Involuntarily her gaze sought the times that day had it not! It seemed but a minute, when there was a single stroke; it was half past on the hill, she turned into the cottage, passing through its small, neat dining room to the kitchen.

In half an hour Ezra Reed would want his coffee, ere going at midnight to relieve her father in the tower of the lighthouse.

Twelve o'clock struck and the assistant keeper responded instantly to the knock upon his door. He ascended the long winding flight of iron stairs and could scarcely have been gone three minutes before she heard the sound of footsteps descending the steps of the spiral stair-

He had perhaps no more than reached the door when the storm broke out. "A ship on the roofs and it looks like the Palatine." said young Reed in excited tones. The girl turned pale. Was not Dave Roberts. who lived in the house on the hill. in the Palatine?
