Business Philosophy.

Play is work that you don't have to do. Never hide a traveling man whose waistcoat is more insistent than his personality.

Don't rise so high in your calling that you see only the side of your fellows.

It's true that a marble statue has no faults, — but then it has no friends, either.

There are plenty of doors labelled "Pull," but the majority, after all, bear the legend "Push."

There are self-made men in this world who ought to be suffering from remorse.—Warwick James Price in Lippincott's.
