Vindication. When Rev. A. M. O'Neil and Rev. J. F. Staub in recent address...

How, however, that agitation of a year or more has borne fruit...

Even in the secular sense, the Catholic schools in Rochester have the best of the argument.

C. M. B. A. Once in three years the Catholic Mutual Benefit Association holds a New York State Council...

The triennial council for 1909 is to be held in Rochester beginning on August 31st.

Much good has been accomplished by this magnificent Catholic organization...

minimum expense for officers' salaries and other outlays which sap the funds of other organizations secular in character.

The Catholic Journal welcomes the C. M. B. A. to Rochester and trusts its gathering here may be both pleasant and profitable.

Theaters. When even the civil authorities take cognizance of lewd performances in the theaters, the plays must have reached a low level, indeed, because the civil officers are loth to take any step which might win condemnation from those whose votes are sought to insure continuance in jobs.

Let the Catholic Church and charged by the advocates of its splendid body of laymen keep reform school method.

Vacation. Because one finds it convenient or necessary to leave home for a summer vacation, the obligation to hear mass is not dispensed.

Those who summer near Rochester are not troubled with absence of Catholic churches.

Fred G. Warren, editor of The Appeal to Reason, the Socialist and anti-Catholic paper published at Girard, Kas., has been convicted in the United States court of sending defamatory matter, other than his scurrilous sheet, through the mails.
