Holy Week

Next week the Church commemorates the most solemn season of the ecclesiastical year. Step by step, her children, have been led along the journey which Christ took while on earth.

Deserved!

Not one in all the long list of Estare medallists from Notre Dame University deserved it more or will wear more worthily the coveted distinction than its latest recipient, Katherine Conway.

Then Stay Away!

If Irishmen from the could sod do not like the Irish and the Irish Americans in this country, why do they come over here? Why do they accept contributions from their country on this side of the Atlantic?

Borrowed Capital.

In one of the popular magazines is a timely article on "The Man Who Lives on His Nerves." It is written by a well known nerve specialist and is intended as a warning to those who, to use a popular expression, trade on borrowed capital.

Speaking for her many friends in Rochester, the Catholic Journal extends congratulations not only to Miss Conway but to the institution which has honored itself in honoring her.

Tell Mrs. Wiggs.

Naively, the "Catholic Sun", in its "Under the Library Lamp" remarks: "Thousands of our readers are familiar with Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, a section of Louisville made famous by Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice in her popular novel.

Big and Little Rock

"Bishop Fitzgerald," says Father Phelan in the "Western Watchman," was not a man of books, yet he was a good scholar. When he had time to study he studied profoundly; and when he had to part with the company of his books he was able to supplement a good stock of learning with keen observation and sober reflection.

Five Minute Sermon

Remember that on that same day on which Christ entered Jerusalem, the Paschal lamb was led with great solemnity from Bethphage to the temple. It is not surprising then, that our divine Saviour should meet on the same road so many people.

Gospel of the Day

There is a lesson for all of us in this. Americans rush, they never move leisurely. They over tax their nerves and their heart and all their faculties in the mad race for wealth. Even Religion, the welfare of their souls, is neglected in the pursuit of the mighty dollar.

wealth and to examine into one's own self and see if all be well with the soul.

Five Minute Sermon

Frequently, it is asserted that Catholics are not in touch with their non-Catholic brothers in civic movements and other matters intimately connected with betterment of the body politic. This is disproved in one instance at least. There are a number of bills before the Legislature this year looking toward a more liberal interpretation of the Sunday laws.

Five Minute Sermon

When the doctor told him he would have to retire from business for a while, although possessed of a competence and amply able to quit business altogether, he refused "until I put through a few more deals." Two days later he killed himself. Nature having revolted against the strain.

Five Minute Sermon

Of what use is it all? Men may amass millions and they may wreck their constitutions. They may ignore the hereafter and then Almighty God may snuff out their miserable lives without a moment's warning. Where, then, is their boasted millions? Will they purchase for them happiness in the next world? No. They cannot take their dollars with them and they must face a just God with no store of good works, no pardoned sins, no recommendation to divine clemency!

olive branches signified the oil of grace which would be diffused over the children of redemption. The garments spread under His feet signified the renunciation of all earthly affections which the just must make for God's sake; for, according to St. Gregory, earthly affections are the garments that entangle our souls, and the better to fight our spiritual enemies we must get rid of them.

To-day we behold Christ entering Jerusalem amidst the hosannas of the people—five days later we shall see Him dragged to Mount Calvary amidst curses and blasphemies. To-day the people are all love for Him and pay Him homage—in a few days we shall see them filled with hatred, demanding His blood.
