

Milady's Mirror

Here Are the Latest Beauty Stunts. Look in the mirror every morning and think, "How well I am looking! This is the beauty thought!"

SNAPSHOTS AT CELEBRITIES

J. C. Clements, New Head of Commerce Commission.

Judson C. Clements of Georgia who succeeded Martin A. Knapp as chair man of the Interstate commission, is the senior member of the board having been appointed by President Cleveland in March 1892.

Commissioner Clements is a native of Georgia and is sixty-five years old. For a number of years he was a member of the legislature of his state, being largely instrumental in the formation of the Georgia railroad commission.

James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Products company, was made president of that company in the general selling agency of the steel corporation, and he was its head until his recent advancement.

HUMOROUS QUIPS

Words From the Mule.

If he proposed to use camels instead of mules in the army for transporting supplies - [Dispatch From Washington.] They've been trying to shove the army mule.

Bad Judgment. "Poor girl I'm sorry for her. What's the matter now?" "She sprained her ankle." "How?"

Other Ways. "Money but everything's aghast the young man." "Of course not," said the girl. "I know of a couple that started house keeping ninety on tobacco coupons alone."

Luxuries Barred. "I think you change too much to be a good politician. Remember that consistency is a jewel!" "I'm posing just now as one of the plain people and can't afford jewels!" Philadelphia Ledger

The Preventive. He (of course after we married) I won't have you trotting around as you do now.

Appropriate Selection. "That vacuum company is certainly going to build on an appropriate site."

The Reason. "No man cares what people say of him after he is dead." "I suppose that is the reason we are so likely to say good things about people after they are gone?" Chicago Record Herald

Widely Pushed. "A peasant customer is the best advertisement. Everybody pushes out goods."

False. Inexpensive Specialist (driftably). But madam, you must show your feet. What were your teeth given you for? Patient a smile. They weren't given to me. I bought em. Spare Moments

Killing Time. "Business is kinder and remarked the man who doesn't interview." "Yet you just hired a third clerk." "Yes. Now we can make up four hands at white." Pittsburgh Post

The Truth. The judge made just Maud Muller. "Wouldn't you because I have had fever?" he explained. However, he gave Whittier a more poetic version. New York Sun

Medical Note. First Doctor I've discovered a sure cure for a rare disease. Second Doctor (Great). Now, how can we make the rare disease prevalent? Cleveland Leader

So Inconsiderate in Her. "A fellow don't seem to never be so sure that his personal rights is being imposed on as when his wife gets sick," said Deacon Blimber Brown in the Magazine

Two Ways. Defeated Pug-I weighed in all right before the fight. Backer: Maybe you did. But you certainly didn't wade in during the fight. Pug

How to Keep Your Furnace Going. "Much of a job to get your husband to care for the furnace?" "None whatever. We always keep a barrel of prime cider in the cellar." Judge

A Coming Statesman. Teacher: Bobby, you were not at school yesterday. Bobby: Nope. I was paired with Skippy Jones. Chicago Tribune

Can You Blame Him? "Pa, what does 'skeptical' mean?" "That describes a man's feeling when a woman tells her age." New York Press

It Will Happen. A little girl was asked how old she was. "I was four," she replied, "but one day I got five." Harper's Magazine

A TIMELY SUGGESTION.

Cherry Party For the 22d of February

WASHINGTON BIRTHDAY FAVORS.

A hostess who has planned to entertain some friends at a cherry party on Washington's birthday has found that the artificial cherries sold by confectioners, etc., are much too expensive for her purse and she will substitute big red cranberries with excellent effect.

The invitations are written on postals decorated with cherries, which are sold everywhere in February, and begin as follows: Next Friday night at half past eight we beg you will help us celebrate Great George and the immortal tree. His gift to all posterity.

After this come the address, date and hour. The first thing to catch the eye of the guest entering the parlor on the appointed evening will be a cherry tree in a wooden tub. This is constructed of a dead sapling trussed out with tissue paper leaves and at once becomes the focus of a jolly game where each player receives a long can berry with a thread drawn through it (by means of a needle) and is required to tie it on the tree which is decorated with those who accomplish the feat will receive points toward the prize.

Another jolly contest which is being the number of cherries in a glass ket lined with them. The player who comes nearest to the exact number receives a second point.

When the guessing is over each player thrusts his hand into the bag, palm side down the idea being to see who can catch up most cranberries on the back of the hand and, so balancing them, walk around the room without spilling one. The player most successful is entitled to a point.

Tossing the cranberries into a bowl at the opposite end of the room is another feat on the program and of fers another point for the successful competitor.

The first and second prizes will be candy boxes decorated with artificial cherries. Huge cherries made of scarlet crepe paper are the consolation prizes. Some new Washington birthday favors are pictured.

When Tea is Served. Women nowadays are often too busy with the many activities of the day to dress expressly for afternoon tea in an elaborate and artistic tea gown. The illustration shows an attractive black chiffon cloth dress mounted over white chamoise that makes a good substitute. White porcelain beads in a dainty pattern ornaments the bodice. By the way, these beaded effects are the smartest and newest thing in gown decoration.

AFTERNOON TEA GOWN

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Sheridan Training For All Around Championship.

Martin J. Sheridan announces that he will be a candidate for the all-around championship next summer. He says he will train as never before, as he believes it will be the last time he will enter the contest, and he wants to establish a record that will stand for some time.

With enough good men competing, Sheridan believes that he will be able to score 8,000 points. With only one man against him in 1909 and having practically no competition from this one man in many of the events, he scored the record total, 7,385 points. He figures that a man must be able to score 8,000 or more points to beat him.

Sheridan is already shaping himself for the event. He has outlined a system of training and will continue at it throughout the winter and in the early spring will take part in many competitions outdoors.

Donaldson's Record Breaking Stunt. Jack Donaldson, the South African professional sprinter, in Kimberley, Cape Colony, recently ran 100 yards in 14 seconds. This is a new world's record, bettering both the amateur and professional records.

The amateur record for 150 yards was made by H. E. Walker of South Africa in April, 1899. He covered the distance in 14 1/2 seconds. Walker since then has turned professional. Harry Hutcheson ran 150 yards in 14 1/2 seconds in 1897. This has stood as the first record since that time.

First Sacker Tom Jones a Stayer. Tom Jones, the best stayer in the world, has just broken the 100-mile record. He has broken it by 10 minutes. Every year he was with the St. Louis Hawks he was to be succeeded by some youngster, but the Welshman has sent twenty-two aspirants for his place back to the minors and his friends say that he will do so again this year.

Missouri Schools May Limit Sports. Missouri valley high schools and small colleges are discussing the idea of limiting the number of sports in which a student can take part in one year. The argument of those who wish for reforms is that with the many and varied college sports of the present time the student who is given to athletics gives up his whole time to them for the honor of his school and to the detriment of his personal interest in his studies.

Minnesota Will Have Crew. It is expected that the University of Minnesota will have a crew next fall. The proposed dam in the Mississippi river at Fort Snelling has received favorable congressional action, and the best of rowing men has been inquiring about the chance of a position. Letters have been received from Tom Fyck of Syracuse, Stevenson, an assistant coach at Harvard, and George Van Vleet of New York city.

Morris, New Heavyweight, in Soft. For a new beginner Carl Morris, the heavyweight of Oklahoma, is certainly getting in soft. Morris was formerly a Roman on a railroad in the west, and after he knocked out Marvin Hart in three rounds the citizens of Sapulpa, Okla., his home town, came to the conclusion that they owed him a debt of gratitude and have presented him a house and lot.

Canadian Lacrosse Players as Coaches. Many well known Canadian lacrosse experts will coach eastern college squads this year. Charles Quenneville of the Tecumseh club will instruct Columbia; Lawson Whitehead will go to Swarthmore college, near Philadelphia; Ernie Menary to Harvard; Jack Grimes to Mount Washington, Md., and James Byrne to Johns Hopkins of Baltimore.

Dede Paskert Keeping in Trim. Dede Paskert lives in Cleveland and has the reputation of being the longest thrower in the National league. His winter pastime is shoveling snow and chopping coal for his big stove and chopping a little wood. He intends to keep his arm in trim by that kind of work all winter.

FOR THE CHILDREN

The Cautious Cat.

A Cautious Cat And a Reckless Rat Went to sea with an innocent Lamb. They sailed in a yawl With nothing at all To eat but a Sugar Cured Ham. The wind blew high In a sky blue sky At a rate they had never foreseen. The wind blew low. And the wind also Blew a little bit in between— Just a little bit in between.

The Jackdaw's Advice. Once upon a time a jackdaw found some beautiful peacock feathers lying on the ground, so he thought he would deck himself with them. "Now," said he, "my friends will admire me, and I'll be their leader in dress."

Then she strutted about. But it was no use. She was only a jackdaw, and all the other birds knew it and made fun of her. They jeered and mocked at her, and the wisest birds in the tree cried: "She is pretending to be something she is not. She is not trying to her colors. She is unfit for our company."

"Let's pluck off her borrowed beauty," said another. "When stripped she will appear in her true light." Thus was the jackdaw exposed, and she never got over the disgrace. When she was dying she called her children to her and gave them this advice: "Never pretend to be what you are not."

"Do not be like some boys and girls. I know, who think that fine dresses will make people admire them. A jackdaw should not try to look like a peacock, for she'll be nothing more than a jackdaw, and a very foolish one at that."

Same Old Buildings. Down in old Santa Fe, the capital of New Mexico, the oldest seat of state and religious government on American soil, there exist many remains of buildings erected by the old Spanish conquerors of the country. One of these, the Adobe palace has been used as the "executive" mansion since the first governor and captain general, Juan de Utrera, occupied it in 1598, while the cathedral, built in 1761, is now rapidly crumbling away and will soon be replaced by a modern stone building.

Another interesting historical relic is the church of San Miguel, erected in the sixteenth century, but destroyed during the French revolution of 1800 and rebuilt in 1710. Close to this structure stands the house generally recognized as the "oldest in the United States." It was built before the Spanish conquest, and it is traditionally reported that Coronado lodged in it in 1540.

Conundrums. When is a lawyer like a horse? When drawing a conveyance. What is that which you can keep after giving to some one else? Your word. To what church did Eve belong? Adam thought her Evangelical. Why is a woman lucky at cards as an agreeable person? Because she has winning ways. What tree bears the most fruit to market? The apple tree. Why is a pretty girl like a fine motor? She is a good looking horse.

What affections do landlards most appreciate? Parental (pay rent). Why are roses and chrysanthemums some children's? Because roses are always passing between them. Why is a person with his eyes closed like a poor teacher? He keeps his pupils in darkness. Why is beef suitable for holiday dinners? Meet for rejoicing.

A Ring Trick. You must have your rings exactly alike, one of which has a notch which admits your check. When you have exhibited the perfect ring you change it for the other and privately slip the notch over one side of your mouth, meantime slipping the whole ring on your stick and hiding it with your hand. Then desire some one to hold the stick, while you slip the ring off your cheek and smite with it instantly upon the stick, concealing it and whirling the other ring which you hold your hand over round about the stick.

The Laughing Game. The players divide into sides and choose a leader, who stands in the middle of the room and tosses a rag doll in the air. If the doll falls on its face the people on one side laugh as loudly as they can. Any one on the other side who laughs, however, has to join the laughing side. When the doll falls face upward it is the turn of the people of the other side to laugh and win players over. The game does not fail to end hilariously.