An Interesting Experiment. The following is an interesting experiment, which consists in placing five fluids on the top of one another in the order of their density without allowing them to mix. It is best to show this experiment after dinner when cof fee is being served. You will then have all the liquids necessary at your rommand. A tall, thin glass is the dist requisite. At the bottom of this glass pour in a little cold sweet coffee. Then make a cone of paper, whose point is turned at a right angle, and cut off the point so as to make an spening no larger than a quarter of a foliar. A Gift For Mother.

Something that a little hand can make for mother for Christmas would be "lifters" or pads to use in working around the stove. These can be made of any heavy material, folded, or can be made of several layers of thinner stuff. You can sew the edges of these together with your smallest stitches. These lifters are easily made and are really useful. A half dozen of them put in a pretty box will please mother and save many ugly burns.
