THIS is the day of the natural waisted woman. The W. B. Erect Form has changed the American figure. It has supplanted discomfort with ease—it has banished the impossible and exaggerated figure produced by the old corset idea. It removes the strain of lacing from the sensitive parts of the body and throws all pressure upon the hips and the strong back muscles, supporting the stomach within the corset and not forcing it below the garment. The Erect Form is made in more models than ever before. There are forty distinct styles of this popular make, each meant for a distinct type of woman. Dealers in all sized towns and cities the land over, sell the Erect Form. Prices range upward from $1.

JOLLY JOKES.

SONNET OF A FARM HAND.
 How little sense them people have who think
 The crowded city, with its dirt and heat
 Is fit to live in—my! that sun does beat
 Down hard enough to almost make me sink
 Here in my tracks! They work with pens and ink
 Day after day for just enough to eat
 And wear, poor fools, and never know how sweet
 Life is out here—oh, for a good, cold drink!
 Just look at them there fields all wavin' green—
 Confound the flies!—it's like a picture, most,
 With everything so bright and pure and clean—
 By Heck, I almost feel as though I'd roast!
 This is the longest day I ever seen;
 I've got to rest or I'll give up the ghost.
 —Chicago Record-Herald.

Dutch Royalty.
 The visit of Wilhelmina, queen of Holland, to Italy recalls her life in Florence with her mother in her girlhood. They lived in a modest way, going out daily on foot. It is related that they were going along the Lung Arno, when they were accosted by a beggar.

The queen regretted wanted to push on, fearing that her daughter might catch some fearful disease, but the little queen, having a will of her own, insisted on stopping. She questioned the man in broken Italian, believing herself quite unknown, and on proceeding gave him half a franc.

He looked from the silver in his hand to her, and then back again, and at last said, with an air of importance: "So your subjects keep you as short as that! Poor queen!"
 —New York Tribune.

Experienced Artist Wanted.
 A woman who had become suddenly rich was traveling in Europe, and while there it occurred to her that it was the proper thing to have her portrait painted by a prominent artist. Accordingly she called at the studio in Paris of a painter of high reputation.

"Will you kindly sit down and wait a few moments," asked the attendant, when Mrs. Norwich had stated her errand.

"Well, I'm in a hurry. Is your master busy?" she asked.

"Yes, madam. He is engaged on a study."

"On a study!" exclaimed Mrs. Norwich. "Well, no matter, I guess I won't wait. I shan't want him to paint my picture. I want an artist who has got all through with his studies!"
 —Success.

Blissful Ignorance.
 "Women," remarked the old bachelor, "care nothing for art, as a rule."

"Oh, they don't, eh?" sneered the man who had been up against the matrimonial game for seven long years. "You evidently don't know the first principles of the feminine make-up."

Proper Place.
 "Look here, jailor," said the transient guest at the police station, "this place isn't fit to keep a hog in."

"This place isn't intended for hogs," replied the keeper of the keys. "We send them to the pen. See?"

At the Seashore.
 The Husband—I think you are getting a little thinner, dear."
 The Wife—What makes you think so, James?

"Why, when you go in the water it does not seem to rise as high as it used to!"
 —Yonkers Statesman.

In Great Luck.
 "You've overdrawn your account, madam," said the cashier.

"How lovely!" said the fair depositor. "I never expected to be able to get ahead of the bank that way!"
 —Chicago Post.

Artless Art.
 Brushy—DeAuber got $25 for a little drawing he made last night.
 Palette—So! What did he draw?
 Brushy—Three aces to a pair of kings.

Serious Indeed.
 La Mont—Dispatches say that serious firing was heard off Port Arthur.

La Moyne—Serious? Gracious! Maybe some one fired their cook.

News to Him.
 The Supper Cook—Bring me some cheese for the rabbit.
 New Kitchen Boy—Sure, I never heard that a rabbit ate cheese!
 —Town Topics.

Denise Silence.
 That money talks, quite freely, too, You probably have heard;
 But there are some of us to whom it never said a word.
 —Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune.

Usual Obstacle.
 Henry—Couldn't you get her father's consent?
 Jack—No, I couldn't get my own consent to take him for a father-in-law.
 —Detroit Free Press.

TAKING NO CHANCES.
 Speaker Cannon at one of the unique dinners that he gives in Washington (these dinners are strictly limited to one hour of time) talked about mean rich men.

"The meanest rich man in Illinois," he said, "lives in Vermilion county. He is a bachelor, and we'll call him Crust."

"One day the superintendent of the local cemetery told his lot salesman to call on Crust and see if he couldn't work off a cemetery lot on him."

"The salesman set out with a hopeless air, and in a half hour he was back again."

"No go," he said.

"Couldn't get him, eh?" said the superintendent.

"No," said the salesman. "He admitted that I reasoned well, and that the lots were fine ones, but he said that if he bought he mightn't get the value of his money in the end."

"Why," said the superintendent, "there's no fear of that. The man will die some day, won't he?"

"Yes," said the salesman, "but he says he might be lost at sea." —Columbia Weekly.

HIGH TESTIMONY.

Niece—Don't you think Mr. Bellows has a strong voice?
 Uncle Hector—If I didn't see I'd swear I was out to the stockyards again.
 —Chicago News.

Are the Giants Extinct?
 A horrible rumor is afloat to the effect that the giants are not all extinct. But the following advertisement culled from a horticultural journal, is reassuring and shows that a remedy for these pests is easily obtainable:

Hardy dwarf, 1s. 3d.
 Quick climbers, 1s. 6d.

It should be of particular interest to growers—in a large way—of beanstalks.
 —London Punch.

Not Guilty.
 "You—aw—don't take me for one of those—aw—beastly cunks, I hope," said young Softleigh.

"No, indeed," replied Miss Cutting. "A crank, I believe, is a man with one idea."

The Real Thing.
 "Then your husband won't give up his club?" queried the friend.

"No," replied the patient young wife, "and I don't propose to give up mine."

"The idea! I didn't know you had one."

"Neither does he, but the next time he comes home late from his I'll be on hand with mine."
 —Philadelphia Press.

Pessimistic View.
 Little Willie—Say, pa, what's the good of war, anyway?
 Pa—It takes a lot of brass bands to the front, my son.

No Chance to Extemporize.
 Joseph Jefferson related an incident of an expected curtain call he did not receive one time when he and W. J. Florence produced a new play:

"We thought the play was going to be a great success," said Mr. Jefferson, "and we also thought that we'd be called before the curtain for a speech. So Florence and I got together and framed a few remarks, and to make them extemporaneous we agreed on the following: Whenever I made one of the remarks Florence was to look greatly surprised, and I in turn was to be surprised when Florence said something. We rehearsed our few remarks until we had them letter perfect. The night of the new play around and everything went along all right, except that neither Florence nor myself was called upon to speak."
 —Philadelphia Press.

The Busy Woman.
 A woman's best and safest cares
 Are just her household labors.
 When not busy with her own affairs
 She is about her neighbor's.
 —Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Seeking Revenge.
 "I hear, Spikely, that you are sending your friends to your former boarding house."

"The fact is that I'm sending my enemies."
 —Detroit Free Press.

Airy Paraffage.
 "Why does setting a hen on fourteen china eggs remind me of the Palleades?" asked the thin boarder.

"Too warm to guess conundrums," said the girl from the bargain counter.

"Oh, well, because it's a pretty big bluff."
 —Yonkers Statesman.

The Immortal.
 Old Mother Hubbard,
 She went out and rubbered.
 New neighbors were just moving in.
 "I'll just take a peep."
 My! there furniture's cheap!
 She said, with a satisfied grin.
 —Chicago Tribune.

PEOPLE WHO CANNOT WALK.
 A Tribe Incapable of Locomotion Discovered in New Guinea.

The administrator of New Guinea has recently reported that a tribe has been found which is virtually incapable of walking, says Leslie's Weekly. These people inhabit a marshy district which is too soft to walk in and too solid to allow of navigation in a canoe. Locomotion of any kind is thus impossible, and they have become a purely sedentary race, leading a stationary existence in the dwellings, which they have built in the trees just above the level of the swamps. It would be natural to expect, under these circumstances, that they would gradually lose the use of the limbs and muscles employed in walking. This result has actually come about. They cannot perambulate on hard ground without causing their feet to bleed with the unusual exercise. Their extremities have shrunk, while the trunk has become bloated. The effect would be to produce a certain resemblance to the figure, and gait of apes, but whether the similarity is based on real physical identities is another question.

Clock to Run About 30,000 Years.
 A radium clock, which will keep time indefinitely, has been constructed by Harrison Martindale, of England.

The clock comprises a small tube in which is placed a minute quantity of radium supported in an exhausted glass vessel by a quartz rod. To the lower end of the tube, which is colored, an electroscope formed of two long leaves or strips of silver is attached.

A charge of electricity in which there are no beta rays is transmitted through the activity of the radium into the leaves, and the latter thereby expand until they touch the sides of the vessel, connected to earth by wires, which instantly conduct the electric charge, and the leaves fall together.

This simple operation is repeated incessantly every two minutes until the radium is exhausted, which in his instance it is computed will occupy 30,000 years.

The Vastness of London.
 There are about 6,000 miles of railway in Greater London, and it is estimated that something like 600,000,000 separate journeys are made by passengers annually. The number of journeys on an average week day is over 1,600,000. An idea of the vehicular traffic in the streets may be gathered from the statement that in twelve hours 16,054 vehicles of all kinds passed a particular spot in Piccadilly, and a full service of 630 buses pass the Bank of England in an hour.

The number of passengers carried by the London trams in a year is over 360,000,000. A census taken of the number of pedestrians who crossed London Bridge on a certain day showed that they totalled 116,903, and in nineteen and a half hours during a day in April last year 248,015 people crossed the roadways at the bank.
 —London Tit-Bits.

Why Ice Stays on Top.
 Water should be the sole exception to the otherwise universal law that all cooling bodies contract and therefore increase in density, writes Henry Martyn Hart in the Outlook.

Water contracts as its temperature falls and therefore becomes heavier and sinks until it reaches 39 degrees. At this temperature water is the heaviest; this is the point of its maximum density. From this point it begins to expand. Therefore, in winter, although the surface may be freezing at a temperature of 32 degrees, the water at the bottom of the pool is six or seven degrees warmer.

Suppose that water, like everything else, had gone on contracting as it cooled until it reached the freezing point; the heaviest water would have sunk to the lowest place and there become ice.

Counted Wealth by Whelks.
 Dewarra, a currency of New Britain, is an instance of how the spoils of the chase may be turned to account as the outward and visible sign of wealth. Dewarra is made by stringing the shells of a dog whelk upon the ribs of palm leaves. These strings are retailed at so much a fathom—usually the price is equivalent to about three shillings a fathom length—or they may be made into various articles of personal adornment to be worn on great occasions. In New Britain the dewarra hoarded up by a rich man is produced at this funeral and divided among his heirs in much the same kind of way as personal property is divided among us.

Wage Workers in Bohemia.
 In Bohemia every wage worker, of whatever sex or age, must have a "work book," which contains his personal description and history and his employer's endorsements. Permission to travel in search of work must be indorsed by the local authorities. In changing locations a certificate from original place of residence must be secured and filed at the new location. This work book, therefore, becomes a passport, exhaustive in its way; it must be produced and recorded at each new location and permission to leave the country must be specifically stated.
 —Philadelphia Ledger.

Denmark's King as a Collector.
 The King of Denmark has a very valuable collection of birds' eggs, which includes specimens of nearly every kind in existence. The collection is considered to be worth about $76,000.
