ICE A NON-CONDUCTOR.

Simple Plan for Dispensing With Ordinary Insulation.

Ice is an almost perfect non-conductor of electricity. In this connection a prominent engineer has suggested the use of a pipe of metal for an electrical conductor. It would be immersed in a subway kept filled with water and through it cold brine from a freezing machine would be allowed to circulate. This would freeze the water in contact with the pipe, thereby insulating it. The brine could be used in supplying artificial cold to refrigerators in stores, markets, or even in private houses.

Power from Long Distance.

Among the applications of power at long distance from its source is the lighting of the interior passages and chambers of the Great Pyramids by electric currents generated at the base of the mountain, several hundred miles away. The same power is intended to operate pumping stations and cotton mills along the Nile. In San Francisco it is proposed to obtain 10,000 horse power, for use in that city, from the water now running to waste on the slopes of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, 110 miles distant.

Patent Office Forces Too Small.

The working force of the American Patent office, according to a writer in the Engineering and Mining Journal, is about one-half what it should be. There are no digests of the granted patents. An applicant cannot find out for himself what is new and what old, except at an excessive expense. If he could do so at moderate cost in advance of making his application, a large percentage of the official work of examination would be saved.

Drops of Air.

It is not an uncommon sight in a laboratory where experiments with liquefied air are being conducted to see drops of air falling on a lecture table and running about, exactly like drops of water on a hot stove. In fact, the table may be regarded as "red-hot" in comparison with the temperature of the liquefied oxygen and nitrogen of which the drops consist.

Destroyed Maps of Armenia.

From Bagdad a Bible society's agent reports that in the last conflagration of British Bibles which he observed there all the maps had been burnt out, which showed anything about Armenia. The dragonman of the British Consulate at Bagdad is now busy with the maps of Armenia.

A MAP is forbidden in Turkey.

Demand for Tongues.

"One part of women's shoes that many cobblers keep in stock is the tongue," said one shoemaker. "In the average shoe the tongue is made of mighty poor stuff. It soon cracks and gets hopelessly dingy and gives the shoe a shoddy appearance, no matter how well kept it may be otherwise."

Cultivating Home Delicacies.

Some American ladies of Oaxaca, Mexico, are said to have introduced the cultivation of celery and strawberry plants as a means of furnishing their tables with these delicacies and for the enjoyment derived from the incident exercise and satisfaction of amateur gardening.

How Columbus Was Paid.

"Columbus," said a Chicago antiquary, "got a salary of $320 a year—less than a $1 a day. His captains got $180 a year each. His crew got $2.25 a month. To equip the expedition that discovered America cost $2,800. The total cost of discovering America was $7,200."

Norwegian Honesty.

As an example of Norwegian honesty Lord Edward Spencer-Churchill, in a lecture, told a story of how he and his friends left a silver spoon in one of the little station houses by mistake. Two years afterward, when they passed by the house again, the silver spoon was brought to them.

Telling Time in China.

The Chinese know how to tell the time of day by the appearance of a cat's eyes. The pupils of a cat's eyes become gradually narrower up to 12 o'clock noon, when they are scarcely perceptible lines, drawn perpendicularly across the eyes. After that the dilation recommences.

Dressing for Fete Days.

In Valencia, on the fete days, the little girls have their hair dressed just exactly like that of older sisters, having the front locks parted and coiled up into a wheel at each temple, and the back hair elaborately arranged from the nape of the neck to a few inches above the head, the coiffure being held secure by fancy pins.

Curing Like by Like.

Observing in the tropics how the intense heat of the sun accelerated the healing of wounds and burns a French physician, Dr. Asbeck, used the heat of ordinary fire in 500 cases of burns and wounds, after putting on the usual dressing, and with unusual success.

Five Minute Sermon

The Resurrection of Our Lord

We ought to learn from these pious women spoken of in the Gospel to be courageous in working for the glory of Jesus Christ, and, as St. Gregory says, "we shall bring Him precious balm if we serve Him with humility and with mortification." In regard to the early hour they left their homes, we should admire their true devotion, which admitted of no delay in executing their good purpose. He who sincerely serves God will never lose time; he abhors every delay that hinders him in doing all he can for God. In regard to the day, which was the first day of the week, we are to recognize that day of the Lord which afterward was to be the holy day of the Christian Church, on which we also should devote ourselves to works of religion, and bring balm to Jesus Christ. Finally, in the fact that the sun had risen, we see that a soul that sincerely seeks the glory of God will never remain in darkness, ignorance, or doubt, but will always find the light that comforts and guides it in all its steps. If, according to the laws of grace, because Christ had already risen from the dead, and by His resurrection bestowed the full light of the Gospel, confirmed the true faith, and brought the day of life to the whole world.

The Sun's Heat.

An official of the Naval Observatory at Washington ventures the somewhat startling suggestion that the sun is still getting hotter. The process, however, is too slow to have any but a scientific interest for the present inhabitants of the earth.

When Lucy Scored.

"Now Lucy, I want you to give an example in arithmetic. Suppose I gave you one kitten and your aunt gave you two more, how many kittens would you have?"
"Seven."
"Oh, no, one and two is three."
"Yes, but I've got four more kittens at home now."

A Valuable Nursemaid.

Lady (to nursemaid just home from a walk)—What have you done with the baby?
Nurse—Oh, heavens! He is still in the park. I felt certain all the way home that I had forgotten some thing—Bombs.

Reporting a Dead Man.

This curious official notice was once published in Germany: "At the request of Herr Wilhelm Leigson of Innsbruck the seaman, Johan Leigson, who was drowned in May, 1869, on a journey from Stockholm to Hamburg in the Kaiser Friedrich, I hereby called upon by the courts to appear and report himself on or before April 1, 1881, under pain of being declared dead."

Scotch Cakes.

Wash all the salt out of one pound of butter. Work in two pounds of white flour and one-quarter pound of granulated sugar. Roll them and bake in a quick oven.
