

Woman's World

The Prettiest Woman in Japan, Princess Evulima.

The prettiest princess of the Mikado's realm, Princess Evulima, and her husband, Prince Fushimi, a second cousin of the emperor of Japan, are visiting in this country. The princess is a fascinating little specimen of femininity of the oriental grade, dark eyes, with olive tints complexion and the dark, lustrous hair peculiar to her countrywomen. Like most of the high caste Japanese, she speaks very good English, and while in Washington, she was the Japanese girl who was recently entertained by President Taft and the official set, the princess was all here.

Her very appealing little manner was in marked contrast to the confidence and consciousness of the smart American woman. Her hair was worn in large loops all over the circumference of her shoulders, and she wore them with surprising grace. Her hair combs were a French creation compared with the own Japanese style.

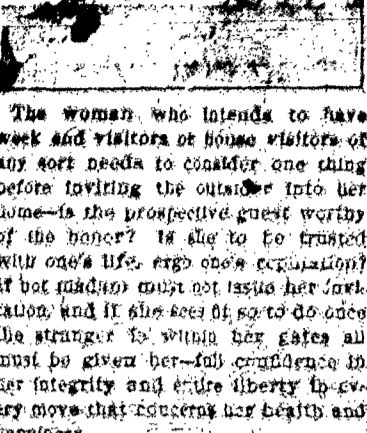

Princess Evulima, like the emperor of Japan, is in sympathy with the labor movement for women which in Japan has lately made much wonderful strides. While in New York she was the princess who was the first to be introduced to the American people, and she was the first to be introduced to the American people, and she was the first to be introduced to the American people.

It is the collar. "It only the girl would come to work just now," you say, "with a stiff collar supporting those collar studs on her neck or a high straight collar that looks as if it were bent back as if it should be." And that long expanse of uncovered neck you cannot think of anything else when you see her. The girl, if she is a good girl, has a collar that is not too tight, and she has a collar that is not too tight, and she has a collar that is not too tight.

Neckwear Hints. "Watch and see color of children's garments before making up. They will be likely to fit in no worth while to try risks by waiting until after-ward." A good mixture to set color in cotton materials is one tablespoonful of turpentine, a handful of salt and a half of cold water. Put goods in overnight. When long time put it back on stove on top of asbestos mat and stir until paper consistency. This can be done after sleep is added to white of egg.

Summer Comfort. Is there a woman living who does not shudder at the sight of a hot sun? Is there a woman living who does not shudder at the sight of a hot sun? Is there a woman living who does not shudder at the sight of a hot sun?

Good Form

The woman who intends to have week end visitors or those visitors of any sort needs to consider one thing before inviting the outsider into her home—is the prospective guest worthy of the honor? Is she to be treated with one's life, or one's reputation? If not (and she may not know her own mind) she should be so to do so, the stranger is within her gates all must be given her full confidence to her integrity and entire liberty to carry out her own plans for health and happiness.

An Engagement Tea. One of the newest ways of announcing an engagement is for the prospective bride to give a tea and invite all her friends and the friends of her parents. This either is held by the bride or by the groom, or by both.

Care of Linens. An Irish farmer's large percentage of soiling and summer dress is as admirable as any method for preserving the purity of this fabric. No linen should be starched. The linen has a crisp, clean wash when starched and ironed, but it wrinkles badly, and the wearing of it is a torment for a second appearance.

When Getting Burns. When the girl who is writing, Mrs. Wilson Woodrow says, she wants to bite something hard. She has kept her teeth for a long time. One day she found that she had eaten a whole pound of it during her work upon a single chapter of "The Beauty." Another girl who was working with a glass pane and bit it clean in two.

Shopping Hints. If you have waited until this evening hour to do your summer shopping, there are some little devices you must not fail to remember. Most of them center about your obligations to the store people, though the comfort of mother and baby and the children is also concerned.

How to Register at Hotels. When registering at a hotel a married woman writes her name in full, as "Mrs. George Miller Brown," with her town and state following. An unmarried woman writes hers "Miss Jane Blank," with her city and state. Street addresses are not given. The full name is given in very important cases of accident, as the name of initials renders identification more difficult.

When registering at a hotel a married woman writes her name in full, as "Mrs. George Miller Brown," with her town and state following. An unmarried woman writes hers "Miss Jane Blank," with her city and state.

THE JUNGLE HAT.

It's Like the Shape Taddy Wore in Egypt.

Could anything be better adapted to keep off the rays of the sun and at the same time prove a becoming frame for a pretty girl's face than the hat that has been in the vogue?

A Return to Nature. "I'm sick of this busy life of beauty," a man was heard to remark a few days ago. "This walking skeleton, the hat, the bowler, the manager, the crowd that does not suit me. I like it when I see a plump, comfortable round face, laughing eyes, and a good deal of hair, and a good deal of hair, and a good deal of hair."

Useful Tricks. A small brush such as is used in a millage mill is just the thing to remove paint from children's faces. Keep the tip of paper under the eye.

When Getting Burns. When the girl who is writing, Mrs. Wilson Woodrow says, she wants to bite something hard. She has kept her teeth for a long time. One day she found that she had eaten a whole pound of it during her work upon a single chapter of "The Beauty."

Cooling Drinks. Tea to be best should be made with or without sugar, but not with any other sweetener. When it has stood over a while it is to taste and stand it in a refrigerator for seven hours. Serve in glasses with a spoonful of vanilla cream on the top.

When registering at a hotel a married woman writes her name in full, as "Mrs. George Miller Brown," with her town and state following. An unmarried woman writes hers "Miss Jane Blank," with her city and state.

WOULD YOU BE STYLISH?

Then Carry a Hat to Paris.

Hats make our porch cushions this summer and the newest of our parlors, and a pretty, dainty, light kind of sunshade is to be sure, one that will stand any amount of weathering.

Efforts are being made in the organization of the movement for the restoration of the old house, composed in Concord, Mass., where Bronson Alcott lived and died and where Louisa Alcott lived and died.

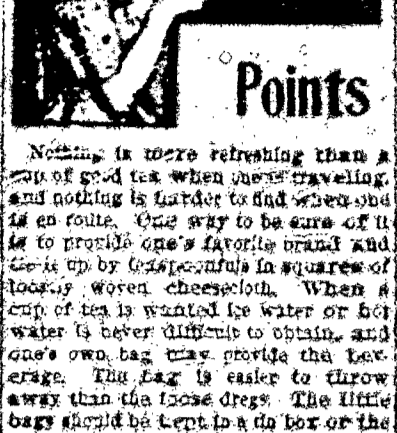

Useful Tricks. A small brush such as is used in a millage mill is just the thing to remove paint from children's faces. Keep the tip of paper under the eye.

When Getting Burns. When the girl who is writing, Mrs. Wilson Woodrow says, she wants to bite something hard. She has kept her teeth for a long time. One day she found that she had eaten a whole pound of it during her work upon a single chapter of "The Beauty."

Cooling Drinks. Tea to be best should be made with or without sugar, but not with any other sweetener. When it has stood over a while it is to taste and stand it in a refrigerator for seven hours.

When registering at a hotel a married woman writes her name in full, as "Mrs. George Miller Brown," with her town and state following. An unmarried woman writes hers "Miss Jane Blank," with her city and state.

Cookery

Nothing is more refreshing than a cup of good tea when you're traveling, and nothing is harder to find when you're on a route. One way to be sure of it is to provide one's favorite brand and to keep it up by carrying it in squares of loosely woven cheesecloth. When a cup of tea is wanted for water or hot water is never difficult to obtain, and one's own bag may provide the best.

Strawberry Jam. Pure two cucumbers and cut in slices. Add a slice of onion, a stalk of celery, half a tablespoonful of mustard, and a piece of green pepper, and half a teaspoonful of sweet herbs, with water to cover. Let all-ways until the cucumber is tender, then press through a very fine sieve, then add sugar, pepper and a tablespoonful of lemon juice. Then add for each pint of liquid one-third of a package of gelatin softened in one-half of a cupful of cold water and dissolve over hot water. This delicately with green vegetable color, and use here to mold to harden. Serve with any salad dressing in the same way that tomato jelly is used.

Cherry Sauce. Cook one-half of a box of gelatin in one-half of a cupful of cold water. Stir one quart of cranberry berries, adding one cupful of hot water for each quart of berries. Add to the water the capital of sugar, bring to the boiling point and boil for three minutes. Pour over the berries, cover and let stand for ten minutes, then press all through a colander. Dissolve the gelatin in hot water, add to the cherry mixture and set away until it begins to thicken. Add the well-beaten whites of three eggs and beat on the until all is thick and light. Turn into a wetted mold and set in a cold place until firm.

One Cause of Bad Coffee. The cause for undesirable coffee may often be traced to the cotton bag used in making it. Coffee like butter and milk, has the quality of absorbing flavors from other foods, and if the bag has not been properly cleaned it may be sure to take the coffee from the flavor of the coffee. The bag cannot be scalded in soap and water again, but it is not too often to make a fresh bag from new cheesecloth. After use it should be washed in clear water and the handle and string.

Vanilla Ice Cream With Maple Syrup. Put two or three tablespoonfuls of maple syrup in the bottom of a shallow cup, add a well rounded tablespoonful of vanilla ice cream and sprinkle a tablespoonful of chopped walnuts on the top of the cream. Caramel or chocolate syrup may be used in the same way, or preserved strawberries or bar-lecure currants may replace the syrup.

Why the Sun Sets. Little Jack asked his mother one night why the sun set so often. She told him so that it might rise in the morning. This seemed a useless answer, and Jack wanted for another. At last he said: "Oh, I know, mother. The sun sets so that she can bathe all the days."

Why are horses burdened like mules? Both construct stories. When is a wheel like a fly? When it is a flywheel. What are more common on land than on water? Outboards.

For the Children

A Many English Boy and His Motorcar.

The little boy pushing the motorcar in England. He is the Hon. Max Crumpton, son of the Governor of Warwick. Besides getting his lessons, having a good time at school and reading his books, he has been a page at 100 society wedding.

The Secretary. This is a variation of the old game of "consequences," but it is more general and therefore more interesting. The players may be seated around a table, provided with pencils and paper and directed by the leader or secretary, as he is called, each one to write his or her own name at the top of the sheet and fold it over so as to conceal it.

Home Characterization. This game will please those who like to try their hand at the study of a problem, especially the character of a person. It consists in writing a description of a person in a few lines, and then having the others to guess the name of the person or the place.

International Salutations. The British and other French have always had the greatest contempt for each other, and this contempt has even gone into proverb. An Englishman speaks of "taking French leave" and a Frenchman "going away in the English fashion."

Why are horses burdened like mules? Both construct stories. When is a wheel like a fly? When it is a flywheel. What are more common on land than on water? Outboards.

Why are horses burdened like mules? Both construct stories. When is a wheel like a fly? When it is a flywheel. What are more common on land than on water? Outboards.

Why are horses burdened like mules? Both construct stories. When is a wheel like a fly? When it is a flywheel. What are more common on land than on water? Outboards.