

DRAPED TUNICS.

Now More Modish Than Classic Effects.

GOWN OF MOIRE SILK AND VELVET.

Over a petticoat of red velvet this moire silk tunic, also in the rich red shade...

Padding Embroidery.

Where heavy padding is desired under embroidery try using little wads of raw cotton instead of filling in the added spaces with many stitches of sewing thread.

To pad a scallop, catch up a bit of raw cotton in your fingers and roll it between the thumb and forefinger until it is the length of the scallop, thick in the center, but tapering to a mere thread at each end.

Flowers have their petals padded by making little cushion-like wads of cotton and catching them down to the material, well inside the working line.

Milady's Mirror

To Keep Straight Hair in Curl. On damp days the girl whose hair is curly by reason of the hot iron rather than the permanent brand of oblonging nature is in grave danger of losing all the effect of bygone stiffness.

Hot iron sooner or later are fatal to the hair. No matter how careful one may be in applying them, the day will come when the temperature will be forgotten because of haste or forgetfulness, and a dead, listless strand of hair will mar the beauty of the entire mass.

A few harmless preparations for keeping the hair in curl are given. For dark hair dissolve twelve grains of carbonate of potash in half a pint of rather strong black tea. Moisten the hair with this mixture before putting it up in curlers.

Mints for Insomnia.

First of all it is necessary to lie correctly in bed. Do not curl up, but place the limbs straight, so as to induce the best circulation.

A Stretching Exercise. It imparts elasticity. And it is good for one. It will lift the vital organs.

The clothing must be loose and comfortable. To begin any exercise one must stand erect.

Lower the arms with the same sweep, stretching them all the time. Five times will be enough at first, breathing deeply and slowly all the time.

New Powder Puff. Novelty counters have lately exhibited one charming bit of silverware, while it fascinates the beholder, inspires at the same time the question, "What can it be good for?"

MILLINERY MODES.

Tall Hats Are the Winners This Season.

TWO SMART FALL HATS.

Tall hats of medium size are the leaders in the new millinery this fall. Many of these crowns are so high that the models have earned for themselves the names of "aspiration hat" and "sky-scraping creation."

In a Woman's World. Now that the nights are beginning to lengthen the soft veiled light of the lamp has a peculiar charm in a country cottage or for a girl's room at any time a shade of flowered cretonne is pretty and appropriate and should be closely plaited in the empire style.

The sweetest of shades may be made of white muslin with applique muslin flowers, and in the bedroom, whether the light is shaded from a lamp or from an electric globe, distinctness is completely expressed by a washing cover of broderie anglaise or of muslin trimmed with lace motifs.

Lace trills are again to be seen, and shades of liberty satin are surrounded with deep lace, the pattern being picked out in ribbon work.

One of the Huge Side Jabots. One cannot wear too large a jabot now, provided the largeness is all on one side. The new jabots reach over to the top of the sleeve at the left

The Ruling Passion. An Englishwoman who was famed in her village for her economical bent took by mistake a quantity of mercurial poison, the antidote for which comprises the whites of eggs.

For the Children

The Sad Fate of a Fighting Crow.

The hero of this sad tale is or was Jim Crow. He was captured in the woods from the nest in which he was born. At first he would not eat, but when bread soaked in water was forced into his mouth he got a fine appetite.

HUMOROUS QUIPS

The Unfortunate Part.

We have hurried the germs in spite of their squirms and have slain the same in their lair. We are after the fly with the baleful eye...

We have swept the streets, screened fruit and meats; we have had milk pasteurized. No bacteria thrive upon human liver...

The insidious but in the barber's mug we have given a rude surprise. But what's the use? Some screw is loose...

In the days gone by no "swat the fly" was the usual summer sign. But it somehow fell men lived as well as their lives were as yours and mine...

So something's wrong with the germs. Heard a song. What it is we can't surmise. But the truth remains that in spite of our pains the public up and dies.

A Wrong Conclusion. Jimmy, like all healthy boys, was fond of playing outdoors and, like boys in general, he usually got himself scandalously dirty.

"You incorrigible boy," she exclaimed as soon as she saw the basin of water in which he had performed the required ablutions.

"That didn't all come from my hands," indignantly answered Jimmy. "I washed my face in that water too."

The Front Door Guardian. "I see you have a new footman," said the old friend.

"Yes," replied Mr. Cumrox, "he was hired in my absence. I guess he's just the kind of man mother and the girls want."

"Careful and observing?" "I should say so! When I came home yesterday he tried to make me go around to the rear entrance."

The Glad News. "You will be glad to hear, Henry, dear," said Mrs. Willoughby, "that my new dress does not button up the back."

"Hooray!" cried Willoughby, turning a somersault on the divan. "How does it button, my dear?"

Driving a Bargain. "Bertha, did you pay $15 for that piece of goods? What an enormous profit there must be at that price!"

"Not so awfully much, mamma. I occupied the time of the smallest salesman there is in the store for nearly fifteen minutes before I finally decided to make the purchase."

His Advantage. "Geraldine's young man is a shoemaker."

"Then he ought to make her a good match."

"Why so?" "Because a shoemaker is naturally a whole souled man and ought to be well heeled."

What to Do. In a bachelor apartment house in Washington a Japanese valet to an army officer takes his instructions from an Irishman.

"Pardon," he said one morning, "what to do now? My master told me to wake him at 8, but he did not get to bed till 9."

Because of His Calling. "Yonder goes a man who always runs things into the ground, as the saying is, and yet he has been a great success."

"Seems paradoxical." "Yes. But, you see, he's an undertaker."

The More Valuable. "Dearest, I give you the key to my heart. You will find it swept and garnished and made sweet for your sweet presence!"

"The key to your heart? Thanks. And now the combination to your safe, please."

To the Bitter End. Mrs. Brown-Jones—Mrs. Smith is opposing your nomination bitterly. Can't you conciliate her in any way?

Mrs. Smith—It is impossible. Twenty-four years ago I said that her baby was small for its age.

The Only Way. "Got the last word with my wife this morning." "How did you manage it?"

"Yelled it up the tube as I went out the vestibule of our apartment house."

The Congressional Way. "How did Congressman Wombat acquit himself in the congressional ball match?"

"He struck out twice and then got leave to print a base hit."

Let Him Alone. "Don't nag your husband if he drinks," counsels a woman reformer. "It's a good rule not to nag him even if he doesn't drink. Sobriety should not be penalized."
