Joseph Gefell acted as toastmaster for the evening.

ST. JOSEPH'S.

Sunday at 7:30 a. m. there will be a high mass during which the members of the St. Agnes Altar Society will receive Holy Communion.

Sunday will be monthly communion and conference day for the young men of the Holy Family and communion day for the boys of the Sunday school.

The annual financial report of the affairs of the church was given last Sunday. It showed that the affairs of this parish are in a most flourishing condition. Great credit is due Father Kessel for the able and efficient way in which he has handled the business which came under his direction.

The annual installation of officers of Branch 81, C. M. B. A., took place Monday night in the association's meeting place in the St. Joseph's parish building. Many people were present and the largest number ever out at any of the recent meetings took part in the ceremonies. After the new president, George J. Leicht, had been installed he made a brief speech thanking the members for the honor conferred upon him and then appointed the committees to serve during the coming year.

Following are the officers installed and the committees appointed:
Chancellor, Charles Kellar; president, George J. Leicht; first vice-president, Peter Rice, Jr.; second vice-president, F. Wadgrin; recording secretary, Charles M. Bayer; assistant, E. M. Weingartner; financial secretary, Geo. L. Ernst; treasurer, Geo. Noeth; trustees, Bert Sercu, A. Stiehler, Joseph Otto, J. Balling and Robert Siebert; marshal, C. Rehholz; guard, F. C. Connel; finance committee, William J. Hauser, C. L. Bishop and B. Birket; grievance committee, T. Hempel, J. Kesselring and Tobias Kraft; business

McCurdy & Norwell Co.

The Daylight Store.

We Have Purchased, on Practically Our Own Terms, the Entire Stock of High-Class

Cloaks, Suits, Waists, Skirts, Furs and Dress Accessories

Carried by the Carey-Neuburger Co.

of "The Smart Shop" 166 East Main St., and placed it on sale in our Cloak and Suit Section at an average of

Less Than 50 Cents on the Dollar

We have no use for bankrupt stocks. They are seldom well bought. Impaired credit is not conducive to close prices. Anticipating a smash, slow-movers are apt to accumulate—result, poor styles and worse values. Any wonder that such chances don't appeal to us? But a comparatively new stock of highest calibre carried by a concern in good standing is another proposition. Such a stock, if on the market at a sacrifice, is worth considering. But, if it can be bought on a bankrupt basis, the inducement is irresistible.

To such a temptation we have just succumbed. As previously announced, we have purchased the entire stock of high class cloaks, suits, furs and dress accessories carried by the Carey-Neuburger Co. of "The Smart Shop," 166 E. Main Street.

This firm started in business a little over a year ago. In all probability, no concern in local annals ever earned such an enviable name in so short a time. Although their career was brief, their label came to be recognized as the hall mark of quality and style. Their aim was to establish a specialty shop on metropolitan lines. "Distinctive Apparel for Women!" was the slogan. And not only for "women," but for "women who know." Thanks to this purchase, by the way, term "distinctive" is released from quotation marks and restored to general circulation.

Mr. Carey was for many years the manager of the Cloak and Suit Section of the Dry Goods Economist, and subsequently editor of "The Garment Buyer." He visited European centers every season and was a factor in formulating fashions. Mr. Neuburger founded the house of Max Neuburger & Co., which holds high rank among the manufacturing furriers of the country. Naturally, a firm with such prestige and affiliations had access to the best sources of supply and were let in on the ground floor, when it came to novelties as well as values.

For reasons best known to themselves, they decided to dissolve partnership and discontinue business. But who could distribute garments of such fine grades? It must be somebody accustomed to cater to such trade. This, of course, narrowed the choice, and, as the sequel shows, there was no alternative to this outlet. In brief,

Carey-Neuburger Wanted to Sell. We Wanted to Buy---

if---at Our Own Figure The Deal was Made.

The Stock is Here. The Sale is On.

We bought this stock right and will sell it close. A quick turn-over is the end in view. So we have marked prices that, under normal conditions, would not cover cost of handling. And last, but not least, bear in mind that the Winter is only about half over. More than two months of it are yet to come.
