Baker Theater

For the sixteenth week of his engagement at the Baker Theater, Bert Lytell and his excellent company will return to the realms of farce comedy and will present an elaborate revival of Leo Dietrichstein's amusing farce, "Are You A Mason?" One does not need to be a member of any fraternal organization to enjoy to the utmost the amusing situations and bright lines of this comedy. Taken as a whole nothing more absurdly funny than "Are You A Mason?" can be imagined. It is one continuous laugh from start to finish. Bert Lytell and Ida Adair will be seen in the leading roles. John R. Sumner will play the bogus Grand Master, a 37th degree Mason and the balance of the company will be cast to the best advantage to contribute their share of the fun-making. Special features will be introduced each night to lend special enjoyment to the visiting "brothers and sisters" who may attend. The usual matinees will be given on Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

Macaroni as a Food

You are undoubtedly fond of macaroni, but did you ever consider it seriously as a food? Woodcock Macaroni contains four-fifths of the elements necessary to life and health. Made from the rich granules of the best American wheat, it retains the all-important gluten lost in the ordinary flour macaroni. In addition to the other wholesome wheat properties Woodcock Macaroni is tissue building, blood-making, health-giving and appetizing. Put up in air-tight, germ-proof packages. 15c. at all grocers.

Costume Shows

"Shivers" (Frank Shivers Oakley) the premiere clown of this country, long principle clown with the Barium and Bailey circus, will make his Rochester vaudeville debut at Cook's next week, assisted by Miss Ardie Nelson a famous acrobat. This act as well as the comedy "Dobb's Dilemma" interpreted by Franklin Underwood, Frances Slosson and company will be seen in this city for the first time, as will the stellar singing act called the Neapolitans immediately following.

"Dobb's Dilemma" on the program. The special feature attraction of the bill is the ensemble acrobatic dancing act of the Eight Original Madcaps. Among the familiar faces to be seen are Barry & Wolford, with new songs and some bright repartee. Ed Morton in old and new songs in dialect will be another of the new and bright entertainers. It is expected that his new song "Ireland Isn't Ireland Anymore" will be whistled on the streets all next week. The eccentric European musical act of the Vin-dobonas, and the skillful roller skating act of the Alpha troupe, will be found in early positions on the bill. Mr. Moore takes pleasure in announcing for the week following the clever Cohen comedian Carter DeLisaver, whose new act is said to be the best treat of the season.

Daughter's Voice. If daughter has a voice and takes lessons it signifies nothing if she takes them from a teacher in town. The point of cultivating Daughter's Voice is to throw in a railroad trip with every lesson. If she goes as far as Kansas City the neighbors are awed, and if she goes as far as Chicago they don't even dream of ridicule, even when she practices at four in the morning. A wide latitude is afforded the Daughter who takes her voice as far as Chicago to learn how to handle it.—Atchison Globe.

A Permanent Job. "You have stated," said the budgeting lawyer to a witness, "that you were born in 1886. Now you say you were born in 1887. An incalculable discrepancy—though perhaps you may be able to explain it." "Certainly I can explain it," retorted the witness. "There's no incongruity there. I was born in 1888 and just stayed born. Why, I'm born yet."

The Oldest Book. The oldest book in the world, so far as present information goes, is that by Ptolemy, the Egyptian compiled in the reign of Amen, about B. C. 316. The manuscript of this ancient work is preserved in the Bibliotheque Nationale, Paris. It is written on papyrus in hieratic characters, and is made up largely of political, moral and religious aphorisms.

The Plane. Oh, there's nothing quite so mid-dling as a peaky crawling flea, when the little cuss is biting in a spot you can not see! Nothing which drives man or woman to the point where they will swear, like this hopping, tricky critter, when he's out upon a tear!
