A Word to Our Readers

We wish to call special attention to the liberal offer made to our readers in the Gould, Lee & Webster advertisement in another column of this issue.

The New Knickerbocker Theatre

This new amusement palace that is open to the public on Main Street East, near Water, is certainly an up-to-date place to be entertained. Their motion pictures are as fine as any seen, the illustrated songs are the latest and very capably rendered. It is well worth the time to visit this place of amusement as the accommodations are of the best. The management extend every effort in their power to make your visit enjoyable.

Cook Opera House.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew and company, presenting for the first time here an original farce comedy in one act, will be the stars in the bill of vaudeville to be presented at the Cook Opera House next week. Mr. and Mrs. Drew are well known as comedy players and have appeared here in several vehicles. Another novelty will be Ned Wayburn's "Phantastic Phantoms." This is a spectacular musical act, in which there is shown a little black art, many novel songs and unique dancing numbers. In Kemp's "Tales of the Wild" will be shown still and animated pictures of exciting scenes of Arizona life. Cameron and Flannigan, comedians who are strangers to Rochester, will appear in a one-act farce bearing the title "On and Off." The Gotham Comedy Four, rated as one of the best of the comedy male quartettes, will have an offering in which melody and fun will be agreeably mixed. A troupe of trained fox terriers will be shown by Max Yorke. Joe Denning, a monologist who calls himself "an entertaining feller," promises to thoroughly live up to that appellation. Carletta, a gypsy, calling herself "the human dragon," will be another novelty. The kinetograph will show new moving pictures.

National Theatre

Not to be outdone by other women of the stage, Miss Anna Day, who is starring in Ernest Shipman's production of Charles Major's "When Knighthood was in Flower," the attraction booked for the National for the first half of next week, has caused to be constructed a portable dressing room for her own especial use while on tour in this attraction. It is a most elaborate affair, having all the usual appointments of the star's room, as found in the theaters to-day, with the addition of many little comforts and conveniences that the local management fail to furnish, but that my lady well knows the comfort of. Chas. E. Blaney's scenic production of "Lottie, the Poor Saleslady," or "Death Before Dishonor," a sensational melodrama that "you'll never forget," will be the attraction at the National, October 10, 11, 12. There is a world of pathos and human interest in this play that appeals to every one. It is a drama that is at once and at the same time logically consistent and legitimately sensational.

Baker Theatre.

Next week's bill of Klaw & Erlanger's Advanced Vaudeville is claimed by the management to be the greatest bill of vaudeville ever seen in Rochester.

George Fuller Golden is one of the principal features, and he needs no introduction to Rochester. His fame and popularity exceed that of any other monologist in the country. Miss Ida Fuller will present her wonderful fire dance, "La Sorciere." Harry Corson Clarke is one of the best known comedians in the country, and in his bright new sketch, "Strategy," he is said to be exceedingly funny and original. Who has not heard of the German comedians Carlin and Otto, the wise young Dutchman and the one with no knowledge of the world. The Howard Brothers are known as "Monarchs of the Banjo," and it is said that they well merit the title. R. J. Jose is a remarkable tenor who has a national reputation, and is one of the important features of Advanced Vaudeville. An act that will be one of the real hits of the bill on account of its neatness and gracefulness is that of Mlle. Chester and Her Dog. The Bogannys are just about the most original thing in the way of comedy acrobats that has been seen in a long time. These acts, together with some new moving pictures, will form the big bill to be presented all next week with daily matinees.

Lyceum Theatre.

Seats are now on sale for the engagement of "The Blue Moon" in which James T. Powers will appear at the Lyceum Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

The finale of the first act of Klaw & Erlanger's production of "The Harn Tree," in which McIntyre and Heath return to the Lyceum Thursday night of next week, is a minstrel parade in which young girls ranging from 18 to 22 years of age and young men are seen. This is a remarkably artistic effect.

William H. Crane in the George Ade comedy, "Father and the Boys" will be the attraction at the Lyceum next Friday and Saturday.

Sacred Heart Alumnae.

Alumnae of Sacred Heart Convent will have their fourth annual reunion October 19. About 400 members are expected to attend. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 o'clock and at 2:30 o'clock the annual business meeting will take place. Officers will be elected.

Father Sinclair's Will.

By the will of the late Rev. Francis Henry Sinclair, which was admitted to probate by Special County Judge John A. Barbute in Surrogate Court, his entire estate of $25,000 is left to St. Peter and Paul's Church, of which he was rector for the last forty years. Rev. Frederick Rauber and Rev. Mathias Hargather are named as executors.

Five Minute Sermon

Healing of the Son of the Ruler of Capharnaum.

Jesus worked this miracle in the city of Cana in Galilee, where He had converted water into wine. The ruler was from Capharnaum, which is situated at the northwestern side of the Lake of Genesareth, many miles distant from Cana. Capharnaum was a city loved by the Divine Teacher, and one which He had made famous by many miracles.

When Christ rebuked the man, saying: "Unless you see signs and wonders you believe not." He did this to show the ruler the imperfection of his faith, for if he really believed that Christ was true God he would have known that a simple act of His all-powerful will was sufficient to cure his dying son, and that it was not necessary for the sick son to be present in person. This reproof was given, however, not only to him, but also to all who thought like him, and whose faith was as imperfect as his was.

The lesson we should derive is first to learn how useful trials and afflictions are to lead us to God. Secondly, we are to admire the goodness of God in bearing with our imperfections when we pray to Him; and lastly, like that ruler, we are to lead our neighbor at least by our good example, to the knowledge of God and to the faithful observance of His holy law.
