

DISAPPEARING OF PLATINUM.

World's Known Supply is Being Exhausted Quite Rapidly. A prominent French writer deprecates the vanishing stock of the world's platinum, says the London Globe. All the known deposits are becoming exhausted, and the price is going up to a prohibitive extent. In 1876 the metal could be bought for $100 the kilogramme. Four years later it had doubled; in 1901 it had quadrupled, and today the price is $1200 per kilogramme, or twice the price of gold. Given that is for crude platinum. The worked metal is twice as dear again. Considering how many industries are now absolutely dependent on platinum, the question of replacing it by a really efficient alloy or combination is acquiring vital importance.

Invention of Felt.

According to Professor Beckman felt was invented before weaving. The middle and northern regions of Asia are occupied by Tartars and other nomadic Nations, whose manners and customs appear to have continued unchanged from the most remote antiquity, and to whose simple and unvarnished existence this article seems to be as necessary as food. Felt is the principal substance both of their clothing and of their habitations.

Remarkable Card Player.

Count Von Moltke, Germany's great Field Marshal, never lost a battle and it annoyed him to lose a game of cards. A recent biographer says of his old age: "The family were trained to let him win if they could without his noticing their maneuver, and they would reckon up the sums to the smallest amount. It is really wonderful that I have won in spite of my bad play, he remarked to me once, rather suspiciously, but he abided by the result."

British Legislation.

It costs much money to get a piece of legislation through the British Parliament. A certain railway once proposed a scheme for a part of the country where their undertaking would be a godsend to every enterprise and contribute to the wealth of the whole Nation. The bill ought to have gone through with almost no outlay of money. But to get that bill through Parliament cost the sum of $2,000,000 before ever a sod was turned or a brick laid.

Plating Aluminum.

A process of plating aluminum with copper by welding methods has been invented in Germany by Herr Wechsung. This is regarded as important because one of the obstacles to a wide use of aluminum has been its comparative lack of resistance to the action of many fluids and its failure to hold paint. These objections are removed when it is covered with a thin plating of copper, while its weight is not materially increased.

$35 for a Macaulay Letter.

More than $35 was given in a London auction room the other day for the letter written by Disraeli to his sister in 1833 in which he said: "Heard Macaulay's best speech, Shiel and Chas. Grant. Macaulay admirable, but between ourselves, I could fool them all. This entres nous (sic), I was never more confident of anything than that I could carry everything before me in that house. The time will come."

Interesting Tennis Bazaars.

Real storehouses of delight for the visitor are the bazaars of Tunis. One merchant has a 40,000 carpet which he will fling into the air for the benefit of a possible customer and allow it to settle itself gradually on the ground. This it does unlike an ordinary carpet, so exquisitely fine is the weaving that it imprisons air bubbles large enough to hold a man.

Refused to Insure.

A member of Lloyd's London, states that he cabled to Jamaica, several months ago when they had a small shock, offering to insure buildings against damage by earthquakes. "Our representative there replied that they never had any serious shocks, and, therefore, that no one would insure."

London Statistics.

Every year about 120,000 Londoners are born, and 70,000 die, 2,460 of the latter meeting death by accident. There are 7,550 inquests in a year, which cost $150,000 of which over $25,000 goes into salaries to the coroners.

Where Germany Invests.

German papers notice that German capitalists who decline to invest in enterprises in German Southwest Africa have no hesitation in doing so in the British African colonies.

Value of an Ostrich.

The record of a male ostrich in the possession of H. Oliver of Oudshoorn, Cape Colony, shows that the bird has brought him in a sum of over $10,000 in plumage.

Price of Impudence.

For calling a telephone girl a "forward thing" over the wire a Vermont subscriber has been sentenced to 48 hours imprisonment and one day's hard labor.

Malicious Note is Expended.

Early in the month of June a note was circulated in the city of New York, and it was ascertained that the note was an invention of a malicious person.

ELECTRIC LIGHT FOR BIRDS.

Tropical Varieties Need Artificial Day in Captivity. One of the difficulties encountered by keepers of aviaries in zoological gardens is the providing of a proper environment for birds brought from the tropics. To warm the air to a tropical temperature is not enough. The birds demand lights as well as heat. Many of them in their native homes are accustomed to feed at sunrise and again just before sunset, and their habits in this respect are seriously disturbed by the shortness of the winter days in Northern climes. Recently it has been found very beneficial to keep aviaries containing tropical birds brilliantly illuminated in the daytime with electric light from 6 o'clock in the morning to 6 in the evening, thus closely imitating the duration of day light to which they are accustomed in their natural habitat. The result is that they feed in the normal way, it is claimed they live longer, and remain in better condition.

Tea Used as Money.

Brick tea even serves as money. It is still in circulation as a medium of exchange in the farland Chinese bazaars. Between the Mongolian town of Urgas and the Siberian town of Kiatka there is usually as much as $500,000 (350,000) of this money in circulation. At the latter place it ceases to be used as currency and enters into the regular brick-tea trade of Siberia and Russia. As brick tea it is largely used in the Russian army, by surveying engineers, tourists and hunters.

Physicians in Peru.

It is somewhat difficult for an American physician to open a practice in Peru. Before the doctor can be admitted he must take an examination in Spanish before a board in the usual medical and surgical subjects. The fee for this examination is $500 in gold, being the same fee as that paid by a medical student during his seven years course of construction in the national colleges. The license, when obtained, is good for practice in Ecuador, Bolivia and Spain.

Origin of "Polly"

The name "Polly," applied to the parrot, is said to have been brought to North America by a boatman, who took grain and provisions down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers to New Orleans. Parrots were in cages at the doors of many French shops and the Westerners heard the French say to the bird, "Parlez, parlez," pronounced parley, and meaning "speak! speak!" This word, as they brought it back, came to be polly.

Wealthy Postmen.

Several New York postmen, according to the World, have made fortunes of more than $200,000. These men although independently wealthy, through extra effort during leisure hours, still trudge from house to house daily with mailbag and whistle, content to accept a salary of $1,000 a year which Uncle Sam provides for his postmen. In every case the fortunes were made through shrewd investments in real estate.

Tossing the Pancake.

The ancient custom of "tossing the pancake" was recently observed in the great hall of West Minister School. There were the usual ceremonies. The school cook threw the pancake into the air over the beam, and there was a great struggle by the boys for the coveted prize. J. Alinger threw himself on the cake, and when the allotted period expired he was in possession of three-quarters of it. As the winner he received the customary gift of 1 guinea.

India's Valuable Coal Fields.

India, the land of mystery, is rapidly coming to the front in various fields of industry. The Indian empire possesses no fewer than 15 coal fields, while from its worked on an extensive scale in three districts, two of which are situated in the immediate vicinity of Calcutta. Nor are oil fields wanting; 17 more or less important centers are engaged in this industry in the provinces of Bengal and Assam, while tobacco cultivation is another valuable asset to Assam, as well as to Madras.

China's Revenue from Japan.

China has received from Japan $1,900,000 of the customs collections made at Newchwang during the Japanese occupation of that city, and is now seeking to recover from Russia the similar collection made during the Russian occupation, amounting to nearly $2,500,000.

King Edward's Signature.

There are not many men that sign their names oftener than King Edward. It is said that he has to affix his autograph to at least 50,000 official documents every year—an average of about 160 for each working day; and this is, of course, in addition to all his private signatures.

Habits of Hibernating Bears.

Many bears that hibernate dig into a hillside to find a nest, but for a mild winter they are likely to roll up in some shallow excavation or a hollow tree.

Some people look for faults in every one they meet as if they believed making blots was worth finding.

CANANDAIGUA.

Bishop Hickey will preach Friday night. The exercises for the closing of May and the reception of the Children of Mary will take place. Upwards of a hundred girls and young ladies will march from the school around and through the front entrance of the church and the Litany of B. V. M. will be sung. Bishop Hickey will no doubt, make reference to his travels in the Holy Land, and visiting the famous shrine of the Blessed Virgin at Lourdes, France.

The pew diagrams for May, June and July will be distributed next Sunday. Caring for the rainy weather Sunday morning, the school collection dropped down to $38.79, but some more has been paid since.

The relatives of Mr. and Mrs. John Whitlaw have recently erected a beautiful monument to their memory. It stands at the turn in the avenue and matches the Daly monument on the opposite side.

While excavating for the foundation of the new rectory, the workmen came across a portion of the old wall and a large portion of what appears to have been a brick vault. Mrs. Mary Worthington, daughter of Alexander Howell, was born in the house that stood here. A large portion of the house was moved by John Tozier to Lower Main Street in 1858 and forms part of the residence of Thomas Moran. Mr. Moran is also of the opinion that General John A. Granger lived in this house before the convent was built.

AUBURN, N. Y.

One of the most successful receptions ever held in the Holy Family Church was that of the receiving of the young girls of the first Communion class into the Sodality of the Children of Mary, which took place at the church on last Sunday evening at 7:30 P. M. The procession which took place was taken part in by about fifty little girls dressed in white and wearing a crown of flowers, while the larger girls wore white dresses and veils. During the services the girls and young ladies sang many hymns, after which solemn Vespers were sung. Father Bresnihan delivered a sermon appropriate to the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Otterson, who were married at St. Aloysius Church last week, have returned from their wedding trip and will take up their residence in this city at the new cottages, instead of only a half acre as heretofore.

The date for the annual picnic and outing of the Auburn Orphan Asylum has been announced as July 4th. This date each year is used for the purpose of raising money for the running expenses of the institution. The clubs and societies of the city will be asked to lend all possible aid in the success of the picnic, as in other years, will be held at the asylum grounds.

The funeral of the late Michael Kelly was held from his late home in Owasco Street on Monday morning with services at the Holy Family Church.

The church was well filled by the friends and relatives of the deceased. A Solemn High Mass was read by Rev. J. J. Hickey, assisted by Revs. P. J. McArdle and E. J. Dwyer as deacon. Delegations from the Utopia Club and Division No. 1, A. O. H., marshled in a body. The many friends of Father Ruby, pastor of Cato and Red Creek churches, will be pleased to learn that he has been appointed pastor at Weedsport, Vice Rev. J. J. Donohue, deceased.

Fault of a Misplaced Comma.

Not many years ago a distinguished graduate of Oxford decided to enter the nonconformist ministry and to wear no sacerdotal garb. And he announced this intention in a manifesto containing the words, "I shall wear no clothes to distinguish me from my fellow Christians." The comma made him the laughing stock of the university, and the joy of all the picture show whose show windows were flooded with illustrations of the Rev. X. Y. Z. distinguishing himself from his fellow Christians.

An interesting decision recently of the King's Bench, Dublin, compelled the guardians of Belfast Union to register a child Catholic instead of in the Protestant religion, the deceased parents of the child being Catholic.

"As an instance of how the Liberal government are attempting to govern Ireland by Irish ideas it may be noted," says "Reynold's Newspaper," "that of 25 recent appointments to the Bench at Belfast, 20 were Tories." It is also worth noting that two important medical appointments were vacated recently in Belfast, and, in spite of national protests, they were both given to pronounced Orangemen.

Huge bonfires were lighted, and Slievenamora and the surrounding hills were one blaze of light. The reinstatement of these tenants is looked upon as one of the greatest victories ever gained by the popular agitation in the district. They were evicted over twenty years, and the farms were in the hands of one of the largest planters in the country.

The sale by the sheriff of the interests of three tenants on the Pratt estate at Carrigulla was fixed for April 23d in the court house. All the tenants satisfied the claims against them in full with the exception of the following: Denis McSweeney, Mary Twomey and Julia Twomey, but as these cleared off prior to the hour announced for the sale, no sale took place.

A special meeting of the Derry Chamber of Commerce was held on April 21st—the president, Mr. J. B. Mullin, D. L., in the chair, to consider the advisability of approaching Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Premier of Canada, with the object of having Merville re-established as the port of call of the Canadian mails steamers. The president stated that "informal" conferences had been held during the week between members of the different boards in Derry. On the motion of Mr. William Phillips, a committee was appointed to co-operate with the Derry Harbor Board, Derry Corporation, and the Great Northern Railway, and take such steps as might be deemed advisable with a view to having the mail steamers brought back to Lough Foyle. Mr. Crehan did the honors of host in a lavish style, and his kindly manner and pleasant disposition enhanced in no small degree, the pleasure of the evening. Dancing was kept up until the grey light of dawn, when the party dispersed carrying with them the pleasantest of feelings.

Mr. Crehan and his brother, Mark H. Crehan, are amongst the prominent Irishmen in Boston, where they carry on an extensive business and have been very successful. As Mr. Crehan does not intend to settle down permanently at Windfield at present, but purposes returning to Boston in the near future, we wish him a pleasant voyage, and tender him and his brother and family on the part of their many friends and admirers, our best wishes for their future happiness and prosperity, and hope they may long live to enjoy their new home at Windfield.

Colfer and Gethin, solicitors, New Rose), said that at the September sessions a number of ejections were brought against tenants on the estate of Mr. Robert Tyndall, at Milltown, and for refusing to serve the processes, his Honor on that occasion dismissed the process server. On this estate there was a general strike against paying rent, and from inquiries which his firm had made, they found that it would be a matter of physical impossibility for any man to serve processes on this estate in the ordinary way.

Five Minute Sermon

The Parable of the Supper.

The supper mentioned in this Gospel signifies the entrance into paradise, after which there is perfect peace and rest, and nothing to disturb the mind or tire the body. Many, however, recognize in this supper the holy Eucharistic table, and that most precious food that is taken by receiving the Most Holy Sacrament.

Woe to those who do not heed God's invitation! A day will come when they will no more hear that voice inviting them to taste the delights of paradise. The Jews, of whom those who refused to attend the supper were a figure, did not heed the words of the Divine Master, and they were abandoned to their sad fate. All who resist the voice of God, who calls them to eternal happiness in so many different ways, will find that they are excluded therefrom.

As we have applied the parable to the Blessed Sacrament, let us reflect that he who, on account of worldly cares or of a sinful life, does not receive this sacrament runs the greatest risk of being deprived of it at the hour of death, because then Jesus Christ will refuse to be the food of those ungrateful ones who turned away from Him when He most lovingly invited them during life to partake of His table.
