NO VAGRANCY IN GERMANY. Every Loafer is Stopped by the Police For An Accounting.

Fo-day the lot of the laboring man in Germany is in many respects better than that of ours, writes Poultney Bigelow in the Nacional Magazine. The German state recognizes the right of every man to live-we do not When the German laborer becomes old or feeble, the State pensions him honorably. In Germany the laboring man can ride on the electric cars for two cents—we pay five. German citles have public baths, public faundry establishments, big parks, free concerts and many other features which soften poverty-although they may not remove it. In England vagrancy has been a public nuisance for generations: with us it has become of late years almost a public danger. Germany has no tramps, and every loafer is stopped and made to give an account of himself. The man who is without work in Germany finds no inducement to remain idle. A paternal government sets him to such hard work that the would-be unemployed finds it decidedly to his interest to seek some other employment as soon as possible.

"I have," said a man who has more or less frequent occasion to look up the exact meaning of words, "a dictionary that I have been using for about twenty years. The Troublesome Loco Weed.

The expert chemists of the arid belt have undertaken to determine the exact composition of the loco weed. which is the cause of a good deal of worry and expense to stockmen throughout the West. Just what composes the active principle of this plant is unknown, though its effects are very evident upon grazing cattle and horses after they have eaten it. The plant contains a poison which acts on the brain of an animal and causes a form of insanity, so the coming investigation is to determine first the composition of this poison, to classify it. an then to find a way to render it harmless.

The original loco plant is a weed, which takes its name from the Spanish One peculiarity of this is that it has no effect on sheep.-Field and Making Rubber in Colorado.

The announcement that rubber has been found in a supposably useless weed, growing on the arid plateau and high mesa lands of the Colorado mountains, sets at rest all fears of a rubber shortage. The rubber tree is a product peculiar to the tropics. The newly discovered rubber plant of Coloado, however, grows at an altitude of from 5,000 to 12,000 feet, where the climate holds all the rigors of winter and all the withering force of a rainless summer. The discovery of the plant relieves the world's rubber market from its dependence on the tropics and makes it possible for rubber to become a stable crop, even in countries where extreme cold prevails. -The World To-Day.

Dirtiest People on Earth.

The Thibetans are believed to be the dirtiest people on earth, and the Llamas are the dirtiest Thibetans. A correspondent remarks that the country people are probably a little less dirty than the townsfolk, because they are "constantly exposed to the purifying winds of the tablelands. which are the nearest equivalent in Thibet to a cold bath."

Music Halls Are Growing.

From a report published by the French minister of finance, it appears that the increase of music halls in Paris is seriously threatening the existence of many theatres.

Meal of the Two Countries. General John F. Weston, of the Department of Commissary and Subsistence has received from an American' army officer in the East a dried fish which, in the general's opinion, explains the wonderful mobility of the Japanese.

If the Japanese soldier has no time to boil a section of the fish with his rice, he cuts off a piece with his knife and chews the cud. so to speak. There is enough nutriment in it to sustain him for several hours. With proper economy, one fish, which takes up but little room in his baversack, will last him almost a week.

The American emergency ration consists of parched corn and powdered dried beef packed into a tin cylinder about seven inches by one and a half. A soldier with a good appetite could consume the contents of one a day and at least half a one if he were making forced marches. It has more sustaining power than the Japanese emergency ration, but as a full ration it takes up five or six times as much space, since the American soldier is supposed to carry one for each day's Trackless Railway Laid.

United States Consul Langer at Solingen, Germany, reports to the Department of Commerce and Labor that a trackless railway is being erected, by the community of Mannheim, which will be the first of its kind in Prussia. it will run from Mannheim to Langenfeld, about 214 miles long, with two short branches intended for freight-

Five or six double trips at the rate of 8 to 10 miles per hour will be made daily on schedule!

A Queer Accident.

Sensational incidents are not uncommon in the closing stages of famous criminal trials. One of the most remarkable occurred in Melbourge on the last day of the trial of Ned Kelly, known to thousands of readers of penny fiction as the "ironclad bushranger of Australia." A knife dropped from a gallery overhead and fell at the feet of the desperado in the dock. He had every temptation to grasp it and put an end to his existence, for there was not the slightest chance of his escaping the gallows. But it was promptly picked up by a bailiff and its owner was arrested and brought before the Judge. He pleaded that the occurrence was purely accidental, and the explanation was accepted by the

A Great Architect.

One day the great architect Richardson was approached by a man who had only $1,500 to spend on a house. The difficulties of the problem appealed to Richardson so strongly that he took hold with zest. It put him on his mettle to produce an artistic result from purely structural conditions. But when the client announced that he could afford $3,000, hand. The great man's interest was gone.-Country Life in America.

BIG FEODOR MACHON

Great Difference in the Emergency He's the World's Tallet Man; Me Doubt About It. The tallest man in the world is one ing to England. He is Feoler Machow, of Kustjak Russia, and he is seven feet nine inches in helgar. Until some scien tists "discovered" him and brought him to Moscow: Feeder looked upon his abnormal beight as a grave drawback. Now he is rather proud of it.

This man is not only the largest man alive, but his measurements are greater than those of any known giant of the past two generations. He is but twenty-two years old, and remarkably well proportioned for his height. The Anthropological Society of Berlin is taking a very lively interest in Machow, and many learned men have measured and studied him during the past few months. Prof. Felix you Luschan, the famous ethnographical student, has made the official report. and this is what he finds:

"I have carefully examined and measured from an anthropological standpoint, Feodor Machow, who is now about twenty two years of age. "He is seven feet nine inches in height, and can therefore be classed consumption.—New York Evening with the largest glants that have ever lived. He exceeds in height all the known living giants by at least a head, and is in many respects of great scientific interest."

As a matter of fact, all the glants who have been exhibited in Europe up to the present time were from the inches to 5.9 inches shorter than Machow. Their average height was between 6 feet 10 inches and 7 feet 5 inches, according to documents placed with the Anthropological Society by the late Prof. Virchow. The shows men, however, always exaggerated the height in advertisements.

Feodor Machow comes from an old Russian family, whose ancestors are said to have emigrated to. Russia from the south, probably from Syria. His parents, as well as his two brothers and one sister, are all of normal size. His grandfather was large, but in no sense a giant, It is suid, how ever, that in earlier generations of the family large specimens occurred. Viewing this case from the standpoint of the theory that mental and physic cal traits are inherited, it would scent that the theory is strengthened to a certain extent, especially in regard to bodily stature.

The boots worn by Machow, which scarcely reach to his knees, reach an ordinary person almost up to the waist, and a twelve-year-old boy corril easily find room inside of one with them. The ring which adorns it. index finger of Machow's right hand is so large that a half dollar can easily be passed through it. A steel spring mattress of extra size and strength had to be made for him, and placed on a strong iron frame. This promising youth eats at each meal at least thin ty-one pounds of ment and a proportionate quantity of notatoes, vegetables, and broad, with a relishing appetite. It is at the cost of much troutile and still greater expense that the society is entertaining him. London Express.

GRAMMAR IN THE GROCERY.

As Enforced by This Clerk It Was Not a Distinct Aid in Selling Goods. The peril of employing highly educated young men as clerks in some businesses was aptly illustrated one day this week when a woman stopped at a grocer's and asked:

"Is them lettuce fresh?" "You mean that lettuce," suggested the clerk, "and it is fresh," "Then you'd better eat "it."

snapped as she walked on. * The grocer rushed out and asked the clerk what he had said to the woman to anger her, and the young clerk replied.

'Why, nothing, only I corrected her grammar."

'You have turned away one of my best customers. Only yesterday she came in and asked me how I sold 'these white sugar,' and I got an order for a whole barrel. Hang you, sir! But if them customers want grammar they don't expect to find it in a grocery. No. sir! And if you see her again you want to apologize in the most respectfullest manner."

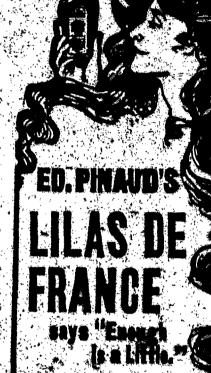

Third Degree in Japan.

In 1890 a girl of 13 was murdered in Osaka, having suffered indignities a: the hands of her assassin. The pot lice arrested a youth of 18 on suspicton, and he, having confessed, was brought up for trial. Owing, however, to insufficient evidence the accused, he was dismissed with a wave of the Matsuura, was acquitted. He has lived ever since under a social ban, the public being convinced of his guilt. But now suddenly, four years after the event, a burglar charged with a major crime has confessed that he was the perpetrator of the outrage wabster in Banff, was convicted by the and murder, and Matsuura, question ed as to why he made such a confest of breaking into the buithe of Patrick sion, alleges that he was tortured by Shand and stealing therefrom "sume the police beyond all endurance.
