FOR LIFTING HOT PANS.
 Simple Attachment Which Prevents Accidental Burning of the Hand
 There is no reason why the housewife should be continually burning her fingers lifting hot pans from the fire when she can readily provide herself with the handy attachment shown in the accompanying illustration. It seems impossible to persuade women to use devices similar to this, they would rather use a cloth or their apron when lifting stovetops from the fire. The holder nevertheless should Changing of the Corset—"Grace" Corsets for Three Different Types—Royalties of Europe Form Movement With Eminent Artists at Head—Bones Put in by a Physiologist.

In Paris the otherwise powerful League of Mothers of Families got itself laughed at for taking up corset reform six months ago. Its fifty-two page brochure, illustrated by photographs of paintings and statues and technical cuts and portraits of floating kidneys, was reviewed ironically by the Boulevard press. Its letters of encouragement from 100 Paris physicians, 180 poets, painters and sculptors and 100 actresses and professional beauties fell flat.

THE DEVIOT OF PARIS ACTRESSES AND PROFES- THE "SUSPENDERS" SOCIAL BEAUTIES TO SUGGESTIONS ALONG

Then suddenly they began heeding the suggestions might be made to the corset of suppleness and grace. The tendency toward more classic garments might suggest a kind of reform.

What had scared the great dressmakers? Paris business was being threatened by fashionable people. Queen Alexandra of England influenced by the movement in Scandinavian countries has joined hands with the London Times in favor of the creation of a corsetless nation. A new style for women in Paris, Queen Helene and Dowager Queen Marguerite have formed a committee of eminent Italian artists with the fashionable Haldim at its head. It is these fashionable movements and a few of the new Parisian grace corsets we describe.

 is the "great evil" of the woman's putting man down to her.

For Small Women
 The little woman who is a woman always has a good figure. She has not one to begin with, she should economize in some other part of her wardrobe and call in the corset of a good corsetier. If she cannot be impressive she can at least be neat and good to look at. Use only the straight up and down lines in the development of your garments.

Knitting Cures Nervousness.
 Nothing soothes the nerves and employs the mind pleasantly, yet not fatiguingly, like needlework. It takes people from the restless habit of introspection and worry and acts as an antidote on tired nerves. Our mothers appreciated this occupation rightly when they made their daughters do dainty needlework every day, preferably for others.

When is a man rich?
 Everyone has a different standard. But one thing is certain, when a man begins to save, he begins to be rich. Business men respect him. Best of all, he respects himself.
 The habit of saving grows on one. Systematic setting aside of a little from your pay envelope each week will work wonders. One or two hundred dollars will accumulate in a short time.
 Buy a cheap lot in an outlying ward. Keep on saving, and before long you will be ready to borrow enough to build and pay yourself rent.
