.

Standard Model, $27.50; Racer, $32.50; Cushion frame, $35. The Navarre is the running mate of the Lenox, Model A, $18; Model D, $20. Navarre Juveniles, 20 in. wheels, $15; 24 in. wheels, $17; 26 in. wheels, $18.

And there's a new element in the Bicycle business with us this season—the Motor Cycle. We have been experimenting with it a couple of years, have reached the practical stage. Let us show you what we have.

A Clock For Every Room.

From the kitchen to the hall—such is the variety in our Clock Department. Many new styles have been added recently, making the assortment a most attractive one.

Among the fresh arrivals are the severely beautiful English Cabinet Clocks, in golden oak and mahogany cases. There is also a fine showing of French Regulators, in brass and mahogany cases.

Our clocks have something more than beauty of exterior to recommend them—they are good time-keepers and of durable construction.

Five Minute Sermon.

Jesus Casts out a Devil.

From the context of the other Gospels we learn that this unfortunate man of to-day's Gospel was not only dumb but also blind, and that his condition was not the result of sickness, but the work of the devil, by whom he was possessed.

This dumb man is a figure of the human race, which, being a victim of the demon, like a blind man cannot see its own misery nor the infamy of its morals, nor the light of truth, nor its duties, nor God. And like a dumb man, it cannot utter a word in praise of the divine majesty, nor a word in behalf of its own welfare.

By the words related in the Gospel Christ proved that it was impossible for the demon to contend against himself; that he could not be put to flight by the power of God, and that if He, Christ, could cast out devils, then the time foretold by the prophets had come—the time when God would reign in men's hearts by His grace.
