BY AID OF THE ELEMENTS

There was no apparent reason for Marion Morris to rush off to Europe at a week's notice, except that she had told Robert Bruce, when she had given him back his ring, that she should go.

Why Spain is Poor. "With all this intelligence, why is the country so poor?" it will be asked. Why are splendid copper and silver mines left to be worked by foreigners?

The Craving for Sugar. But there is this fundamental difference between the craving for sugar and that for "sour," acids, vinegar, pickles, etc., alcohol and for other keen favors and highly attractive luxuries.

A Kick for Consistency. The commuter with a grievance opened the door of the General Passenger Agent's department, pushed aside the boy at the railing, and stalked up to the Chief Clerk's desk and relieved himself as follows:

How He was a Welshman. When Lord Halsbury was a barrister he was arguing a case on behalf of a Welshman, and showed a great knowledge of the principality and its people.

Not Disinterested. A Massachusetts professor says that beef is as nourishing as the choice cuts. Sounds like the utterance of a man who owns a dental parlor or a soap factory.

Curious System of Tubes that Run the Length of Their Bodies.

Landlubber animals have lungs and sea creatures have gills. But insects have neither one nor the other. They have a complex system of tubes running throughout the whole length of the body, by means of which air is conveyed to every part of the system.

Dream of A Home

For years Miss Lucretia had chafed at a dream, but only one person had ever known of it. Since she had had to play house with her little friends when she was a child she had longed for a home of her own.
