IN MEMORIAM.

At a special meeting of the Young Men's Catholic Club of St. Peter and Paul's church, Rochester, held Sunday, March 22nd, 1908, the following resolution was adopted:

"Whereas, the Master of Life having in His unsearchable and all-wise decree called from among us Rev. John Ege, formerly the Moderator of the Y. M. C. C. to receive his eternal reward, it is proper, just and meet that this society express its deepest sympathies at his loss.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that we, the members of the Young Men's Catholic Club, hereby give expression to our deepest sorrow and regret in having lost our former Moderator, who, in his daily life, worked so zealously in the vineyard of Christ and among the members of the Young Men's Catholic Club.

"Furthermore, we also express our deepest and most sincere sympathy to the relatives of the deceased Rev. John Ege at so sorrowful a loss."

A copy of these resolutions is to be sent to the relatives and also to be placed on file in the books of the Y. M. C. C.

Cook Opera House.

The most elaborate magical act on the vaudeville stage is announced as the main card in the show scheduled for next week at the Cook Opera House. This will be presented by Horace Goldin, the man who invented the trick of catching live goldfish in mid-air. Another important act will be that of the Murray sisters in a singing act. The Sheck brothers will do athletics stunts as the old Roman athletes used to execute them. Arthur Whitelew will entertain with comedy. Almont and Dumont will play together on brass instruments. Comedy acrobatics are promised by the Four Rianos, who masquerade as huge gorillas. Gaston and Green will have music and comedy. Butler and Bassett will have one of the most novel turns ever given here. They will show an exhibition of skating on real ice, artificially manufactured in a tank on the stage of the theatre. This bill will be given all next week, with matinees daily.

Baker Theater.

Next week at the Baker Theatre the Bellow-Spencer Company will appear in the delightful comedy "Prince Karl" by Archibald Clavering Gunter, made famous by the late Richard Mansfield. A feature of unusual interest in its production will be the first appearance in Rochester of a new leading woman, Miss Lang, retiring for a much needed rest. Miss Florence Oakley who takes her place is a young lady of beauty, charm and talent, who is sure to quickly win her way into the hearts of Rochester theatergoers. There are in "Prince Karl" a number of well drawn American and foreign types, which contribute to the dramatic and comedy interest, among them being an English hotel proprietor, and two Americans, one a broken down speculator and the other a not too scrupulous lawyer. In the keeping of Mr. Spencer and Miss Oakley will be the charming leading roles of the Prince and the young widow.

National Theater.

"As Told in the Hills" the new melodrama of Western life which is being presented by Nesbit Scoville is regarded as one of the best dramatic offerings of the season. The play is one that appeals especially to lovers of melodrama, who have grown tired of those depicting life in the under world of the great cities where crime and debauchery are brought to view and on contrast with that class of play the new production is refreshing, clean and bright all through. This new and intensely interesting play will be seen at the National Theatre the first half of next week.

"Not Yet But Soon" the musical comedy in which Hap Ward scored so heavily last year, will be seen at the National Theatre the last half of next week. Manager E. D. Stair promises a company of fifty people, including Lucy Daly, Fred Wyckoff, Robert Evans, Abe Friedland, Richard Barry, Lew Kelly, Harry Parent, Ed. Gilmore, Caroline Hooker, Mae Kilcoyne and Leslie Lyle.
