NO STING IN DEATH

French Specialist Declares That Death is Painless.

Do we suffer to die? La Lecture the famous French paper puts this question and Dr. Sevelin, the eminent specialist of the Parisian hospitals answers with a big "NO!"

I have observed and noted with the greatest care and care he says all the phenomena of that called death and I can affirm that it is painless, sensibility that composed action of the brain nerves and muscles which produce all our feelings both physical and psychological is the first thing to die.

When a person becomes so ill that he is unable to suffer what he is suffering from, he is already dead. It is not the pain that kills, it is the loss of sensibility.

It is not the pain that kills, it is the loss of sensibility. The patient is already dead when he is unable to suffer.

He is brought to the ambulance and he is not conscious. He is already dead.

Stamp Out Clay Eating. Efforts are made to stamp out the habit of earth eating which is prevalent among the natives over all most all of India.

The reasons given for indulging in the habit are a peculiar fascinating odor and taste in the clay, rendering it a delicious and unobtainable delicacy.

BIRD RAISED WITH CANARIES LEARNED TO IMITATE THEM.

A series of interesting experiments in which English sparrows have been taught to sing sweetly is recorded by Dr. Conrad.

The aim of the experimenter has been to determine what are the conditions under which birds learn and cling to their traditional notes.

In July 1893 he put four fledging English sparrows into the nest of a pair of singing canaries.

Three of them died but the fourth survived. It had a ready acquired a few notes but learned them with the notes of the canary.

The light in Randall's eyes aroused her curiosity. Do you know her Vivian Grey?

My but I am glad you come along she said gratefully. I always supposed city folks were terribly stuck up but you're just like her.

Bear and Forbear

Randall came slowly down the wood road that led to the resort ground.

Some little distance from him he saw an elderly female forging her ample form through the undergrowth that had sprung up across the remains of a path leading past a small Summer house.

He turned from the main road and came into a neglected lovers lane. Some little distance from him he saw an elderly female forging her ample form through the undergrowth that had sprung up across the remains of a path leading past a small Summer house.

He is quite tame, reassured Randall turning toward her and apparently not noting the rakish set of the wig and bonnet which were of wildly antagonistic angles.

I was never here before, she gasped and I took him for a big dog. Why I am that stout and beat like I don't know as I can make the hotel.

My but I am glad you come along she said gratefully. I always supposed city folks were terribly stuck up but you're just like her.

Oh, Randall, he drawled, with a suspicion of a sneer in his voice, "Keeping tryst in this romantic spot? Who's your fair friend?"

The "friend" detected the sneer, and turned to him resentfully, but before she gained her voice Randall responded in quiet tones.
