

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Rose Sure to Be Member of American Olympic Team.

Speaking of Ralph Rose, who broke his own world's record in the shot put with a mark of 90 feet 2 inches recently in San Francisco...

Two Johnsons would be easy for Jeffries was doped in the fight in 1910...

Pat Dougherty quits baseball. For seven years, left fielder for the Chicago American league baseball club...

Pat Dougherty quits baseball. For seven years, left fielder for the Chicago American league baseball club...

Olympic team to sail June 15. The date for the sailing of the American Olympic team is tentatively announced as June 15...

Billy Evans, American league umpire, who has had his share of pop batters on a big league...

Pitcher O'Toole ready for duty. Marty O'Toole has just completed a course of treatment with a Brockton (Mass.) specialist...

Dates for French golf tourney. The French open golf championship was last year by Armand Massy...

American trotters do well abroad. Of the thirty-one three-year-old trotters that raced better than 2:30 in America last season...

A SOLDIER'S GRATITUDE

Escaping Prisoner of War Gets Help in Time of Need.

Theodore Pearson, escaped prisoner of war, had been hiding all day in the woods beside the James river...

Lieutenant Pearson was a good swimmer, and he ran swiftly down to a point below the girl where he would have but a short distance to swim to reach her...

When the excitement had subsided the Confederate looked about him for the stranger. He had disappeared. Every negro on the place was started to search for him...

At midnight Pearson heard a voice say to his guard. Take your blanket to that gallery and go to sleep. I'll stand watch for you awhile...

"There is my boat," he said. "In it you will find provisions for a week. Here is my uniform coat. With these you ought to be able to make your way to the Federal fleet below..."

Pearson took the note and put it into his pocket, the captain tossing his coat into the boat as the other pushed off. All night the fugitive pulled down the river and in the morning tied up for rest and a good breakfast...

Years afterward Lieutenant (then Colonel) Pearson met in Washington the man who assisted him to escape. Pearson was one of the principal Federal judges, while Pemberton represented his state in congress.

SNAPSHOTS AT CELEBRITIES

Henry A. du Pont, Senator From Delaware.

Senator Henry A. du Pont of Delaware, who may be called upon to prove that his title to his seat is not clouded, is serving his second term in the United States senate...

A veteran of the civil war, Senator du Pont has a notable military record. He was educated at West Point and graduated at the head of his class in 1861...

Mr. Ferguson of New Mexico. When New Mexico sent its first delegation as a state to the national house of representatives it impartially divided for two congressmen between the old parties...

Photo by American Press Association. HARVEY S. FERGUSON.

After passing through the public schools he went to Washington and Lee university, Virginia, from which he was graduated in 1873, subsequently taking a postgraduate course in Greek and the modern languages...

A Californian's Distinction. Everett Allison Hayes, a member of the national house of representatives from California, has been known among his colleagues as the "boarding house keeper's friend" because he made a big pile of money growing grapes.

FOR THE CHILDREN

The Date of Easter.

Our Easter corresponds with the Jewish passover, so that its history properly goes back of the origin of Christianity. You will remember that the Hebrew feast was instituted on the dreadful night of the Exodus...

The early Christians could not agree as to whether they should follow the ancient custom or whether to observe the first day of the week, which they called "the Lord's day," because on that day "Christ arose."

The dispute was settled in the year 325 of our era, when the great council met at Nicea, in Asia Minor, and after a warm and protracted discussion, finally decided that the festival should be celebrated thereafter on the Sunday after the first full moon following March 21...

The Lilly's Easter. "I'm so brown and ugly," sighed a lily bulb, "and I'm just good for nothing. I wonder why I was put on earth?"

"Be patient," answered his mother. "Your time will come. Go to sleep now, for the cold weather is on the way. Next spring you'll be happier."

"The queer brown dress that her mother had put on for a night gown, and as it fell off the lovely lily was a vision of beauty in a white dress."

"Bliss, splash, splash," said the rain fairies as they danced around Miss Lilly and washed her face. "Who are you?" asked the lily. "We are your hand maidens," they answered. "We will stay with you and help you grow."

The Word Easter. Easter to the French is known as Paques, to the Scotch Pasch, the Danes, Paske, and the Dutch, Paschen. St. Paul calls Christ "our Pasch." The English name is derived from that of the old German or Saxon goddess of spring, Ostera or Eastre, whose festival occurred about the same time of the year as the celebration of Easter...

A Game For Easter. Hunting game makes a good game to be played around Easter time. All the players except one, who is blindfolded, sit in a circle. The blindfolded one walks around outside the circle singing...

Old Easter Customs. The English people formerly had two very large cakes divided among the congregation at the church on Easter. In 1645 parliament forbade this by law, providing that the money spent for cakes should in future be used to buy bread for the poor.

Conundrums. Why should a man troubled with gout make his will? Because he will then have his legatee (leg at base). Why is the volunteer movement like a basket of apples? Because every corps (core) has its colonel (kernel).

To Remove Peach Stains. Saturate in cold water, then cover the stain with cream of tartar and place in the sun. It may then be washed in the regular way, and the stain will disappear.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Metal Protector to Guard Lamps From Breaking.

The attachable lamp protector here illustrated is the invention of a Georgia man. It is intended for use on solid burning lamps, and more particularly it refers to a simple and effective means which may be quickly attached to a lamp whereby the oil containing receptacle, which is generally made of glass, may be protected against breakage and the danger resulting in an explosion of the lamp.

Swiss Dumplings. One pound German sausage; remove from skins and to it add one egg, salt and pepper, a tablespoonful of flour and one-fourth loaf of bread, which has been soaked in milk and thoroughly squeezed. Mix well together and form into balls the size of large marbles. Drop in boiling water, salted, and cook until they float. Remove to a dish and make a butter sauce by melting a piece of butter the size of an egg and adding one tablespoonful of flour. When thoroughly blended add slowly, stirring all the time, clear beef stock or the liquid the dumplings were boiled in, enough to just cover them. When the consistency of cream put in the dumplings and heat thoroughly. Cauldower is very nice with this.

Braised Bananas With Bacon. Two bananas, two slices best bacon, one-half bunch cress; select firm bananas, peel and split through the center lengthwise. Arrange upon a broiler with cut surface uppermost. Cut the bananas into narrow strips, and arrange on the bananas. Close the broiler and broil over coal gas under gas flame until the bacon is crisp and the bananas well cooked (about ten minutes). If coal is used be careful to avoid smoking the bananas. Serve on a hot platter garnished with cress.

Marshmallow Filling. Dissolve five teaspoonfuls of powdered gum arabic in a half cupful of cold water, add half a cupful of powdered sugar and boil until it is thick enough to form a soft ball between the fingers, when it is dropped into ice water. Pour it then upon the whipped white of an egg, flavor with vanilla and a few drops of lemon juice and spread upon the cakes with a knife dipped into hot water.

Creamed Oysters. Wash and pick over a quart of oysters and parboil until plump. Drain and add them to the following cream sauce: Warm two cups of rich milk in double boiler and add yolks of four eggs, beaten and strained. Cook until thick like boiled custard, stirring all the time, and when smooth remove from fire and add salt, pepper and butter to taste. Serve on crackers or toast.

Baked Fresh Ham. Procure a choice ham from a young animal. Remove rind, stick cloves over the surface at intervals of three or four inches, coat with sugar syrup and cover with sifted flour. Put in the roaster and bake in a moderate oven until well done. Baste with warm water and drippings each half hour. Remove the cover and allow the ham to brown. Serve hot with apple sauce.

Potato Pot. Cut a thin slice of bacon into small pieces, put it into a frying pan and add any beef or mutton left over from breakfast. Add a sliced onion, stir until the whole is brown, turn into the soup kettle with three pints of cold water, a bay leaf and a sprig of parsley, simmer gently an hour, strain, add two potatoes cut into dice, boil ten minutes, season and serve.

Mock Maple Sirup. One cupful of white sugar, two cupfuls of brown sugar, one and one-fourth cupfuls of boiling water. Boil three or four minutes. When cool add one teaspoonful of vanilla and put into jars.

Uncertain Schedule. "Do you leave Lonelyville every morning at the same time?" "No, I never leave two mornings a week at the same time." "But I suppose you always come in on the same train?"—Yonkers Statesman.

Cheated. "What's the matter, little boy?" "M-mom's gone an' drowned all the kittens." "Dear, dear, now, that's too bad." "Yes, she p-promised—boohoo!—me 't I c-could do it."—Pathfinder.

The Explanation at Last. Haleigh sung his garment at Queen Elizabeth's feet. "It is that purple smoking jacket that was presented to me," he explained.—New York Sun.

HUMOROUS QUIPS

Song of the Costlyliving.

Taking it on percentage with Tennyson, I come from hunger and from need. I make a sudden saally; I soar with an increasing speed; I scamper up an alley.

Up, up I soar in eager flight Beyond the wildest rumors; Until I pass beyond the sight Of ultimate consumers.

I chatter, chatter as I fly Of ice and eggs and leather, And what makes everything so high—The middleman? The weather?

Again I soar and more and more Into the heights I cherish And chortle when a hundred score, Who cannot see me, perish.

I rise, I soar, I dip, I fly— Descend to earth? Nay, never! For men may live and men may die, But I go up forever. —New York Mail.

Enough For One Meal. "Whenever I see a toothpick," said Moses Ezekiel, the Roman sculptor, "I think of a dinner that was given in Rome in honor of two Turkish noblemen."

"I sat beside the younger of the noblemen. He glittered with gold embroidery and great diamonds; but, nevertheless, I pitied him sincerely, for he was strange to our table manners, and some of his blunders were both humorous and painful."

"Toward the dinner's end a servant extended to the young man a plate of toothpicks. He waved the plate away, saying in a low bitter voice: "'No, thank you. I have already eaten two of the accursed things, and I want no more.'"—World Today.

A King-George Story. Shortly before his departure for India King George was visiting at a country house near the scene of one of Oliver Cromwell's battles. Strolling out one morning alone, he met the village blacksmith. "I say, my good fellow," said his majesty genially, "I understand there was a big battle fought here." "Well—er," stammered the blacksmith, recognizing and saluting the king, "I did 'ave a round or two with 'im 'bout the pottin, but I didn't know your majesty 'ad 'eard of it."—Boston Transcript.

Self Classified. During one of the earlier discussions of the United States tariff in the Canadian parliament an opposition member characterized the attitude of the government on the question as "a slight that would make angels weep and jackasses laugh."

Hon. Frank Oliver, who was then minister of the interior, replied with his usual deliberate calmness: "I have observed that the honorable gentleman has been one of those who laughed."—Judge.

Sauce Only For the Goose. "Now that our wedding day is drawing near," she said, nestling a little more closely in his arms, "I am beginning to be awfully frightened. Sometimes I almost feel tempted to run away and never come back."

"I didn't intend to tell you about it," he replied, "but I frequently feel that way myself."

"Why, Fred? I don't believe you really love me. You—you heartless wretch! I shall never speak to you again."—Chicago Record Herald.

Appraising Its Value. The great emotional access was a boring under intense excitement. "My diamond tiara has been stolen," she exclaimed.

"How much is it worth?" asked the press agent coolly. "That is up to you," replied the G. M. A. "It ought to be worth at least a column."—Puck.

A Query. "I want to know one thing," said the visitor at the zoo. "What is it?" demanded the keeper. "Does the box constructor mean it as an affectionate embrace when he throws his neck around his owner's arms?"—Baltimore American.

Protected the Public. "It seems to me that the jury convicted her upon mighty flimsy evidence."

"Yes, but it came out at the trial that she had accepted an offer to go on the stage if she was acquitted."—Houston Post.

Horrible Thought! "That Burbank man is a wonder," said Maude. "I don't like a man who tries to be so smart," replied Myrtle. "The first thing we know he'll be undertaking to invent a kissless mistletoe."—Washington Star.

Uncertain Schedule. "Do you leave Lonelyville every morning at the same time?" "No, I never leave two mornings a week at the same time." "But I suppose you always come in on the same train?"—Yonkers Statesman.

Cheated. "What's the matter, little boy?" "M-mom's gone an' drowned all the kittens." "Dear, dear, now, that's too bad." "Yes, she p-promised—boohoo!—me 't I c-could do it."—Pathfinder.

The Explanation at Last. Haleigh sung his garment at Queen Elizabeth's feet. "It is that purple smoking jacket that was presented to me," he explained.—New York Sun.