Richard Gardiner

To his many friends and acquaintances the news of the sudden death of Richard Gardiner came as a crushing shock. While he had not been in rugged health for several years, he had not been confined to his house and had been about his accustomed pursuits as usual. The day of his death he was at his office and went to the ball game in apparent health and spirits. Without a moment's warning Death claimed him.

"Dick" Gardiner, as his friends knew him, was one of the best known men in Rochester. He was one of the lieutenants of Martin J. Cahill in politics and succeeded to that chieftain's place in Monroe County affairs. He was charitable and delighted to be doing something for somebody else. Probably, he did more for others than he did for himself. There are such men and he was one. Like Martin Cahill, Mr. Gardiner delighted to push young men to the front and his kindly advice saved many a one from a downward path.

In the Cathedral parish and in movements of an Irish character, "Dick" Gardiner was always in the front. Nothing for the benefit of the Cathedral or for the diocesan institutions was on that he was not in the forefront. St. Patrick's parish loses a prominent worker in his death.

Ever since he attained manhood, Mr. Gardiner has been in public life and in every post he made good. As overseer of the poor, as member of Assembly, as county purchasing agent, he worked ever to accomplish results. Not many officials have any better record to their credit.

To his sorrowing wife and daughter and his relatives the Catholic Journal extends sincere sympathy upon the loss of a loving father, a devoted husband and a loyal friend. May his soul rest in peace.

Where Does He Stand?

While it is a matter of little concern whether the "Guardians of Liberty" the new A. P. A. organization recently launched lives or dies, it is a matter of regret that such a war hero as General Nelson A. Miles should lend his aid to an outfit that would disenfranchise some of the bravest men who ever fought under Miles or any other American general.

We note that General Miles issued a public statement in which he said that the "Guardians" were not bigots but patriots, but we have not read that he repudiated any of the bigoted frothings of Charles Haines and the other "patriots" who have abused the Catholic Church, reviled her ministers, slandered the nights of Columbus and other Catholic fraternal organizations.

General Miles either approves or disapproves of the bigotry of the "Guardians." Where does he stand? Why does he not cut loose from the "Guardians" if he is not himself a bigot?

We have suspected that, like other egotists, Nelson A. Miles, liked mighty well to be in the limelight and that any vehicle of publicity would be welcomed. We just want to assure him that his latest vehicle is a rickety one and will not carry him far without a spill. Decent, fair-minded non-Catholics are opposed to any revival of bigotry or know nothing and they will frown down the "Guardians" under their present scope just as quickly and effectually as the Catholics.

Hits Nail on Head

Rev. Father Phelan, in the Western Watchman, hits the nail on the head in the following editorial paragraph:—

The socialist organs never tire telling us that socialism has nothing to do with religion. But religion is the only subject discussed in socialist gatherings; and the only subject all socialists are supposed to know a great deal about. It takes no education or knowledge to make an amateur theologian and critic of God and His Church; but it requires a great deal of the very latest theology to make a socialist. What a socialist does not know about "superstition" can be supplied only by a thirty-third-degree hobnob.

Cut Out the Frills!

Commenting upon the statement of a school commissioner of Munice, Ind., that high schools are unnecessary and that schools should be kept open twelve months in the year the Catholic Advance of Wichita, Kansas, says:—

Better cut out the "proud flesh" and get back to the forgotten spelling and writing and arithmetic, and if youth want bay windows on their empty conks let them pay for them. Just think of it—a school with a paid superintendent of lunches, and paid cooks, and paid dishwashers, and gramophones and swimming pools, and billiards and athletics, and football and golf, and dramatic associations, and secret societies, and everything attached to a clubhouse, but not a solitary thing that would suggest respect for authority, regard for religion, attraction for virtue, a love for a fellow-man or fear of God. And this is real education; the kind our mothers expected us to get and the kind excluded in favor of lunch counters, etc.

Fear of a "Saint"

It is reported that "nearly one hundred Protestant ministers met at the Y. M. C. A., in Washington, D. C., and passed the following resolution:—

"We earnestly protest against the proposed action in congress to appoint a Columbus Day as national holiday, because the demand for this holiday issues only from a very limited number of our people, and these being connected with one certain ecclesiasticism, we believe it to be a covert attempt to secure a future saint's day as a national holiday, and thereby establish a legislative and permanent recognition of this ecclesiasticism in our national life."

We wonder how many Methodists do favor Columbus day? And we wish to call the attention of our Italian friends to the fact that while the Methodists profess great friendship for the Italians they oppose any recognition of the Italian explorer who discovered the American Continent!

Keep watch for a lodge of the "Guardians of Liberty" in Rochester!

Rt. Rev. Bishop Hickey will deliver the principal address to the graduating class at Notre Dame University on June 17th. Cyril Joseph Curran, A. B., of Rochester will be the valedictorian.
