Watch for our big announcements later
in the week.

To Our Friends

To the hundreds of men and women who have purchased from us building lots in the Rochester Driving Park Tract, to the hundreds of friends of our customers who likewise have a friendly feeling in their hearts for us, to the many hundreds of acquaintances and friends who have been carefully considering the question of buying home sites in this new district, to all friends of the progress and development of our great city, who respond heartily to the toast "Greater Rochester" to one and all, we extend a cordial invitation to visit our tract during our Fall Opening, on any of the

Inspection Days

Saturday, Sunday and Monday, October 10th, 11th and 12th

Eleven new streets have been opened up, all improvements have been completed, many purchasers of lots have already finished building their homes and are living in satisfied peace and contentment; as many as forty houses have been put up or are now in course of erection—and as you stroll along the fine cement walks, through improved streets where a few months ago was only bare land, you will see that altogether there has been a wonderfully sudden and striking change in the appearance of this beautiful new residence community.

We invite you to meet us at our Allotment Office, on the corner of Driving Park and Dewey Ave. on any of these inspection days, at your convenience after the hour of nine o'clock in the morning. Partake of our welcome and hospitality, and inspect the eighty acres that we have succeeded in transforming into the choicest home neighborhood in the city of Rochester.

Very cordially yours,

Lombard, Smith & Williams Co.

Baker Theatre.
Vaughan Glaser and his company at the Baker Theatre, following the policy originally outlined, will produce at the Baker Theatre next week, Henry Arthur Jones' drama "The Hypocrites". This play when presented here

Vaughan Glaser at the Baker before was pronounced by all the critics one of the most powerful dramas that had ever been given to the stage. For the presentation of this play, Mr. Glaser who is always looking for an opportunity to strengthen his company, has engaged Eliza Warren, Belle D'Arcy and Marjorie Race. The play being in four acts will give Max Greenburg, the scenic artist, an opportunity for some beautiful stage settings. The entire company will be seen to good advantage. The usual popular price matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.
