Five Minute Sermon

The Parable of the Supper

The supper mentioned in this Gospel signifies the entrance into Paradise, after which there is perfect peace and rest, and nothing to disturb the mind or tire the body. Many, however, recognize in this supper the holy Eucharistic table, and the most precious food that is taken by receiving the Most Holy Sacrament.

When the hour for supper has come the work or business of the day is done, the meal is taken in peace, the time is passed in pleasant conversation, and then each retires to rest, during which the tired body recovers new strength, the mind gains new vigor, and upon rising the following morning all feel refreshed and able to resume their work. Now the same happens to the soul when it partakes of the Eucharistic table. When a Christian approaches this table with the proper dispositions he forgets entirely the cares of the world; he converses confidentially with God, his true friend, brother, and father; he enjoys peace of mind, during which he recovers from all his sufferings; he receives new strength to battle against his spiritual enemies and to carry even heavier crosses, and, like a new man, he attempts to climb the high mountain of evangelical perfection.

As we have applied the parable to the Blessed Sacrament, let us reflect that he who, on account of worldly cares or of a sinful life, does not receive this sacrament runs the greatest risk of being deprived of it at the hour of death, because then Jesus Christ will refuse to be the food of those ungrateful ones who turned away from Him when He most lovingly invited them during life to partake of His table.

Cook Opera House.

The Moore Stock Company will next week present at the Cook Opera House "The Bonnie Briar Bush." This is the well known play made from the story by Ian MacClaren. "Beside the Bonnie Briar Bush," J. H. Stoddard starred in the play and made an immense success in it. The strong, simple sentiment of the play, together with the remarkable characterization, have placed it in the front rank of American dramas. It is predicted that this will be one of the most notable productions of the stock season. Henry Shumer will play Lachlan Campbell—Mr. Stoddard's part. This is a role of great emotional strength that will give the clever actor excellent opportunities. Bert Lyell will appear as "Postie," whose quaint fun dominate the whole play. Miss Harrold will impersonate Flora and Mr. Forbes, young Lord Hay. "The Bonnie Briar Bush" will be presented all next week, with matinees on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

Baker Theater.
The Tivoli Company closed its engagement at the Baker Theater Saturday night. Next week "Florodora" will be presented by the original company of 80 people. It is said that in point of scenery, costuming and general efficiency of principals and chorus, the present "production" of the famous musical comedy has never been outdone. The celebrated musical number, "Tell Me, Pretty Maiden," sextette, "Tact," and "The Shade of the Sheltering Palm" and others will all be given in splendid style it is promised. This will be the first time on record of a show of the magnitude appearing in Rochester. The cast includes many actors, comedians and singers noted in stagerland. It is stated that the sextette that is so popular was never more elaborately costumed and so carefully presented. "Florodora" will be presented all the week with usual matinees Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

AUBURN, N. Y.
The fair for the benefit of the St. Aloysius Church which was held last week was a decided success and the most successful fair ever held in this city. The fair was given in the new hall of the church and was very handsomely decorated. The booths were very attractive and were under the official reign of the different societies of the church. The success of the fair is due to the efforts of the whole parish who worked with great zeal in co-operation with their pastors, Rev. J. J. McGrath and assistant, Father Stafford. The money realized will go towards paying off the debt incurred by building the hall.

The committee having in charge the reception to be given to Father Mulhern upon his return from abroad reports progress being made in the success of the undertaking. The meeting of the alumni of the St. Mary's school, which was held on Wednesday was to make further arrangements for the reception. The school children of the different parochial schools will be given an opportunity to take the regents examinations in this city after the present school term is over. Heretofore the examinations were taken in Skaneateles which necessitated extra expense for the pupils. The new arrangement will be a benefit to the pupils.

The different parochial schools will take part in the Old Home week celebration which will be held the whole part of next week. The parades of the schools will be very attractive. They have floats to represent the schools. All of the schools will be represented. The closing of the novena in honor of St. Anthony took place at the churches on Wednesday morning. The novena was taken by a large number of the parishioners of the several churches.

The Auburn Council Knights of Columbus have awarded the contract for the furnishing of their new quarters to Knox-Romig Company of this city. The new quarters will be the finest quarters of any fraternal organization in the country. The entire council chamber will be finished in solid mahogany and the furnishing will be matched to go with it. The club house will be the entire third floor of Temple Court and will be more homelike than ever. The club house will be opened during old home week. The council chamber will be opened later in the fall when a reception will be given to the members of the families of the members.

CANANDAIGUA.

The new church went through the violent hail storm of Sunday morning, unscathed save for a few broken slate and glass squares that had been set in the roof for lighting the attic. The old church, school and rectory were not so fortunate. About 150 panes were broken in the old church. The monthly subscription for June taken last Sunday amounts to $400, which enables us to pay the quarterly interest on the mortgage and have a small balance for our other creditors.

The regem Masses this week are for Mrs. Mary Rooney, Mrs. William Casby and John Tuohy. Father Dougherty preached Sunday evening for the Holy Name at St. Mary's, Auburn. The Young Defenders will receive Holy Communion next Sunday. Occasionally it happens that some young couple from Rochester or vicinity comes to Canandaigua in search of an "obliging priest" to perform the ceremony of marriage, and finds upon arrival that the rules of the church require that young people be married by their pastor and not by some priest to whom they are strangers.

The Route of Beautiful Scenery.
The scenery along the route of the West Shore Route on the West bank of the Hudson River, is not equalled East of the Rocky Mountains. A view of both the river and the Catskills is obtained from the train. Fare Rochester to New York via this route only $7. Ticket office, 20 State St.

Ordination of Students

The ceremonies, attending the ordination of six young students of St. Bernard's seminary at St. Patrick's Cathedral Saturday morning, were witnessed by many priests from out of the city and by friends of the young men and members of the congregation.

Rt. Rev. Bernard J. McQuaid was the consecrating prelate and he was assisted by Rev. James E. Hartley, proctor of St. Bernard's Seminary, Rev. F. Goggin, D. D., and Rev. Andrew B. Mehan, D. D., both of St. Bernard's, the latter acting as master of ceremonies.

The students on whom holy orders were conferred were Thomas J. O'Hern of Buffalo, Francis D. Dickman of Peoria, Ill.; Francis A. McGuire of Wichita, Kan.; George A. Meier, James E. Mullet and Francis G. Ruby of Buffalo. It had been announced that twelve students would be ordained, but the other six were to receive orders in each of their own dioceses. These six are: James J. Coligan and William A. Healy of Scranton, Pa.; Joseph R. Fogel and Cornelius C. McKinney of Altoona, Pa.; Michael J. O'Connor of Pittsburgh, and Francis A. Roche of Albany.

St. Bernard's seminary will close for the season on Monday and will reopen on September 20th, at the beginning of the fall semester. There were 130 students enrolled at the seminary this year.

A Duty of Parents.

When a Catholic child is so situated that he must be sent to a non-Catholic school, then the parents must more carefully supply at home the necessary religious education, says the Catholic Universe. "One essential method of doing this is to supply the home with good Catholic reading. There must be healthy food for the mind as well as for the stomach. The one is looked after, the other often neglected."

A Very Common Standard.

To a certain class of persons, says the Paulist Calendar, money is the only standard of life. They ask in regard to a friend: How much is he making? What did he realize in that bargain? What salary does he command? How much is he worth? Money, money, money—that is the only question that concerns them; that is their only measurement for effort. When they speak of a successful person they mean one who has amassed a fortune. Spiritual success, the conquering of poverty in virtue, the transforming of a careless, selfish, willful man into a kind, gentle, consistent gentleman—that to them is not success.
