Co-operation.

Co-operation, in social and business matters, is the order of the day. This is true in other walks of life. Our population is too large, our problems too varied to permit of one-person-control that is in any of the big problems. Banks are conducted by corporations, under control of boards of directors, rather than by one man as in the olden days. Mills and factories and industrial enterprises are managed by boards of directors, instead of one or two proprietors acting singly or in partnership.

This condition of affairs has come to stay. Railing against combinations of capital will not change the trend of events. But the individual need not feel discouraged. True, he cannot compete as an individual, with the big combinations, whose aggregated wealth, purchasing power and selling advantages, enable them to outbid the individual in purchasing goods, in procuring the services of the highest-priced experts and employees and to undersell the individual at every turn.

Is it not perfectly feasible for ten or one hundred or one thousand individuals to pool their capital, employ the services of high-class experts, purchase in large quantities at low prices and sell a fair rate of profit even in competition with the big combinations?

Is this not a better solution than the leveling process of Socialism, which crushes the individual just as surely as the grinding mills of big combination?

Child Labor

It seems peculiar, to say the least, that Southern senators and Congressmen, usually the most chivalrous and considerate of men should be opposing so bitterly the bill of Senator Borah, to establish a children's bureau in connection with the Federal Department of Commerce and Labor. Surely, they are not acting so to perpetuate child labor in the South whence come the most heart-rendering disclosures of the awful wrongs perpetrated against childhood in mills and factories.

The New York "Tribune" perpetually comments as follows upon the Southern opposition to the Borah resolution:

Even if the groundhog tradition holds good, 1912 has produced quite a winter so far as Rochester, N. Y., is concerned.

That Rochester's prosperous persons are generous, is proven by the list of contributions to the hospitals, orphan asylums and charitable institutions.

A few minutes taken from business or pleasure to visit a sick friend is time well-spent.

"Holy Name banquets" are now a time-honored Rochester institution.

Not to subscribe for a Catholic paper is a grievous fault in this day and age.

an enlightened and humane policy regarding child labor affords good ground for believing in its effectiveness. On account of the nation's vital interest in the welfare of its children various methods have been suggested of bringing the states that are backward in child labor legislation to their senses, one of which even went so far as to propose the exclusion from interstate commerce of the products of child labor. It assuredly would not be an extreme step for the nation to exercise an influence for the protection of children through such a bureau as Senator Borah's bill contemplates.

Senator Grady

While many persons who only knew Thomas Francis Grady from reading anti-Tammany newspapers undoubtedly, considered him an underbred, arrogant, bullying politician of low mentality, the fact is he was a refined, courteous, tender-hearted Christian gentleman whose friendship never tired of doing good for the friend he loved.

True, Senator Grady was vehement as a public speaker but he was eloquent as well. He never hesitated to puncture a sham no matter by whom championed but he was no less vigorous in defense of truth and justice. He was fearless and never "took water" from the biggest men in the world, this in a figurative as well as in a literal sense.

As a Catholic he was devout in his profession of the faith he felt a part of his being. No priest could defend Holy Mother church with greater fervor. His faith was as that of the little child. It accepted all, questioned nothing. Truly, Thomas F. Grady was the real, true Catholic gentleman. Faults he had to be sure, but they were overbalanced by his sterling virtues. May God, in His infinite mercy grant eternal rest to his soul.

Costly

Fire Chief Esser, of Lorraine, Ohio, has been dismissed from his position by the Civil Service Commission because he swore constantly at the firemen. Although he performed his duties in an inefficient manner and had been occupying his position for six years, his brutal profanity was considered sufficient cause for his removal.

This action on the part of the Lorraine Civil Service Commission marks a distinct forward movement of the forces that make for decency and cleanliness of speech.

Unique Incident

A unique incident occurred at Rosalia, Wash., on December 23rd when Protestant citizens called in the Rev. Father Fitzgerald, pastor of Holy Rosary Catholic Church, into the telephone office on a little matter of business.

The money was raised among non-Catholic citizens of Rosalia where Father Fitzgerald is very popular.

The object of paternalism is abolition holds good, 1912 has produced quite a winter so far as Rochester, N. Y., is concerned.

That Rochester's prosperous persons are generous, is proven by the list of contributions to the hospitals, orphan asylums and charitable institutions.

A few minutes taken from business or pleasure to visit a sick friend is time well-spent.

"Holy Name banquets" are now a time-honored Rochester institution.

FATHER KENNEDY'S NERVE TONIC

Mr. H. J. Whitmore writes from Paris, Ark., Sept. 1, 1910:—In 1909 my little son, 5 years old, was taken ill with epileptic spells. Three doctors treated him, but all their trials were without any benefit. Every 7 to 10 days the spells appeared. We had to watch him all the time. We tried a lot of patent medicines, which were advertised or recommended against the sickness, but not any of them helped. So we gave up all hope of betterment. Through a chance of reading about it, the first bottle relieved his trouble and made him well. He had no more attacks since.

Mrs. M. Wickert writes from Monaca, Wis.:—My nerves were affected, have taken Pastor Kennedy's Nerve Tonic and must say, the remedy has saved me from the insane asylum.

Dear Sir:—I feel compelled to issue this statement of what your medicine has done for me. It has completely cured me. My hair was falling so fast that I was afraid to comb it. My wife's was equally as bad, but after one application, the hair ceased to fall, and one five bottle completely cured both my wife and myself.

LuNette CORSET SHOP

330 Main St. East Rochester, N. Y.

A Woman's Specialty Store

February Special Sale of High-Class Corsets, Undermuslins and Waists.

The Special Sale of Corsets, Undermuslins and Waists which we started last week has brought us a large number of new customers. Somehow the impression got abroad that only high priced goods could be had in the LuNette Corset Shop. While it is true that this is an exclusive shop in many ways it is a mistake to suppose that it is high-priced. Contrary indeed is the fact. The LuNette is really a popular priced store and the exceptional values to be had during the February Sale are the most convincing proofs of this. The three features of this Special Sale to which we would invite the attention of the women of Rochester are: First, the great variety from which to choose, Second, the quality of the goods, and Third the very low prices.

High Class Corsets Reduced in Price

The LuNette is primarily a corset shop. Its principal business is to FIT corsets. A woman may go into any of the Dry Goods Stores in Rochester and buy a pair of corsets that she may wear without any noticeable degree of discomfort. If the same woman were to go to the LuNette Corset Shop she would be FITTED to her corsets and so have removed all chances of feeling uncomfortable in them. This difference between a general store and a shop like the LuNette is much more marked than may at first appear, for the simple reason that many women are satisfied with going to their regular store to buy their corsets or millinery, being influenced, in many cases, by the appearance of the corset itself or by what the demonstrator or saleswoman says about it. The essential feature of the corset, however, is not its appearance but its FIT, and it is impossible for a woman to feel perfectly at home in her corsets, or get that degree of style in her carriage, or to have her outer garments fit becomingly except she be at first properly corseted. And as it very seldom happens that the lines of any two figures are identical it is necessary for a woman who desires to be stylishly and comfortably corseted to have the services of an experienced corset fitter. The LuNette Corset Shop renders such service. Every pair of corsets sold by it is first carefully FITTED to the figure and such alterations made in the corset as to adapt it perfectly to the figures special needs. This is not a simple matter, but it is the work of an experienced and accomplished Corsetier.

To make the work of the LuNette Corset Shop better known among the women of Rochester and to obtain a wider distribution for its goods we are offering during the month of February some special inducements in the way of lower prices on certain lines and numbers of corsets, some of which we have too many, and others which will appear under new numbers or be discontinued altogether for the coming season. The savings on these numbers are so large as to make them very attractive purchases. Included in this Special Sale for February are several numbers of the famous LuNette Corset the savings on which range from $1.00 to $5.00 a piece, as well as certain styles in the Artist's Model, Bon Ton, Royal Worcester, and Redfern. Although there is not a complete range of sizes in every style, yet any figure can be properly fitted from among the Sale stocks. The regular stock prices were from $1.00 to $18.00.

Sale Prices range from 69c to $12.00.
Fine Undermuslins Specially Priced

Included in the stocks offered at special prices during the February Sale are complete lines of domestic, tailor-made, and French undermuslins in the newest and prettiest styles of Corset Covers, Drawers, Gowns, Skirts, Chemise, Princess Slips and Combination Suits. These are daintily trimmed with the finest quality of laces and embroideries, while some are made entirely by hand. The prices are, in most cases, one third less than regular values.

The following items will tell in a general way the extent of the muslin underwear stocks in this sale:

Corset Covers from 35c to $2.98, Drawers from 35c to $3.98, Chemise from 98c to $5.00, Gowns from 39c to $6.98, Princess Slips from 98c to $8.50, Combination Suits from 85c to $10.98, Skirts from 59c to $12.50. There are exceptionally strong numbers in each of these items ranging from $1.00 to $3.00, and a complete range of sizes.

Silk Waists in the February Sale
Here is a chance to save from $2.00 to $4.00 on a silk waist.

To make the February Sale interesting we have taken about forty styles of high-priced silk waists and marked them so as to make them very attractive values. Some of these are model waists of which there are no duplicates while others have a fairly good range of sizes and colors. Among them are high neck and long sleeves, low neck with short or three-quarter sleeves, several styles of plain tailor-made, but most of them are fancy waists suitable for party or evening wear. At special sale prices all are very unusual values. While the assortments are still fairly complete, yet we would advise as early a selection as possible so as to have the largest number of styles from which to choose. Regular prices from $4.00 to $15.00. Sale Prices $2.98 to $10.00.

Together with the stock of silk waists there are also several numbers in lingerie and tailored linen waists which will be offered at substantial reductions to close them out. These are numbers which we shall not carry in stock hereafter or of which we have only a small quantity.

Closing Out Dresses and Kimonas at Reduced Prices
In the February Sale are about a dozen styles of pretty little dresses in serges and silks which we are offering at unusually low prices. There is a saving on each one of them of from $3.00 to $9.00. If among them you can find the size and style you like, the price will not stand in the way. Sale Prices $7.50 to $16.50. There is also a fair assortment of long kimonas in silk, flannellette and crepe which have new prices on them during the sale much lower than their regular values. Original prices $1.50 to $12.50. Sale Prices $1.00 to $9.00.

There are also very attractive values in fancy goods such as aprons, neckwear and bags. If you have not had an opportunity to become acquainted with the store so far we shall be pleased to have you come in any time during the sale and see how well prepared we are to serve you.
