Five Minute Sermon

The Ruler's Daughter

The dead girl represented a soul recently fallen into mortal sin through frailty, surprise, or the violence of temptation, rather than through malice or depravity of heart. On this account Christ said that she was not dead, but asleep. God ordinarily by His mercy calls souls suddenly, principally by a great remorse, to a sincere repentance and a prompt return to the state of grace and the time of their spiritual death being of short duration, they may be said to be asleep rather than dead.

The lesson we should learn is to have recourse to Jesus Christ in all our needs with a lively faith and with humility, as had the ruler and the infirm woman. We should also admire the great goodness of our Divine Redeemer, Who was so prompt to console those who ask Him from our hearts; and, as our Divine Master sent away the musician on the bed of the dead girl, so we on the occasion of death should seek help for the soul, and not the noise and clamor and the vain pomp of the world.

NAMED BY THE PEOPLE

Half a century ago, Rev. Fr. John O'Brien of Lowell, Mass., through overwork and exposure, became seriously run-down. A cold and stubborn cough and lung trouble threatened his life. An eminent specialist gave Father John, as he was fondly called, a prescription to cure the cold and remove the lung trouble as well as to build up and strengthen the body. The clergyman began taking it at once, the cough disappeared and his lungs healed. It corrected his digestion, made new tissue and Father John was soon restored to his former health and strength.
