

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Kid Gleason Has Helped Chicago Team Win.

Manager Jim Callahan gives Kid Gleason all the credit for the early good showing the Chicago American made. He contends that the brilliant work of his youngsters is due entirely to the efforts of Gleason, who has been coaching them.

Gleason has ever been a valuable man on a ball team, even since he quit playing, and it is surprising that he has never been chosen to manage some major league team. He was of the greatest assistance to Bill Murray when he had charge of the Phillies, and he is again showing to good advantage with the White Sox.

Soccer Football Gaining.

Soccer football is slowly but steadily gaining a foothold in the east, according to a statement by officers of the Association Football League.

"Already soccer has crowded out the American game on the Pacific coast," the statement asserts, "and while it has not yet supplanted the eastern game on the Atlantic coast, a league has been formed, with six colleges as members, and indications are that two more will join for next year."

Rugby Team Coming.

The New South Wales Rugby football team will arrive in San Francisco Oct. 3 next and play a series of eleven games with teams of that city and vicinity.

The Barbarians will oppose them on Oct. 5 and the Olympic field on Oct. 12. Stanford and the University of California teams will each play the Australian team two games. A game will be played on Nov. 2 with the University of Southern California at Los Angeles, and on Nov. 12 the fifteen from the antipodes will tackle the University of Nevada at Reno. An all star team of college and club players will probably play the visitors in San Francisco Nov. 16.

Mack's Son Turns Manager.

Manager Mack's bustling son, Earl Mack, is going to try his hand at running the Atlantic City team this year. Earl has had several years of experience on the diamond with Scranton and with the Atlantic City club. He has also taken several training trips with the Athletics to the south and has filled in on the Yanigan team. Earl is now recruiting his team.

Sullivan Always an Jek.

Secretary James E. Sullivan of the Amateur Athletic union has not missed an Amateur Athletic union national championship for thirty years, and he also has been present at five of the six Olympic meetings that have been held. He has also been the referee of the eastern intercollegiate track and field championships since 1900.

McCarthy's Eastern Debut.

Luther McCarthy, the western heavy-weight boxer who knocked out Carl Morris, will make his first appearance in an eastern ring against Tim Logan. The latter is a sailor who has beaten all his opponents, although only recently taking up boxing. The bout will take place at the National A. C., Philadelphia.

McCormick's Pitching Record.

Jim McCormick, pitching for the Chicago Nationals in 1896, established the pitching record for consecutive victories, winning twenty-four games without even a tie being mixed in. John Luby, working for Chicago in 1890, won twenty straight, giving him second place.

Foreign Motor-Boats Coming.

Motor speed boats of England and France are announced to take part in the championship regatta in Chicago during the naval regatta Aug. 10 to 17. Other boats may be sent from Germany, Italy and Switzerland. The cups and prizes for winners will cost $60,000.

HUMOROUS QUIPS

Envy.

My teacher says that I'm the best And smartest boy in school; I'm never careless, like the rest; I never break a rule; If victory should come to me, She has me speak a piece, Or bound the coast of Greece.

You might expect that, since my brain Holds such an awful lot, I'd be extremely proud and vain. But, oh, indeed I'm not! For Willie Brown's a clever lad Than I can hope to be. Why, I'd give anything I had To be as smart as he.

He can't recite "Hark, hark, the lark!" He's not the teacher's pet, He never gets a perfect mark In arithmetic, and yet Could I be he I'd waste no tears On foolish things like sums, For Willie Brown o'wags his ears And dislocates his thumbs, —Deems Taylor in Youth's Companion.

Self Evident.

Liz—Wot makes 'em go up in the air, them things?
Alf—W'y, the blinkin' binjin, yer silly kid.
Liz—Well, ain't motors got binjins?
Alf—Course they 'as, but they ain't got no wings, 'ave 'em?
Liz—Then it's the wings as makes 'em go up, ain't it?
Alf—Pawtly. Well, it's like this: They runs along the grahnd a bit, an' then the wind gits under the wings, an' bup they go! See?
Liz—Wunnerful, ain't it?
Alf—Just abah.
Liz—An' 'ow do they come dahh, then, Alf?
Alf—W'y, stop the binjin, o' course.
Liz—But 'ow can they git the wind ahlt from under the wings?
Alf—Well, frinstance—well, 'ow does a bird do it?
Liz—I dunno.
Alf—You seen a bird, I s'pose, ain't yer?
Liz—Eaps.
Alf—An' you seen a bird come dahh, I s'pose?
Liz—Oh, yus; I seen that!
Alf—Well, then, don't arst sich silly queestuns.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Thoughtful Georgia.

"Faps," said Georgia, "it worries me awful to think how much trouble I give mamma."
"She hasn't complained."
"No, she's very patient. But she often sends me to the shops for things, and they are a good way off, and I know she get's cross waiting when she's in a hurry."
"Not often, I fancy."
"Oh, she's nearly always in a hurry. She gets everything all ready for baking and finds at the last minute she hasn't no yeast, or she gets a puddling all mixed and she hasn't any nutmeg or something, and then she's in an awful stew, 'cause the oven is all ready, and maybe visitors are coming, and I can't run a very long distance, you know, and I feel awful sorry for poor mamma."
"Humph! Well, what can you do about it?"
"I was thinking you might get me a bicycle."—Pearson's Weekly.

Where Was It?

President Mellen of the New Haven likes railroad stories, no matter what the variety, and was immensely pleased with one of the lesser officials the other day when he told him this one as being not only true, but as an occurrence in the New Haven station:

A nervous lady stopped a baggage-master and demanded to know why her train was arriving so late.

"Well," said he, "it's just like this: The train ahead is behind, and this train was behind before besides."

The lady could not figure it, and neither for a moment could President Mellen.—Boston Traveler.

Essential to Success.

Lambert Kasper, Chicago attorney, told the following story at a recent Young Men's Christian association banquet:

A Kansas farmer, a Dane, applied for naturalization papers. The judge asked him, "Are you satisfied with the general conditions of the country?"

"Yes," drawled the Dane.

"Does the government suit you?" queried the judge.

"Yes, yas; only I would like to see more rain," replied the farmer.—Chicago Tribune.

Ways of Weights.

"The ancients used to write in clay and then bake it."
"Yes," replied the man who was reading the latest speech. "In those days when they spoke of hurling epithets at a man it meant something."—Washington Star.

Taking No Chances.

"I see in this paper that Dr. Wiley says a wife is entitled to one-third of the husband's salary."
"Yes. The trouble is that so many wives don't seem to know which third it is and take all three."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Explained.

"What is this domestic science?" inquired the engaged girl.
"It consists of making hash out of the left over meat and croquettes out of the left over hash," explained her more experienced friend.—Pittsburgh Post.

The Common Fraction.

Her Husband—The census officials state that the average family consists of four and a fraction persons. How do you account for the fraction?
His Wife—Oh, that is the husband.—Judge.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Attachment For Brooms That Catches the Dust.

As any housewife knows a broom in the hands of an inexperienced sweeper is more of a hindrance than a help because of the clouds of dust raised. Even the expert makes some dust that settles on the furniture, and it is to catch most of this dust and imprison it that an Illinois man patented the attachment shown here. This is a metal shield with a sort of tray along the bottom. From the curve at the top two arms extend and are fastened around the upper portion of the broom body. Thus the dust that is raised by the broom flies against the shield, and most of it falls into the tray, where it settles into the little balls that you see come from a carpet sweeper. As may be imagined, this makes much clearer sweeping.

Successful Jelly Making.

Use good fruit which is a little under ripe. Use the best granulated sugar. Do not make large quantities of jelly at one cooking. Heat the sugar in the oven before adding it to the fruit juice. If the juices must be boiled down always do so before the sugar is added. The jelly will be clearer and finer if the fruit is simmered gently and not stirred during cooking. Do not allow the sirup to boil rapidly or crystals may appear in jelly. Always make jelly on a bright, clear day. Wash the jelly glasses in hot water and set them on a folded cloth wrung out of hot water. Set the jelly in a sunny window for twenty-four hours, then cover with melted paraffin and set in a dry, cool place.

Roast Smoked Shoulder of Pork.

Soak six hours or more in warm water. Drain, cover with cold water, bring to the boiling point and boil ten minutes, then simmer two hours of cook in the steamed cooker six hours. Take from the fire, remove the skin and spread over it the following mixture. Four tablespoonfuls of brown sugar, one tablespoonful of made mustard, one tablespoonful of sour and one tablespoonful of vinegar. Blend together. Bake one hour.

Soup Potatoes Soup.

Pare and slice six large potatoes and three small turnips. Put them in five pints of water and boil five or six hours until perfectly dissolved and of the consistency of pea-soup. If it boils away too fast add a little boiling water. When thick enough add butter, pepper and salt. A small piece of salt pork or lamb or veal and a small onion may be added to vary the soup if desired.

To Wash Silver.

The following mixture is excellent for washing silver: Take equal parts of common yellow soap and whiting. Melt the soap, then add the whiting and make it into a cake. Apply it with a piece of flannel and plenty of warm water, then well rinse and dry, and the silver will not only look beautifully bright, but will not require cleaning so often.

Mack Indian Pudding.

One pint of stale bread, two tablespoonfuls of butter, three and one-half cupfuls of milk and one-half cupful of molasses. Soften the butter and spread on the bread. Pour over the bread three cupfuls of milk and the molasses. Bake one hour. Stir and add the remainder of the milk. Bake one-half hour longer. Serve with cream.

Mustard Ham.

A slice of ham one and a half inches thick cover with water and boil one hour. Put in baking pan, cover with one tablespoonful of dry mustard and one tablespoonful of sugar. Put in about one cupful of water in which it has been boiled and bake half an hour. The mustard gives the ham a delicious flavor.

Peach Tart.

For each large peach allow one tablespoonful of sugar and half a cup of water. Fill baking dish with sliced peaches, add sugar and water, cover with pie crust and bake in a moderate oven thirty minutes. Serve hot with cream.

FOR THE CHILDREN

A Difference.

When I get over the street to play And wonder how that I may stay One hour at Dorothy's, oh, my! The other boys have got to play! We just about get washed down To make our shoes a bit or two Or find the dust or fluff about our shoes, to see very great success. The best of it is to get out my! —The best of it is to get out my! —Just how it can be I don't know, but that's about as best as it can be.

Which makes me, it's a pretty thing, And I have wash my hands and shoes On that place, and my! That hour's as different as can be! The other boys have got to play! And Dorothy has got to play! The boy next door has made a game And wraps an arm as tight as a noose, And down the street the crowd runs In a shouting and a cheering way. And how I have to get away! One whole hour has this lovely day! I don't see how we hour can be, As long as that has lasted in my! —Youth's Companion.

Alphabet of Proverbs.

A grain of prudence is worth a pound of grief.
Boasters are cousins of liars.
Denying a fault doubles it.
Envy shoots at others and wounds herself.
Foolish fear doubles danger.
God teaches us good things by our own hands.
He has hard work who has nothing to do.
It costs more to reverse wrongs than to suffer them.
Knavery is the worst trade.
Learning makes a man his company for himself.
Modesty is a guard to virtue.
Not to hear conscience is the way to silence it.
One hour today is worth two tomorrow.
Proud looks make you work in fair faces.
Quiet conscience is quiet sleep.
Richard is he that wants least.
Small faults indulged in are little thieves that let in great ones.
The boughs that bear most hang lowest.
Upright walking is sure walking.
Virtue and happiness are mother and daughter.
Wise men make more opportunities than they find.
You never lose by doing a good act.

Game of Elements.

After two captains have been chosen they proceed to select their parties, choosing alternately till the company is equally divided. They post themselves in two rows facing each other. One of the captains begins the game by throwing a ball or knotted handkerchief to one of the players on the opposite side, crying aloud at the same time either "earth," "air," "water," or "fire." He usually tries to throw it to one who is apparently least expecting it. If he fails he is obliged to pass the ball to the next player. If he succeeds he is obliged to pass the ball to the next player. The game is continued until one side has retired from the contest.

A Wren's Singing Lesson.

A wren whose nest was in a box near a country house was watched by the family as she patiently instructed her little ones, says the Philadelphia Ledger. Placing herself on one side of the opening and in front of her pupils, she first sang her entire song very distinctly. One little fighter opened his mouth and tried to follow her, but after a few notes his voice gave out and he lost the tune. Mamma Wren immediately took up the melody at that point and sang it through as clearly as possible, when the youngster tried it again and finished triumphantly.

Conundrums.

Why do some congressmen wear long beards? Because their wives buy their neckties.
Why are chemists so clever at answering? Because they see a report.
Is it unwholesome for a dog to sleep in its owner's bedroom? Dogs are tough animals. He may get used to it.
Why are some Englishmen so very straight? Probably because they are descendants of great rulers.
Why are some men called "sea-shore men"? They are young boys (piers). They have sandy complexions, wavy hair and spend oceans of money.

New Sea Birds Drink.

The means by which sea birds quench their thirst when far out at sea is described by an old skipper, who tells how he has seen birds at sea, far from any land that could furnish them water, hovering around and under a storm cloud, chattering like ducks for a hot day at a pond and drinking in the drops of rain as they fell. They will smell a rain 100 miles distant or even farther off and acid for it with almost inconceivable swiftness.
