LOUTH.—A meeting of the North Louth divisional executive of the U. I. L. was held on Aug. 29, under the chairmanship of R. B. King, president. Joseph Hughes referred to a paragraph which appeared in the press to the effect that Mr. Healy would not be opposed at the next election for North Louth, and he asked was it the feeling of the executive that such should be so. It would be better for them to abandon the movement than to allow themselves to be represented in the next parliament by the man who is the opponent of every national movement. The chairman said they were in a better position in North Louth than ever they were. They had nine active branches of the league in the constituency, and when the time came a convention would be held at which the question of representation would be decided.

MEATH.—The annual aeridheacht of the Dunshaughlin branch of the Gaelic league was held lately in a field adjacent to the village. Prior to the aeridheacht proper there was a hurling match. The performance opened with a rince foda by the Dunshaughlin branch, who acquitted themselves admirably. The Athboy choir followed with a charmingly rendered chorus, "Colmb-Ceoil." Dunshaughlin next contributed a double jig. Miss May Kelly, Dunshaughlin, gave a successful recitation and was succeeded by Mr. Nolan, who sang in capital style. There were many other excellent and thoroughly Irish items on the programme, all performed in fine style. A word of praise is due to P. J. Murray of the Dunshaughlin branch for the manner in which the entertainment was carried out and also to P. Murphy, N. T., a well known Gaelic southern Irish speaker, who announced the items in Irish and assisted to make the Dunshaughlin annual festival interesting and enjoyable.

A meeting of the delegates of the King Harman tenantry was held in the courthouse, Boyle, lately over which the Very Rev. Canon Coyne presided. The meeting was called to make final arrangements for the purchase of the estate under the land act of 1903. There was a large attendance. Norris Goddard, solicitor, Dublin, who has charge of the negotiations for the landlord, was present. Various matters in connection with the sale were gone into. Mr. Coleman, James O'Farrell and James McLoughlin raised the question as to the distribution of the bogs at Cloontykilligh and Errona and instanced cases where tenants were denied [illegible] turbary. Mr. Goddard explained that all the bog, except that in the demesne, would be acquired by the estates commissioners, who would appoint three trustees for its allotment to the tenants.

The skill of Irish girls and their quickness in acquiring and applying knowledge, says the Freeman, is shown in the exhibits from the Loughlynn convent at the Irish Industrial Revival exhibition in the Antient concert rooms, Dublin. The school was opened at the end of May last. The nuns in the convent school were rushed in the use of lace needle for fancy work and had to be taught from the beginning in design and handicraft. There are fine pieces of lace and embroidery in their case. Some of the embroideries are of [illegible] both in design and size. They are all beautifully worked, the girls being able to use a great variety of stitches and applying them with correct taste. This skill was acquired in two months' training in the convent.

SLIGO.—Mrs. Johnston of O'Connell street, Sligo, died Aug. 30, after a short period of sickness. The funeral was one of the largest and most representative witnessed in Sligo for years.
