

WOMAN AND HER DEAR FRIENDS

"That's Leone Fletcher over at the farther table," said the girl with the gold bracelet. "She has on another new hat."

"Ever since his uncle took Dick into the firm," continued the girl with the bracelet, "and to set up an automobile and joined two or three clubs, Leone has been saying her little traps."

"The next morning when I had just got through rinsing my hair the bell rang and before the maid could come upstairs Leone called up to me."

"Oh!" Leone said, still in her sweet voice, looking remarkably pretty. "I want to see you just a minute, dear. Can't you run down? I'm in a hurry to catch a train."

"Here she comes," said the girl to brown, hastily. "How becoming that hat is to you, Leone! It hides your high forehead so nicely! I gave mine to the laundress!"

THE GUILLOTINE'S ORIGIN.

Not invented by the Genia. Old Doctor But by One Schmidt

In a book just published by Hektor Flichman in Germany the usual story of the origin of the instrument of execution which was named for Dr. Guillotin in the day of the French revolution is daily denied.

"The mechanism of which he also no one else had any idea at that time," was spoken of as the simple apparatus by the inventor of the guillotine.

"This was considered too high a price, and the contract was given to a German cabinet maker by the name of Tobias Schmidt, who received $24,000 for the accepted model in 1824.

Costly Snake Poison.

One of the strangest as well as most costly articles of commerce is snake venom, for which there is a growing demand in medicine and other branches of science.

Farmers' Lot in New England.

Anybody who thinks the farmers of New England are living in solitude out of touch with the great world and indifferent to the advantages of organization is destined to a rude awakening.

Rattlesnakes.

It is commonly believed that the rattlesnake will strike without giving the warning rattle during the hot days of August at a distance from their sign.

Bobby's Flattering Faith.

One Sunday morning little Bobby showed signs of having something on his mind. Finally he mustered up courage and addressed his father thus: "Say papa, don't you think it is time for me to graduate from Sunday school?"

Nothing New.

Fashion is ever changing, but it must be confessed that all the dresses we "create" are merely variations of models worn in other days.—Moda, Rome.

An Apology Crank.

A man who is good at making explanations and apologies is seldom good for anything else.

Being Frank A Hiving

"I've got you now where you can't get away," said the ponderous person with the pendulous cheeks, as he pushed the young man with the green cravat into a chair.

"There isn't anything the matter with me, Mr. Frank," replied the young man brightly. "It must be your imagination."

"No, sir," said the ponderous person. "My idea is to do you good. That's the main object. If your feet are anything like I can't help it."

off that tightly-planned, mosquito netting my head was stung to almost double its size.

"You look rather done up," remarked Atkins, when Shelley returned to the office after a few days in the country.

"I don't know," answered the ponderous person. "I was rather annoyed to have her assume that I wasn't equal to a job which evidently would have been better child's play for her."

THE PLAGUE.

Danger From Infection of Ground Squirrels in California.

A few months ago Dean Ward, of the University of Nebraska discovered while visiting California that the bubonic plague really menaces the United States although the splendid work done by the government scientists caused him to hope that no further spread of the disease would be noted.
