

A Different Man

Grucher was not eavesdropping. He was sitting in his own particular chair in his own library reading the newspaper, when the young people came into the next room. If they supposed that a few Spanish leather strings and fringes in the way of portieres were going to prevent their voices from being heard, that was their affair.

It occurred to me said the young man, modestly. "You must have got up pretty early to be out here this morning," said Grucher. "Not very," replied young Brophie. "I caught a freight out to Battinburg at 4.35, and walked over to the bridge."

OLD-TIME REFRIGERATORS. Spring Houses of the Ozarks and Their Many Uses. "You do not need to go far out of St. Louis to find the old-time spring house," said a gentleman connected with one of the western railroads.

MODELS OF AIRSHIPS. Hang From the Ceiling of the National Museum. Models of four airships are now suspended from the ceiling in the east hall of the technology of the National Museum, according to the Washington Star.

THE PERFECT MAN. "I am getting frightfully cynical," Elberta said dolefully, arranging the cushions on the box couch so that the becoming red one would be nearest her face.

never thought I was a beauty—but I can't help the size of my nose. "Of course you can't," consolingly—"nobody can blame you for it," she declared piously.
