Submitted to the Times. "I suppose all of us have our little vanities," says James Hamilton Lewis of Chicago.

"Plain Mr. Lewis, at your service," replied. "Well, Mr. Lewis," he replied, "I was so struck with a speech you made in the house last week that I went to the document room to get a copy for myself and for another friend.

"Now, I had not made any speech, and they do not charge five cents for any cents at all in the document room; but I gave him the dime he wanted, and reproached myself afterward for my stinginess.

The Romans reclined at their banquets on couches, all supporting themselves on one elbow and eating with their fingers from dishes placed in the center of the table.

How Romans Took Their Food. The Romans reclined at their banquets on couches, all supporting themselves on one elbow and eating with their fingers from dishes placed in the center of the table.

He Wanted to Know. There was a small crowd at the soda counter when a tall man rushed in and pushed an empty bottle over the drug counter.

"Acid!" he whispered, excitedly. "Ten cents' worth of acid, and quick!"

"What's he going to do with that acid?" demanded one.

"It's a secret," answered the drug clerk.

"Nothing unusual I hope."

"Well, rather."

"What! You mean to say he is going to take that acid?"

"Oh, no! Listen. There is a silver wedding at his house tonight, and he is going to test the presents as fast as his friends bring them in."

And then and there they voted him the meepest man in town.—Chicago News.

The Inspiring Waggoner. It was at a seaside resort, and along the board walk came marching a band of highland bagpipers in full costume.

A Duke's Maxim. It was a maxim of the first Duke of Portland, who was a great lover of race horses, that there were only two places where all men are equal—on the turf and under the turf.

Sir Walter's Knock. "Rat on the clock," remarked Sir Walter Raleigh as he spread down his velvet garment before Queen Elizabeth. He could not resist giving her this little wrap.

Just the Contrary. "I suppose you're one of those idiots that touch wet paint to see if it's dry."

A straight line is shortest in morals as well as in geometry.—Rabelais.

Essentials To Your Welfare

Next to the amount from which the policy is issued, the amount of the premium is the most important factor in determining the cost of life insurance.

To safeguard the funds of its policyholders and to provide a convenient method of preparing for future requirements, the chief aim of the Rochester Trust and Safe Deposit Company is to provide life insurance at the lowest possible cost.

We invite accounts, whether large or small, to be subject to check, and allow interest at 4 per cent where the balances do not exceed $10,000. We have a department for women with every convenience for their comfort. Our Safe Deposit Department is equipped with the most all requirements. We respectfully solicit your patronage.
