To Hold Two Fairs.

Immediately after the first Sunday of October, all the Catholic Churches of the city will unite in conducting two church fairs: one on the East side of the river and one on the West side. The object of these fairs is to raise money for the building of the Old Women's Home on the Boulevard. Nine and one-half acres have been purchased on the old Tone estate, and eventually there will be erected three buildings; one for old women, one for old men, and one for old couples, where they may live together.

The first building which will be erected is the home for the old women as the home on Main street east is overcrowded, and in other respects undesirable. The contemplated building on the Boulevard will be only two stories high, for the greater convenience of these aged folks. It is a work that readily appeals to the people, and there is no doubt of the success of the movement contemplated.
