ALMOST 9,000 FIRES.

Annual Average for New York City—
Out-Fifth the Country's Total.
New York averages 8,700 fires a year. Chicago has 4,100.

The average record in this country is three theaters, three public halls, twelve churches, ten schools, two hospitals, two asylums, two colleges, six apartment houses, three department stores, two jails, twenty-six hotels, 140 flats and nearly 1,000 homes, burned up every week in the year.

We indulged in 45,000 fires last year, some of them wiping out many buildings. We are born gamblers, are we Americans, and seem placidly to take our chances on fire, believing, probably, that those chances are somewhat remote.

As a matter of fact, however, the country over, each family has just one chance in sixty of being burned out some time during the year; not a very long shot after all.

Values of Fats and Oils.

There is a remarkable misapprehension, particularly among many persons of the more intelligent class of our people, says The Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette, as to the food value of the fats and oils. The muscles or red meat is a valuable source of protein, but the excessive consumption of proteid invites various diseases which figure very prominently in the causes of death. The fats and oils increase our resistance against cold and some of the causes of disease. The health of many so-called scrofulous children would be improved by teaching them to eat more fat. Fats in abundance constitute a very essential part of the dietary of the tuberculous patient. A larger proportion of the fatty elements of foods would go a long way adding to the robustness of many persons and saving them from the subsequent development of tuberculosis.

Artistic Treasure Trove.

An amusing story of treasure trove in art is going the rounds of the Paris press. A Mme. Panconnet, who, in earlier life had acted as a model for an eminent impressionist painter, had fallen on evil days, and after seeing all her little resources exhausted and her devices for making ends meet no longer effectual, at last abandoned to her creditors a study once given to her by the artist and cherished to the end. They thought so little of it that they abandoned it to one of their number for a small sum, and he had no higher opinion of it than to organize a raffle at 5d. a ticket. The winner of so despised his prize that he asked for its value in something else from the owner's shop, and this was given to him.

The story got wind, and an enlightened connoisseur who saw the picture offered £280 for it. And now the man who won it in the raffle wants to sue for the money.
