

MR. RIBBLE'S REWARD

Mrs. Ribble was brushing her husband's hat in the room which, except for an additional cupboard where the two girls slept, was their whole house. Ever since he had lost his scholarship, at the age of 35, owing to the arrival of a headmaster with new views and a belief in younger men, he had been unsuccessful. People did not seem to believe in him. He had not a business mind, they said, and very likely it was true.

turned, so as to speak, at day. I am, Jubkin's are infallible, positive, unflinching. In a house the time is full of treasures. The library worth a whole house first editions alone, a whole house suppose they caught fire, and the other bottles famous.

HIS LUCKY THIRTEEN

Absorbed in the telegram which had just been handed to her, Mme. Marrier did not hear the click of the gate as it was opened and shut nor the approach of her guest, Maxime Richard, the artist.

WHY THE TABLES TURNED

Mr. Percy Harborough, at the age of 33, had a satisfactory income, an extremely susceptible heart, and a pronounced squint. When his sight was fixed upon an object in front, the left would be turned toward a different object at his side.

THE GERMAN EMPEROR'S AMBITION

The German Emperor's ambition to make Berlin the center of Protestantism will be promoted by the dedication of the new Lutheran Cathedral, which, with its imposing dimensions, supersedes the small and undignified edifice that stood on the same site.

MOTHER-IN-LAWS IN FAVOR

Indiana Supreme Court has just decided that mothers-in-law must be respected. They have white caps in Indiana and the decision merely means that brutal sons-in-law must not to send their wives to annoy the poor old souls and shorten their days.
