Baker Theater.

"The Mere Man," a comedy-drama, written for Maxine Elliot just before she decided to appear in "The Chaperon" has been selected and prepared by Miss Jessie Bonstelle and her company for next week's bill at the Baker Theatre, where Miss Bonstelle has been playing with signal success for weeks. Monday night will be the first production anywhere and it is probable that the author of several New York managers will come to Rochester to witness the performance. The author has presented no problem to his audience, but has shown in no uncertain way that there is no one who can utterly afford to disregard the conventions by which society governs itself.

Lasky's production, "The Love Waltz", a triumph of musical magnificence, which embodies many of the Vienesse Waltz themes now the fad with the music loving public. Ten thousand dollars have been expended in the stage embellishment of the production, and in point of magnificence as to scenery and costumes it far excels anything ever before seen in the greater varieties. Miss Audrey Maple, heads the cast as the Princess, with Mr. Alfred Kappeler as the Prince. Other acts are Edna Phillips & Co., in "Lost a Kiss in Central Park," Warren, Meyer & Lyon, in "When Dreams Come True," James Harrigan, tramp juggler, Five Musical Avolos, etc.

FACTS ABOUT ANIMALS' EYES.

Confirmation of Darwin's Theory that Man is Closely Related to Primates.

For some years past the eminent British ophthalmologist, Dr. Lindsay Johnson, has been investigating the eyes of animals, and has made some valuable discoveries of great interest to zoology and our knowledge of the evolution of various animals. One of the most remarkable of these researches is a confirmation of Darwin's theory that man is closely related to the primates. From his investigations Dr. Johnson has found that the eyes of all the apes, including man, are practically identical. Each has the highly complex system of veins and arteries, and the direct or parallel vision. According to this authority, the dog has two ancestors, one round-eyed and the other oval-eyed. The first is the hyena, and the latter the bear through the raccoon. All animals exposed to chase by enemies, such as the hare, rabbit, and squirrel, can see all around, and all the rodentia squint. The lower an animal in the scale, the further is its eye from parallel vision. According to this authority also, the corpus niger, or black body of pigment, in the eye of the horse, which has proved such a source of speculation to the naturalist, veterinarians, and zoologists, reveals through the ophthalmoscope a new means of tracing the ancestry and relationship of the horse. The eye curtain is precisely the same as that which is found in all tropical animals, such as the onega, camel, antelope, etc., and fulfills one important function—the protection of the eye from sunlight. One result of Dr. Johnson's researches, according to Prof. Ray Lankester, the celebrated zoologist, will necessitate a reclassification in one section of zoology.

To Keep Flowers Fresh.

The popular person whose admiring relatives and friends shower upon her large and small tokens of their regard in the form of flowers may profit by a few suggestions as to how to treat them so they will last.

With the proper sort of care they could be kept alive for three or four days and in some cases a week. First put the flowers in paper boxes in the evening wrapped in oil paper. They must be sprinkled well, being careful not to wet the petals, as delicate roses and sweet peas become spotted brown when wet. If the stems are wet thoroughly, then the flowers wrapped and put in a box, and kept in a good place they will be fresh in the morning. Before placing them in the vases, cut off about a quarter of an inch of the stem where it has become hardened and wash thoroughly with warm water in order to remove all traces of slime or scum.

Chief Producer of Insanity.

Dr. Frederick Peterson, of New York City, in an address before the New York Conference of Charities and Correction declared "Alcohol is the chief poison factor in the production of insanity. Twenty per cent. of all the insane in the United States owe their condition to alcoholic poison." Dr. McDonald calculates that one insane person is an approximate loss to the state of $400 per year, hence the actual loss to the United States is $12,000,000 per year.

An Awful Revelation.

In Chicago, in one day, 1,408 persons were imprisoned for drunkenness. Of these there were forty-one cases of delirium tremens. It is reported that a physician connected with the prison secured some of the liquor. He poured it upon a piece of raw beef and in three minutes the meat was absolutely black. None but devils can laugh at such a revelation.

Disadvantage of Beauty.

"One disadvantage of being good looking," said the woman who admits that she knows she is handsome, "is that I never get a chance to beat my way on the street cars. Just because I am good looking the conductor spots me when I enter the car and he hustles right up to ask for my fare."

Fills the Asylums.

In an ordinary asylum 55 per cent. of the patients owe their insanity to alcoholism.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

BY ALOYSIUS DOYLE.

Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.

THE hosts are out in grand array,
"A-wearing of the green;"
Long columns march adown the street,
With playing bands between.
And I—my feet are keeping step
To tunes that roll out free,
But my heart's afar in a blessed isle—
A green isle o'er the sea.

* *

THERE, in a thatched roof, humble cot,
A gray haired woman bides.
The snows of time rest on her head;
Care in her wrinkles hides.
I'm with my mother where she waits,
Her heart bound up in me.
My heart is there; her heart is with
Her boy far o'er the sea.

* *

AND o'er the moor another cot,
Amid a sea of green,
Holds one whose eyes turn oceanward—
My own sweet, fair colleen.
And she—she's wearing shamrock, too;
She'll send a sprig to me.
She lifts her heart in prayer today
For one across the sea.

* *

I LOVE this land; it treats me well,
And I mean well by it.
So bear with me when on this day
I backward glance a bit
To that green isle which gave me birth,
Where loved ones wait for me.
My heart will take, St. Patrick's day,
A trip across the sea.
