

THE CATHOLIC JOURNAL

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY AT: 22 Cortland Street, Rochester, N. Y. BY THE CATHOLIC JOURNAL PUBLISHING COMPANY

Report without delay any change of address... Communications solicited from all Catholics...

Senator Bard of California, was unctuously deferential to the Catholics before the election...

President Roosevelt has routed the bigots completely. He has explained that while it is true that the interior department has paid out money to Catholic Indian schools...

President Roosevelt knows that the Indians, like the Filipinos, are natural Catholics and that the Catholic religion will be the only wholesome restraint upon their native barbarity...

Has not the "Saturday Evening Post" struck the key-note when it says: "After an intelligent and watchful mother had sent her children to a famous kindergarten for several months she withdrew them because she found they were being ruined by 'getting the attitude of regarding everything as a game'..."

A telephone trust is the latest proposed. Its backers do not believe that talk should be cheap.

Is it to be supposed that a court of Appeals which will deny that a boot-blacking stand is not a place of public accommodation will rule that a barge canal law approved by the people at a popular election is unconstitutional?

Don't let us hear any one say that old-fashioned winters are out of date? Justice Hooker narrowly escaped impeachment proceedings for good and all.

Certain Catholic ladies of Rochester who have been coddling Mrs. Florence Kelly's boom for state commissioner of labor will be sorry if she happens to be appointed to the position?

Pope Pius X, it is reported, has decided that there will be no outside interference in the election of his successor—so far as he is able to prevent it. That is right. Temporal monarchs should not be allowed to meddle in spiritual kingdoms.

The contemptible little bigot who proclaimed boldly that he would drive from France every vestige, every trace of Catholicism over-reached himself and his associates fearing for their own political necks, were forced to throw him overboard.

President's Right Whatever one may think as to President Roosevelt's views on railway rebate rates; however one may differ with him on how to deal with the tariff; no matter if one differs with his ideas on foreign matters, still every right minded citizen cannot help crying assent to the following sentiments expressed to Bishop Doane (Protestant) and his fellow-delegates to the inter-church conference on marriage and divorce:

"Questions like the tariff and the currency are of literally no consequence whatsoever compared with the vital question of having the unit of our social life, the home, preserved. "It is impossible to overstate the importance of the cause you represent. If the average husband and wife fulfill their duties toward one another and toward their children as Christianity teaches them, then we may rest absolutely sure that the other problems will solve themselves, but if we have solved every other problem in the wisest possible way, it shall profit us nothing if we have lost our own national soul, and we will have lost it if we do not have the question of relations of the family put upon the proper basis. While I do not know exactly what you wish me to do, I can say that so far as in me lies, everything will be done to co-operate with you toward the end that you have in view."

"One of the most unpleasant and dangerous features of our family life is the diminishing birth rate and the loosening of the marriage tie among the old native American families. It goes without saying that for the race as for the individual, no material prosperity, no business growth, no artistic or scientific development will count if the race commits suicide. Therefore, Bishop, I count myself fortunate in having the chance to work with you in this matter of vital importance to the national welfare."

The active powerful influences of men of the position of President Roosevelt will do more to make divorce among non Catholics unpopular than columns upon columns of statutes.

In the United States to be unfashionable is to be out of the social world.

Is it to be supposed that a court of Appeals which will deny that a boot-blacking stand is not a place of public accommodation will rule that a barge canal law approved by the people at a popular election is unconstitutional?

Five Minute Sermon

The Parable of the Mustard Seed. Though the grain of mustard seed is capable of great development, before it is put in the ground it is among the smallest of seeds.

As the little seed, in its development, rises from the earth, grows large and strong, and affords shelter and refuge to the beasts and birds, so Jesus Christ rising and going forth from the sepulchre, triumphed in the midst of human generations, and received under the shadow of His cross not only the ignorant and the lowly, but also the wise and the great; not only sinners who came to take refuge at His feet, but also the just, who, flying as the eagle on high, find in Him an asylum, strength and nourishment, in the difficult way of evangelical perfection.

In view of all this we should understand that the triumphs of the gospel are not the works of chance or of men, but of God, who prepared for it and accomplished it. We should rejoice that we are now no longer instructed by shadows and figures not always easily understood, but in a manner clear and evident. In conclusion, we should see to it that the germs of faith should grow vigorously in our intellect, engraft themselves on our will, bloom with the affections of our heart, and bring forth the fruit of good works.

Archbishop in City A brief visit to Very Rev. Thomas F. Hickey, V. G., was made this week by Most Rev. James Edward Quigley, archbishop of the diocese of Chicago. Archbishop Quigley reached Rochester Wednesday morning and went at once to the home of his mother, Mrs. Mary Quigley, 116 Campbell St., where he remained until after dinner, when he called at the bishop's house, 70 Frank St.

On Sunday Feb. 12th, the New York Central will sell excursion tickets to Buffalo at the low rate of $1.25 to Niagara Falls and return, tickets good going and returning in regular, except limited trains. Niagara has a greater variety and more wonderful frost and ice effect than any other single place on the globe. Every twig, shrub, bush and rock is covered with frozen spray of purest white, and over all the smothered roar of the great Cataract, the spectacle is one of dazzling beauty.

SHORT SERMONS.

It is impossible to be just if one is not generous. The varying seasons of the year and the vicissitudes of mortal life make little difference to him who has God's sunshine in his heart.

The heart of Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament is the perpetual jubilee of the Church, her glad hymn of praise for the mysteries of redeeming love. Courage! The ground is very difficult to cultivate, but each prayer let fall like a drop of dew. The marble is very hard, but each prayer is a blow of the chisel which gradually shapes it. The things we want most in this world are always those beyond our reach. If we had them we wouldn't be a bit happier. We only think we would. No matter how little we have, we always have plenty to be thankful for.
