The Widow.

"What does it mean to be tried by a jury of one's peers?" "It means my son, that a man to be tried by a jury composed of men who are his equals or on an equality with him, so that they will have no prejudice against him."

"Then, pa, I 'spose you'd have to be tried by a jury of baldheaded men."

"In a town," said a life insurance official, "where life insurance was a rare thing a schoolteacher said to a little boy pupil: 'Tommy, define the word widow.' 'A widow,' Tommy answered, 'is a poor woman with a large family of children who takes boarders.'"

Faithfully Frank. Wedgedly—They say that a man and his wife grow to look alike after they have been married a few years. Now, my wife and I have been married two years. Do you think we look alike? Singletons—Yes, indeed. You both seem to have the same sad expression.

Right or Wrong? Professed politicians who have reduced officialdom to an exact science and the independent voter a sad stumbling block, a fact which is amusingly disclosed by a story found in the life of the late George Monro Grant, the eminent Canadian educator and clergyman.

Toward the end of Sir John Macdonald's life he and Principal Grant, then the head of Queen's college, met at dinner at the house of the premier's brother-in-law, Professor Williamson. "How I wish," the premier said to the principal, "that you would be a steady friend of mine." "My dear Sir John," the principal replied, "I have always supported you when you were right." The premier's eye twinkled, and he laid his hand upon the shoulder of the principal. "My dear man," said he, "I have to use for that species of friendship."

Chinese and the Morse Code. Difficulties of the Chinese language were amply demonstrated when the problem arose of adapting it to telegraphy. How was it possible to apply the Morse alphabet to a language which has no alphabet at all, but consists of nearly 44,000 characters? Then it was impossible to treat Chinese phonetically, writing down the sound of the Chinese words in European letters and translating them into Morse dots and dashes, because no such system could deal with the Chinese niceties of intonation. The ingenious solution came from a Danish professor. He simply codified the 7,000 commonest Chinese characters, representing each by numerals. Thus the Chinese word for "cash" became 0080 in the code, and the operator had only to send the code signal for that.

Rachel's Onion. I was amused by the observations of a retired actress who sat beside me at the Conservatoire examinations and in an undertone thought aloud as the recitations went on. "Why so much weeping and wringing of the hands?" she said of a candidate attempting Andromaque. "How she spoils her nice young face in attempting to force tears from her eyes! At this distance nobody could scent an onion in her pocket handkerchief. Rachel resorted to that trick in 'Adrienne Lecouvreur,' and the tears flowed freely without facial contortions. I heard it said that as she left the stage she gave the onion she held to Prince Napoleon to eat in salad and that he did so."—Paris Letter to London Truth.
