Five Minute Sermon

The Coin of Tribute

To-day's Gospel tells how the Pharisees tried to ensnare Jesus in His speech. The question was this: Is it lawful for the Jews to pay tribute to Caesar? To this the Hebrews were very much opposed, because a great part of them submitted unwillingly to the law imposing the tribute; and still more, following the teachings of a certain Gaulonite, were of the opinion that it was not lawful for the Hebrew nation to pay tribute to the Gentiles, and that to do so was for them a sin.
If Jesus Christ declared it to be lawful to pay tribute to the Romans He would have made Himself odious to the followers of the Gaulonite, the leader of those zealots who afterward caused so much misery to unfortunate Jerusalem. And if, on the contrary, He declared it unlawful to pay the tribute, He would have provoked the anger and invited the vengeance of Caesar, and the enmity and persecution of Herod, a great partisan of the emperor. He therefore said to them: "Render therefore to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's."
Therefore we should learn in the first place not to try to deceive our neighbor by feigned praise and adulation, as in our day is done by many. We should not put our trust in the praises of men. We should not give our opinion too rashly; not offend the opinion of others and enforce our own; and lastly, we should show ourselves obedient subjects of authority and sincere worshippers of our God.
