Do you fuss with dirty, oily lamps?
Is your house bright and cheerful?

JUDGE JOHN H. CHADSEY.

One of Rochester's ablest lawyers and a man eminently qualified in every respect for the responsible position he occupies as Justice of the Peace for the City of Rochester is John H. Chadsey. A native of New York, he was born in the village of Ballston, Saratoga County, March 1, 1845, and is the eldest son of Dr. Alonzo J. Chadsey, a well known and eminent physician of that county. He was educated at private and public schools, and on the outbreak of the Civil War, when still a mere youth, enlisted in Company A, 132d Regiment, New York Volunteers. He was not, however, mustered into service on account of being under the required age. Judge Chadsey studied law with John Graham of New York City, and at the age of twenty-one was admitted to the bar. He took a course in political economy at the Cooper Institute, and was vice-president of the Cary Political Science Society of New York. From New York he went to Kansas and finally settled in Penfield, N. Y., in 1873. He has had headquarters in Rochester for upwards of twenty-five years, but up to his present term of office had never filled any public position. As an administrator of Justice John H. Chadsey has given general satisfaction and has done much to elevate the Police Court. Judge Chadsey does not believe that the victim of intemperance should be treated as a criminal, but rather as a sick man. So far as it has been in his power he has followed out this policy in his Police Court administrations by placing men under the parole system and, when they were in a wrecked physical condition, ordering them sent to the County Hospital or to medical attention in the jail. "It is a wretched mistake to treat the inebriate as a misdemeanant," said Judge Chadsey. "He should rather be treated from the time of his arrest as a sick man, a patient and not as a criminal. A very large proportion of what are styled in police parlance 'common drunks' could be made sober, self-supporting citizens if treated in that manner." "We all know of cases where men have been cured of the liquor habit by proper treatment. Now the question arises: Is it not cheaper and wiser for the municipality to make a good citizen and a self-supporting man, out of an inebriate than to send him, time after time, to the penitentiary?"

GEORGE M. SCHMITT.

The Seventh Ward has been represented most capably in the Common Council since 1905, when George M. Schmitt was elected alderman over that old Democratic warhorse William Quinlan. Mr. Schmitt has been without question one of the ablest aldermen in the Council and he has at all times since his election guarded faithfully and well the interests of his constituents.

Mr. Schmitt says that he looks upon the city as a large business corporation and upon an alderman as one of the directors charged with administering the corporation's affairs for the best interests of the city at large. As the representative of the Seventh Ward, he says, however, that he believes it to be his first duty to advance the interests of the Seventh Ward.

Mr. Schmitt, who is this year the Republican candidate for re-election to the office of alderman of the Seventh, was born in Rochester, January 10, 1869. He was educated at Holy Redeemer Parochial School, Public School No. 9 and the Williams & Rogers Business College. He was married to Miss Lena Nagle, January 29, 1891. When a young man Mr. Schmitt learned the drug business with his cousin, Joseph Schmitt, of Joseph Avenue, remaining in that store for three years. For eight years he was clerk at John Esterheld's drug store in Hudson Avenue, at the end of that time being installed as manager of Mr. Esterheld's Portland Avenue drug store. About three years ago, Mr. Schmitt engaged in business for himself at Central Avenue and Joiner Street, where he is still located. Mr. Schmitt is a member of the Liberal Knights.

Produce England Gets.

Consul F. W. Mahls of Nottingham reports that the value of re-exported produce annually imported into Great Britain is now close to $200,000,000, about half of which comes from the British colonies. The United States and South America each contribute some $30,000,000 worth, Russia about $13,000,000 worth, the remainder being distributed among several countries. The greatest value is of butter and cheese, about $75,000,000. Beef is next, nearly $50,000,000; mutton, $30,000,000; eggs, over $10,000,000.

Why Currants Are Nutritious.

The reason why currants are so remarkably nutritious is that they consist to a very large degree, of saccharine in its most easily digestible form—that of grape sugar. The pleasant flavor of the currant, which adds so much to its pleasantness as a food, is derived from the valuable percentage of tartaric acid which the berry contains. Potash is also present in the form of cream of tartar and is undoubtedly of dietetic value.—Ladies' Pictorial.

Paderewski Works Hard.

Paderewski frequently sits at his instruments until well into the small hours of the morning, says Tit-Bits. Hence he seldom rises until 10 or 11 a. m., and immediately he dresses he gets to work, generally practicing on the piano, but often composing. He keeps to his task until 10 p. m., and not a minute earlier does he break his fast.

Output of Tokay Wine.

This year's output of the famous Tokay wine has been entirely lost in consequence of an unexpected outbreak of phylloxera. Tokay is made from grapes grown in the vineyards belonging to the Emperor Francis Joseph at Hegyalja, Hungary, and it is now used chiefly for presents to other heads.

NOMINATED FOR ASSESSOR.

Colonel Frank J. Schwalb, Prominent and Successful Business Man.

Frank J. Schwalb, Republican candidate for City Assessor, has been a resident of this city for more than thirty years. He is a prominent business man of the Sixteenth Ward, having been connected with two land associations and, being a large property owner, he is well fitted to perform the duties of an assessor.

Colonel Schwalb was born February 13, 1861, at Niles, Trouble County, Ohio. When four years old he came with his parents to New York State. Several years later he removed to Rochester, where he has since made his home. He received his education in the public and parochial schools and later at the old Vossburgh academy, well known at that time as an educational institution. In 1875 his father opened an office in this city for the retailing of coal and wool, and Colonel Schwalb assisted him in the business. Ten years later his father took him into partnership. Three years after the formation of the partnership the father died and the son took over the entire management of the business. Since that time his business has increased, until now he is looked upon as one of the most successful business men of this city.

Colonel Schwalb has always taken a lively interest in the affairs of the Germans of Rochester. He is a prominent member of several organizations of the sons of Fatherland and has done much for the advancement of the Teutonic residents of this city. He is commander of the Rochester regiment of the Knights of St. John, one of the most powerful semi-military organizations in this part of the country. He is also a member of the local council of the Knights of Columbus, of the C. M. B. A., of the Independent Order of Foresters, and of other benevolent societies.

Colonel Schwalb has the confidence of a large number of the independent voters who look upon him as a man of integrity, worthy of the confidence of the people. Those who know him regard him as eminently fitted for the performance of the important duties of the position to which he has been nominated.

England and India.

Nothing is more depressing to those who really care for India than the ignorance and indifference of English people concerning the major part of their fellow-subjects. When it is remembered that more than half the King's subjects are Hindus, and that in India and Burma, out of every 29 people, 21 are Hindus, 8 Christian, native or European, it seems hardly necessary to insist upon the importance of knowing something at least about Hindu life and ideas; yet few there be that realize it.—London Athenaeum.

Successful Woman Farmer.

Mrs. Ida Webster of Pratt County, Kan., has harvested 8,000 bushels of wheat and 3,000 bushels of corn from her 800-acre farm this fall. The place was cultivated under her personal supervision, and, 12 men work for her all the year around, with many more in harvest time. Her husband died 12 years ago and left her the place and its mortgage. Since then she has paid off the mortgage and is now supposed to be worth $50,000.

Disliked by the Old.

To elderly people London is no longer a pleasant place of residence. The streets have become a labyrinth of horror and difficulty, a region of hideous sounds and foul smells. With motor buses toppling over on the sidewalk and private motors knocking down lamp-posts and impaling on the shelters the unfortunate citizen knows not whither to wend his trembling steps.
