Cook Opera House

Manager J. H. Moore will offer the patrons of the Cook Opera House next week another mammoth bill of vaudeville headed by the favorite Irish comedian Charles Mack, who will bring to the Cook the same comedy as before, presenting that beautiful picture of rural Ireland called "Come Back to Erin." Mr. Mack, like his cousin Andrew Mack, of the high-priced stage, is always welcome in Rochester for the reason that he invariably gives theatregoers the very best music and wholesome comedy that the stage can boast of.

The feature attraction of the bill will be furnished by Florence Gale & Co. Miss Gale will offer a German military comedy, called "The Girl Who Dated."

There are several other fine acts on the bill, not forgetting to mention the fact that every act on the bill, with the exception of the occasional acrobatic act of the Pantomime troupe, runs almost entirely to comedy, with the best of vocal music to act as a balance.
