

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Danny Maher, Who Will Quit the Saddle.

Danny Maher, the phenomenal American jockey, will retire at the end of the present season, due to his steadily increasing weight. Maher, like Winnie O'Connor, is going in for cross country weight. Maher likewise will follow the bounds and do a little gentleman's riding, but the turf in the future will see little of him save as a spectator.

"I am getting to the end of my riding days quickly now," said Maher. "I have risen to my profession, and I think I may say without egotism that I have got about all out of it possible. For over ten years I have been riding steadily. I have amassed a fortune, and I now own a magnificent country home and am ready to leave future turf honors to the youngsters."

Beau repaire Breaking Records.

Along with annexing most of the big English titles at swimming, Beau repaire, the Australian, has started to make history in the record line. He is not attacking any obscure marks by mediocre performers, but is going for the records of the cracks. A few weeks ago he wiped off three previous marks at the Exeter baths, London, in one night. He first struck the 200 meters, which he swam in 2 minutes 30 seconds. The 300 yards was the next to receive the attention of the Australian, and he swam it in 3 minutes 30 seconds. The best English record for this distance was 3 minutes 51 2-5 seconds, by T. S. Battersby last year.

Searle Wonderful Single Sculler.

Coach Jim Wray of Harvard says "I think Howard Searle, who succeeded Beach as the sculling champion was the greatest single sculler that ever sat in a boat. He rowed ring-around Beach in Australia after Beach had beaten Edward Hannan and Jack Gaudaur. Then Searle went to England and rowed William O'Connor on the Thames. O'Connor was the best man England ever produced, and Searle's Australian backers had no trouble betting $50,000 on their man. The Australian won the race handed down. Searle died a few months after this race. Searle was succeeded as champion by James Stansbury, another Australian. Sure thing gamblers queered professional rowing in England just like they did in this country."

Shrubb Coaching Harvard.

If Harvard fails to win the Intercollegiate cross country championship this year it will not be due to improper coaching. The Atlantic association has engaged Alfred Shrubb, the noted distance runner, and if he can impart to the Crimson runners some of the things he knows about the game Harvard will clean up in November.

Ottawa Crew Going to Henley.

It is possible that the Ottawa eight oared crew will go to Henley next season in quest of the Grand Challenge cup. The Ottawa council has already voted $500 toward the project. It was understood that this would be done if the Ottawa eight won in the senior event at Washington. The Canadians were successful, and the trip is to be in the nature of a reward.

Big Sculling Match Planned.

A sculling match for the world's championship is pending between Champion Arnet and Eddie Durman. Arnet will pass through Canada on his way to England, where he has another race scheduled with Harry on the Thames. Negotiations are under way to get Arnet to stop off at Toronto and meet Durman.

HUMOROUS QUIPS

Please Don't Mention My Name.

"Don't put my name in the paper," said the statesman, good and great. "But if you must I surely trust you'll get the facts all straight."

"I really can't be quoted," said the busy business man. "But if you write you surely might boom business all you can."

"I never read the papers," said the bedridden family doctor. "But if you please you may say disease lies helpless where I knock her."

"Your papers are not pious," said the fat and forty pastor. "But if you quote you'll kindly note that I'm the preaching master."

"The press is not uplifting," said the slightly miffy teacher. "But don't you be strung for teaching the young is as great as being a preacher."

"Don't print my name," said the social dancer. "In the sense of slight or stricture, but if you do with the interview be sure to print my picture."

And so the modest public withdraws from printed mention, but if you fall to print the tale they'll call it circumvention.

—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Their Opinion Too.

"Mr. Sandus, we've brought these eggs back."

"What is the matter with them?"

"They're old. Two that we broke this morning were positively bad."

"I'm sorry to hear that."

"This isn't the first game, either. Last week and the week before we bought some eggs here and had to throw part of them away."

"Ladies, you are the only customers that have made any complaint about those eggs. It's very strange that I should sell good eggs to everybody else and save the bad ones for you."

"Yes; that's what we think, Mr. Sandus."—Chicago Tribune.

Reports.

Report and Eradine were mantering along the drive. Suddenly she stopped.

"What's that?" she exclaimed, listening intently.

"Probably some catfish mewing in the lake," answered her sturdy protector.

Erady's countenance brightened.

"I wonder if its mother is putting it to sleep in the bed of the river with a sheet of water over it," she murmured ingenuously.—Sphinx.

The New One.

The gentleman cautiously opens his front door at 2 a. m. but nevertheless the wife of his bosom hears him.

"What in the world kept you out so late?" she demands.

"Well, my dear," he explains laboriously. "Flitterton took me for a flight in his new biplane, and the steering gear got out of order, and we had to come down eight miles from town and wait for a trolley to bring us in."—Chicago Post.

Shot Out.

Rev. Mr. Waters—Look at Bill Burley, for instance. It was demon rum that made him the one eyed, low browed sot that he is today.

Cactus Charley—Not altogether, parson. It mebbe made him a low browed sot, but it was me that made him one eyed.—Catholic Standard and Times.

Two Classes.

Rube—Where's yer boy now?
Job—He's in New York.
Rube—Which side's he on by this time?
Job—What d'yer mean?
Rube—Is he sellin' gold bricks 'ready or buyin' 'em yet?—Cleveland Leader.

English as She is Spoke.

A girl who is considered as belonging to the high brow crowd was the object of a serenade the other night, and in telling a friend about it said, "I don't think there is nothing more nicer than to be woken up at night with vocal singing."—Alma Signal.

Two.

Symour—I didn't know that Bradfords had two automobiles.
Ashley—He hasn't.
Symour—But I heard him say he had two runabouts.
Ashley—One of them is his wife's.—Chicago News.

Tip For Managers.

"I certainly have an ingenious press agent."

"How now?"

"The week we sang The Barber of Seville he set up a chair and gave free shaves in the lobby."—Washington Herald.

Instinct.

Sick Magnate (feebly)—What is that on the table there?
Secretary—That? That is the doctor's medicine case.
Sick Magnate (relieved)—Thanks. I—er—thought it was a camera.—Puck.

Medical.

"Well, I think the doctor is about through with me. He told me my ailment is practically cured."

"What did you have?"

"Two hundred dollars originally."—Pittsburg Post.

A Real Humorist.

"I believe that man is a real humorist."

"What makes you think so?"

"He refrained from making a pun on my name, and it's so easy to do."—Detroit Free Press.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Machine For Scrubbing and Oiling Floors.

In order to provide a more convenient method of scrubbing floors than the back breaking operation that now prevails an inventor has improvised a scrubbing machine which consists of a pair of scrubbing brushes secured to a long handle and supporting a receptacle for water. A valve is provided at one side, which may be operated by the foot to regulate the feed of the water. If desired the brushes may be removed and replaced with rubbing or polishing devices, and the receptacle may be filled with oil if it be desired to oil the floor.—Scientific American.

The Home Doctor.

Do not keep the soiled clothes receptacle in the sleeping room.

To remove warts and moles, touch them with muric acid of ammonia.

Very hot water will stop dangerous bleeding if applied to a wound.

Scars can be lessened by slightly rubbing them with cocoa butter or almond oil.

A glass of hot water before breakfast is a laxative and tones up the system.

To prevent discoloration of a bruised spot, apply absorbent cotton soaked in olive oil.

Yellow dock, root or leaves, steeped in vinegar will, it is said, cure the worst cases of ringworm.

Corn Dusters.

Pour enough boiling water on two cups of white cornmeal to moisten the meal, but not to make it sloppy; about one cup is generally enough. Add a rounding teaspoonful of sugar and a saltspoonful of salt. Mix in three tablespoonfuls of milk and let it cool. Beat the yolks of two eggs until very light, add to the batter and last the whites beaten stiff and dry. Have the popover pans heated very hot and buttered; put a spoonful of the batter in each and set in the oven until they are browned.

Green Pepper Catchup.

Fill a porcelain lined kettle with hot green peppers, add to them four large onions, sliced, and a tablespoonful each of cracked maize, allspice and cloves. Mix well together, fill the kettle with good vinegar and boil until the peppers are so soft that they mash readily. When cool take up the catchup by the ladleful, pour through a sieve and rub the catchup through the back of a spoon until nothing remains in the sieve but skin and seeds. Bottle and cork tightly. It need not be sealed.

A Sewing Hint.

One of the most difficult things about sewing on hooks and eyes is to do it so the thread does not show on the right side of the garment. If the hem where the fastenings go is narrow, slip a piece of whalebone into it, sew on the hooks and eyes, and then take the whalebone out. If the hem is wider than the whalebone, cut a heavy piece of cardboard the proper width and slip that in. This is a very simple way and saves one a great deal of time in sewing.

Combination Salad.

Line a salad bowl with lettuce leaves. With a sharp pair of scissors shred two or three lettuce leaves and put them in the center of the bowl. On these place a layer of radishes, peeled and minced, on these a layer of minced onions, then a layer of peeled and sliced tomatoes, and on these a stratum of thinly sliced cucumbers that have lain in iced salt water for ten minutes. Cover with a shredded lettuce leaf and pour French dressing over all.

Tonic For the Eyebrows.

One ounce of vaseline, one-half dram tincture of cantharides, and eight drops each of oils of lavender and rosemary. After washing the face smooth the eyebrows carefully with an eyebrow brush upon which a drop of the tonic has been placed. Vaseline is an excellent application for scant lashes. Mix a little vaseline, dip the point of a tiny camel's hair brush into this and rub gently along the roots.

Housekeepers' Hands.

If the hands are thoroughly greased with vaseline before using dye it will prevent the stain penetrating deeply into the skin. After washing clothes the hands are generally disagreeably rough. If a little olive oil is rubbed well into the skin and left for ten minutes, then rubbed with a cut lemon and well washed with hot water and soap the hands will become smooth and white again.

Baked Apple Pudding.

Line a small bake sheet with good rich Macmillan dough. Fill evenly with sliced apples, put in one cupful of sugar, a large piece of butter in dots and any kind of spices. Bake one hour in a slow oven.
