

A CURIOUS TOMB.

Contains a Chamber Where Meal is Regularly Provided.

One of the most curious tombs in the United Kingdom is in County Westford. In it is laid the body of one of that curious body—the resurrectionists. One portion of the tomb is a furnished chamber, with a table and a few chairs. On the table will be found at any time a dainty meal of considerable dimensions, with a fowl, a ham, a leg of mutton and the necessary drinkables. The departed resurrectionist provides by his will that this meal shall be laid each fortnight, and "if the meal is untouched in the meantime it shall be given to the poor and a fresh meal laid." So far the meal has been untouched, though several rumors spread round the district from time to time that in spirit form the great man had appeared and had enjoyed his meal. Curious stories are told of poor people to whom the key of the tomb had been given, and of their being awakened in the night by a knock on the door and a voice saying, "Come in, for a portion of the food has been distributed. As a consequence the door is closed, and the resurrectionist has returned to his tomb." It is thought that the resurrectionist was a man of considerable means, and that his present position is a punishment for some crime.

Moroccan Red Tape

The Moroccan Red Tape is a very interesting and amusing story. It is a story of a man who was a very successful business man, and who was very rich. He was a very kind man, and he was very generous. He was a very good man, and he was very honest. He was a very brave man, and he was very strong. He was a very wise man, and he was very clever. He was a very good man, and he was very honest. He was a very brave man, and he was very strong. He was a very wise man, and he was very clever.

Alcohol Distillation

The government distillery for making denatured alcohol from corn and potatoes and the explanation of its use is very interesting. The Sawyer of the United States department of agriculture says that the magazine and newspaper articles concerning denatured alcohol have all so far as he can see given misleading impression. He says there is no question that the use of denatured alcohol is going to be of great service but that so far the department has been unable to build machinery simple enough and cheap enough for the ordinary farmer to use. This problem Dr. Sawyer says is receiving a great deal of attention.

English Women Smoke Cigarettes.

A doctor in cigarettes in London says that the practice of cigarette smoking is increasing rapidly among women in the higher circles. His firm has sold 100 per cent more of cigarettes to women this year than it did last. Among recent purchasers on a large scale was the queen of Spain who bought boxes for the purpose of making gifts to her friends. She has ordered a number of red, morocco cases with the Spanish arms on the top in gold each to contain 22 varieties of cigarettes.

The Captain was Right.

During the recent financial depression in England Pat and Mike enlisted in the British army. After their drill the captain thinking the circumstances opportune for a little lecture on patriotism demanded eloquently "Soldiers who should a man die for his king and country?" This struck Pat as a proper question. Turning to Mike he said "Faith Mike the captain is right! Whol' Everybody's."

Record Mountain Climber.

Long's peak, in Colorado, which has been called the American Matterhorn, has been successfully climbed by a small girl of 13 years, little Emily Zoynton. She seemed the aid of a guide, even in the dangerous places, but went clear to the top a distance of 14,271 feet. This gives her the record for mountain climbing among children of the world possibly.

The Age of the Microbe.

People just now are living in a state of almost morbid apprehension concerning what they should eat and drink. There have been the paleolithic age and the red sandstone age. The present age would come to be known as the bacillus, microbe and tubercle age. Lord Rabblesdale in House of Lords make the Most of Everything.

A man who knows the world will only make the most of everything he does know, but of many things he does not know, and will get more credit by his adroit mode of hiding ignorance than the pedant by his awkward attempt to exhibit his erudition.—Colton.

How the Rich Live.

Almost any millionaire would be willing to give up a large percentage of his fortune if he could tell the difference between a masterpiece and a daub.

Canadian Farmers Own Homes.

About 87 per cent. of the farmers of Canada reside over their own farms.
