To Give Play in Canandaigua.

The drama "Fabiola" was presented in Canandaigua Friday evening in St. Mary's Assembly hall, by the Cathedral Dramatic Club of this city. Rev. James Dougherty, of Canandaigua, witnessed the production at Cathedral hall and induced the club to give the Canandaigua performance.

The Temple.

The headline attraction at the Temple Theater next week will be Maclyn Arbuckle and his Co., in the greatest vaudeville comedy ever staged, entitled "The Welter." The Lorch Family the ultra Acrobatic act of the century; Stuart Barnes appearing in an entire new act; Jere Grady & Co. in the comedy drama entitled "The Butterfly;" Little Billy who shares with Master Gabriel the honor of being the greatest of Lilliputs on the stage; Willette Whitaker, the wholesome, deep-toned singer, assisted by F. Wilber Hill; Cooper & Robinson famous colored comedians, singers and dancers; DeLenzo & LaDue, wonderful flying trapeze artists, and Moore's daylight pictures.

What He Heard.

John is his name, and he lives in Newburg. Further personal details are not necessary. Now, John has a wife who is not as charitable as she might be, and she has a woman friend who has domestic troubles of her own, and therefore can and does sympathize with John's wife. Just what time it was when John came in the other morning depositing his keys, but certainly it was no sort of time for a married man to be getting home, and his wife told him so, though he knew it perfectly well without being told. Next morning after John had gone to his office his wife called up the other woman on the telephone and told about John. The other woman was all sympathy, and what the two had to say about the kind of husband John was more than plenty. In the thick of it a friend of John's got on the wire—not intentionally, of course, for he thought John was a model, but he got there, and it sounded good enough to him to stay and listen. But not for long. Presently he coughed, and there was a sudden silence. "Who's that?" inquired John's wife. "It's John," responded the friend and hung up the receiver.—New York Press.

The Waste of the Wind.

Every one who wants a cheap motive force has tried to harness the wind. Every child has made a paper propeller or a windmill. But can it be said that the possible use of the wind have been as ardently investigated as such recently discovered forces as steam and electricity and gasol? Is it not conceivable that the practical uses of the wind are underestimated just because they are so familiar? We cannot help thinking that the wind will be more variously employed some day in the same way that probably the problem of laying under contribution the great physical fact of the tides will be solved. One would think that the wind could be used for electric lighting, yet there is no practical apparatus for the purpose. True, the wind is variable and occasionally absent, but as electricity can be stored one might suppose that this was the very case in which variability did not particularly matter.—London Spectator.

The Clever Shoe Clerk.

At the cost of considerable time and labor one high grade shoe house is bound to protect its goods. On a rainy day a woman wearing wet shoes went in to buy rubbers. The clerk measured the width and length of her shoes, removed them and brought a new pair of the same size to try on. "Visions of a depleted pocketbook caused her to exclaim, 'But I don't want new shoes; only rubbers!'" "I understand," said the clerk. "I am only slipping these shoes on to fit the rubbers over. It sells the inside of a rubber to slip it on over a wet shoe. Then if it doesn't fit and the customer doesn't take it it is spoiled for the next customer." "And the outcome of that experience was," said the woman, "that I bought the shoes as well as the rubbers and had them sent home O. O. D. Maybe that was what he was working for all the time."—New York Sun.

Oddest of Queer Fishes.

A queer fish that does not swim in the "sargasso sea," known to sailors as the "frogfish" it lives in that vast mass of floating gulfweed called the Sargasso sea, in mid-Atlantic. Its pectoral fins are so modified and developed as to resemble arms, and it uses them for clinging to the weed. Very gaudily colored, it changes its hues to match the aquatic vegetation by which it is surrounded and when the latter decays and turns brown it assumes a corresponding shade. The fish lays its eggs in a jelly-like mass, which, absorbing a great quantity of water, becomes three times as big as the mother fish herself, assuming the form of a narrow raft three or four feet long and two to four inches wide.—New York World.

Parnell.

I never saw a braver man than Parnell. The story of his downfall is one of the most pathetic in history. There is a rumor that Captain O'Shea said to Gambetta: "What are we going to do with Parnell? He is getting to be a great danger to the country." And Gambetta replied, "Set a woman on his track." And the woman, instead of betraying him, fell in love with this patriot, and that was his undoing.—"Recollections of Mrs. T. P. O'Connor."

To Discourage Him.

"George," said her husband's wife, "I don't believe you have smoked one of those cigars I gave you on your birthday." "That's right, my dear," replied his wife's husband. "I'm going to keep them until our Willie wants to learn to smoke."—Chicago News.

Confused.

"She hasn't any confidence in her husband, has she?" "No. She caught him telling the truth the other day, and now she can't dope him out at all."—Toledo Blade.

Men's Coat Shirts at 76c. 1,200 more fancy shirts for men shipped in last week.

They are from one of the same makers who supplied those shirts to us a couple of weeks ago, which were picked up so readily at $1.12.

The shirts in this lot have all the cut-marks of the perfectly fashioned shirts which you bought at $1.12. Patterns are just as good too, but quality of material not quite so fine. You would hardly see the difference in your eye, however.

They are coat shirts with cuffs attached. Some are plaited fronts, some plain.

They are to be sold for 76c each; six for $4.56. Made from madrases mostly. Would be good values at $1 and $1.25.
