Lines on St. Anne De Beaupre.

I love this sacred spot where pious pilgrims kneel
Before thy holy shrine, in fervent prayer.
O great St. Anne, thy tender heart doth feel
For all with true maternal love and care.
As they appeal to thee in pain or grief,
Thou dost obtain for them a sweet relief.

The water of the grand Saint Lawrence glides
In calm majestic motion on their way
Past Bonne Saint Anne, as if the gentle tide
Its silent humble homage thus would pay.
Before the ancient shrine, as on its breast
It bears the pilgrims to this place of rest.

What joy to hear, at evening's solemn hour,
The music of thy sweet-toned bell resound
O'er land and water from thy lofty tower
Inviting all to prayer. Its heavenly sound
Is like an angel's warning from above
Reminding us of God's eternal love.

The sons of St. Alphonsus guard thy shrine
O good St. Anne, the pilgrims they receive
Who come to seek thy potent help of thine
And speak comforting words to those who grieve
O'er sin, while they, as priests of God, impart
A holy peace that heals the contrite heart.

And daily here the praise of God is sung,
Here thousands come to bless his holy name
From distant shores the faithful, old and young
Proclaim with joy St. Anne, thy glorious fame.
They leave the busy scenes of worldly strife,
Confess their sins, receive the Bread of Life.

How of the erring child of sin, for years
Astray from virtue's path, hath here obtained
The grace of true repentance, and in tears
Hath severed bonds by which he was enchained
In crime, but now by thy assistance freed,
To him a Mother thou hast proved indeed.

How often have the sick, the blind, the lame
Obtained a cure by thy maternal aid,
Of all their ills, as led by faith, they came
From distant homes, by dangers undismayed,
As pilgrims to thy shrine, o'er land and sea,
To seek for health and comfort here from thee.

O great St. Anne, behold! I call on thee
To aid me in this life of toil and care,
That I to God may ever faithful be,
With pity listen to my humble prayer.
Receive this votive wreath I now entwine
With love to thee, to place before thy shrine.

COOK OPERA HOUSE.

Next week the Cook Opera House Stock company will present the well known Irish Comedy Drama by Dion Boucicault, entitled "The Shaughraun." Conn is the merriest and bravest lad that the author ever put into a play. The conventional "heroic" part is that of Robert Folliott, who is convicted of a crime that he never committed, and sent to Australia. He returns an escaped prisoner and Conn steers him through a series of hair raising scrapes with an audacity, keenness of wit and a merry heart that is irresistible.

Matinees will be given on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

NATIONAL THEATRE.

Miss Jessie Bonstelle will be seen at the National Theater next week in the romantic drama, "Mistress Nell." This is the eleventh week of her engagement and no evidence of waning interest is apparent. "Mistress Nell" is the place in which Henrietta Crossman won her first success. Since then both play and actress have become well known. Miss Bonstelle will be seen in the title role. The play deals with the most interesting period in the life of King Charles II of England, his connection with Nell Gwyn, which has been the subject of many stories and plays, but "Mistress Nell" the most successful of them all. Paul McAllister is to be seen as King Charles.

The forthcoming production will be one of the most elaborate of the season at the National Theater. There will be the usual matinees on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday.

People's Fair and Carnival to Open at Glen Haven Monday

—A Large Number of Attractions.

Preparations for the People's Carnival to be held at Glen Haven are well under way. Some of the concessions are already in place.

The Carnival is to be opened next Monday, and will continue through the first Saturday in August.

Some of the interesting features of the Carnival will be the cyclone house, an optical illusion, the House of Trouble and the Cave of the Winds.

Another interesting attraction is the six-legged cow. Usually freak animals of this description are stuffed. The six-legged cow is alive. She gives milk regularly.

The house in which the moving pictures will be shown is in the course of erection, and the ring for the bull show has been staked out, as well as the spot where the daily balloon ascension will be made.

Each day the person making the ascension will throw from his parachute ten envelopes containing certificates that will be honored for prizes. The children are expected to enjoy themselves in gaining possession of the envelopes.

The reproduction of the famous charge up San Juan Hill will prove the great feature of the two weeks' entertainment. The attack will be made by the First and Eighth Separate companies, National Guard, and the Spanish forces will be represented by a small detail from each company with Lincoln Company of Spencerport High School, under the command of Surgeon George A. Benton.
