

Woman's World

Miss Malley, Socialist Candidate For Governor.

MISS ANNA AGNES MALLEY.

The Socialist candidate for governor in the state of Washington is a woman—Miss Anna Agnes Malley. This very efficient and clever lady was born in Minnesota thirty-nine years ago. Reared on a farm, at thirteen Miss Malley went to Minneapolis, where "she worked for her board" and attended school until a three year course in the high school was completed. After graduating, she taught in country schools until she was twenty-two years of age, when she took up stenography.

Later Miss Malley returned to school, doing special work at the University of Minnesota and in the Reed School of Social Science of New York city. From 1909 till 1911 she was a special organizer of women for the National Socialist party. For the past year she has been connected with a Socialist paper published in Washington state.

Miss Malley is already in the field campaigning, and she is regarded as likely to run second among the candidates for governor, and her election is not impossible if the old parties remain split, as they are at present.

"I care nothing for myself personally," said Miss Malley recently. "It is the principles, aims and methods of the National Socialist party that I desire to see succeed. Our party has stood upon this unmodified platform since its organization—social ownership and democratic control of the socially necessary industrial property."

Queen Mary "Sassed" by Lady Constance. Lady Constance Stewart Richardson, the beautiful young woman who danced over here some time ago, has offended Queen Mary," said a diplomat's wife, according to the Washington Post. "She actually told the queen to stand out of the light at a picture exhibition."

Memorial to Mrs. Decker. The women of Colorado will probably erect a memorial in the form of a woman's building at the State university to the life and work of Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker. The movement was started by the alumnae of the university, and Mrs. Decker was enthusiastic about it. The building will be for the use of needy women students at the university. Mrs. Dewey C. Cluby, president of the Denver Woman's Club; Mrs. James D. Whitmore, a past president, and others will attend a meeting at which the matter will be discussed and the memorial idea take form. Mrs. Whitmore says in regard to the proposed memorial, "I know that its erection to her memory and in honor of her life and work would be the most fitting and beautiful tribute within the power of the womanhood of Colorado to bestow."

Said About Womankind. Life is not long enough for a coquette to play all her tricks in.—Joseph Addison. If a fox is cunning, a woman in love is a thousand times more so.—Proverb. The happiest women, like the happiest nations, have no history.—George Eliot. A mother's prayers, silent and gentle, can never miss the road to the throne of all bounty.—Henry Ward Beecher. A good tempered woman, of the order of the elect, not only warrants a pair of expansive shoulders, but bestows an appreciation of them.—Lugh Meehan.

Milady's Mirror

Laughing a Wrinkle Cure. Laughing is one of the very best remedies for wrinkles. The old saying, "Laugh and grow fat," is certainly a good rule to observe, for laughing is usually accompanied by a happy, care-free mind, and there is no better wrinkle eradicator than a contented disposition.

It is simply wonderful how smooth and soft a face becomes if its owner is given to frequent outbursts of hearty laughter. Smiling alone won't do. Laugh with your mouth and eyes and don't be afraid that it will spoil the beauty of your features, for it will not. It may in course of time produce dimpled cheeks or chin, but these are a much coveted possession and sure to increase and enhance one's beauty.

If ill health is the cause of wrinkles the best and only thing to do is to consult a doctor. He will soon find out what the trouble is and will treat you accordingly. And why should you wait until the wrinkles have become so deep and pronounced that it will be a difficult matter to remove them? If the wrinkles were occasioned by worry look the trouble square in the face and see if it is necessary to worry to such an extent if there is not one way out of it. In nine cases out of ten the trouble will seem much reduced on second sight, for no sorrow is so severe that there is not at least one ray of sunshine to be got out of it if one has only the firm intention of finding it.

Treating the Hair After Sea Bathing. While salt and water very weak is a good tonic for the hair and scalp, sea bathing with the salt left in the hair is about the worst possible thing, and this is the month when women go down to the seashore and stay around in the surf hours at a time.

As a daily shampoo with clear soft water would soon take out all the luster and leave an almost dry scalp, the best way to manage is to keep the head covered, and the best thing for a cap is silk rubber cloth. This can be had now in so many tints as well as patterns, checks, stripes, etc., that there is no excuse for such a cap being unbecoming. But the cap should cover the hair, and a narrow rubber run through a hem will keep it in place.

After the surf riding or the swim the hair should be let hang as long as possible before being dressed, and if there seems any dampness use a little brush—a toothbrush is good—with a few drops of cologne, parting the locks at long intervals and rubbing the scalp until it glows. But if there is any salt in the hair it will have to be sprayed out. This does not mean a thorough shampoo, but a good spray with perfectly fresh, clean water, first warm, then cold, and a good rubbing after. The idea is to get the hair dry without the real washing entailed by a regular shampoo.

Good Freckle Lotion. For freckles there is a lotion which is very good indeed. It consists of chopped cucumbers or cucumbers cut in slices with all the juice in them. They are then bound upon the face in such a way that the juice will dry on. For freckled and chapped hands there is a bath of witch hazel and cucumber juice in equal parts. This can be applied to the skin with a little sponge. After it has been on fifteen minutes it can be washed off with soap and water, for there is something unpleasant about the nicest lotion when it is allowed to dry upon the skin.

The summer skin is a matter of much anxiety, for in the summer all would have a nice complexion, yet it is extremely difficult when the sunshine brings its blemishes, and the very winds are laden with tan and freckles.

The Time For Massage. Night is the time to massage the face for the removal of wrinkles. The tired lines must be smoothed out and the muscles of the face braced up before sleep is sought, so that all strain and tension are removed from the features during sleep.

First all dust should be taken away from the skin. Many women will say in reply to this: "There is no dust or grime to remove. My face is quite clean." You are making a big mistake there, for it is really quite impossible to prevent the pores of the skin from collecting some dust during the day.

Sunburned Faces. Orange flower cream (soothing for sunburned faces) is made as follows: Melt two ounces of white wax in a double boiler, add to it four ounces of oil of sweet almonds and when barely hot remove it from the fire and add to it four ounces of orange flower water.

Beat it with a fork till it is light and creamy, then pour it into small jars, which should be tightly covered. Keep it in a cool place.

To Remove Moth Patches. To remove moth patches from the skin apply a solution of combed baking soda to the patches with a soft cloth or camel's hair brush. Repeat the process several times a day for three days. Allow the soda to dry on, then cleanse the skin of the face with a soap bath. Repeat the treatment if necessary.

MIDSUMMER FROCK

The Dolly Yarden Garden Party Costume

POULARD DRESSES IN PINK AND WHITE.

Charming are the midsummer frocks in Dolly Yarden style. This one of figured foulard in pink and white pattern opens over a chiffon petticoat, on which are pink satin buttons.

The skirt flounce and trimming touches are also of pink satin.

For the Tailor Made Hat. The hat of tailor made persuasion which is so useful an adjunct of the smaller postures, ranked in the third class. In the 3,500 places in the lower grades, which are gradually occupied by women at an average salary of $150 annually.

Another day a band of colored velvet ribbon with donkey ear bows at the sides will diversify the appearance of the hat, and then the collar will be finished with a large bow to match, fastened upon the blouse with fancy pins.

One of the prettiest trimmings for the tailor made hat, and a fine way to a closely plaited fill of cream colored lace, with a frill to match worn upon the blouse. Strictly speaking, such a hat is not, of course, entitled to the name of tailor made. It is the "between and between" hat that is particularly useful at this season of the year. Neither too severe nor too dreamy, made of honey colored straw with posy rings at the sides, from which spring taffeta "wings," such a hat is extremely becoming.

Women as Inventors. The Scientific American proves that most of the articles invented by women have to do with farming and farming apparatus.

The first patent granted to a woman was for a process of straw and silk weaving, invented by Mary Kies.

The second was to Mary Brush for a corset and the third to Sophie Usher for a toilet lotion made of cream of tartar and violet water.

Then came Phoebe Collier with an invention for sawing wheel felles, and Miss Buckley invented a new way to make a sheet iron shovel.

Recently a combined toaster and warming pan was invented by Agnes Phelps of Chicago, with Florence King as her attorney and two women witnesses.

Altogether only a little more than 8,000 patents have been granted to women, while men have nearly 1,000,000 to their credit.

Dad Has a Word to Say. The daughters of an east end household, ardent suffragists, were talking politics.

"Taff will sweep the country," declared Mabel.

"Wilson will sweep the country," asserted Maud.

1912 BATHING SUIT

Simple, Practical, and Comfortable

BLACK AND WHITE OR MOTTLED SUITS ARE AS MODERN IN BATHING COSTUMES AS IN EVERYTHING ELSE.

The blouse is of black and white striped satin, the cap of the same material, and the silk stockings and bathing slippers are black. The light worn under the bathing dress are of black alpaca.

Women to Replace Men. Considerations of economy have induced the imperial postal authorities of Germany, to approve a plan by which 8,000 girls and women will gradually supplant men on the staffs of the different branches of the administration.

The innovation will especially affect the smaller postboxes ranked in the third class. In the 3,500 places in the lower grades, which are gradually occupied by women at an average salary of $150 annually.

In addition, in other postal branches throughout the empire 4,500 offices allotted to men will be filled in future by 5,100 women. Despite the numerical addition to the staffs the women's salaries are so much lower than those of the men that it is figured a saving of over $1,000,000 annually will be effected.

Per School Days. School days will soon be here, and mothers who are sending their small boys AWAY to school will be busy getting their wardrobe together.

The coat illustrated is a new model of gray and white woaded made in

THE NEW FALL COSTUME.

The Norfolk belted style, which is very good for all round wear. A black velvet collar buttons closely around the neck and forms a fine protection against the wintry winds.

Fashion Hints From Paris. The sleeve gathered in low lines from shoulder to wrist is the newest sleeve of the moment. It is very becoming to a thin arm, but the plump armed woman should avoid it except when the material is transparent. The contrasting ruffle falls over the hand. The newest tailor made coat is, on somewhat on the lines of the old English riding habit. It ends at the waist in front, fastening with a single button, and slopes off like a coat in the back.

Points For Mothers

Conquer Fearful of Sleeplessness. We are not the first to have heard of the power of the mother's love to conquer the child's fear of sleeplessness. The child's mind is so impressionable that it will absorb the mother's thoughts and feelings. The mother's love is the child's life.

Education of Children. The Bishop of London once said, "I am convinced that the morality of the nation depends upon the morality of our people, and that the morality of our people depends upon the morality of our children."

Work and Play. The home is the child's world. The child's mind is so impressionable that it will absorb the mother's thoughts and feelings. The mother's love is the child's life.

Seeing Things at Night. If mothers notice that the brows of their little ones contract up unconsciously and thoughts from the shadows of a room more or less dark let the light burn brightly. To force a child to become accustomed to the darkness is a grave error if his nervous system is so organized that this forcing is productive of a fright.

A Birthday Ring From Germany. A newly imported novelty from Germany is a wooden birthday cake ring. It is brightly painted in a manner to appeal to children and placed with holes in which the birthday candles are to be set. As the holes are many, it is possible to have as many candles as are necessary, even when the children of a family are grown up. The ring is made of wood and is only about an inch thick, and it is intended that the cake be set inside this rim.

Casser Oil. To the mothers who find it hard to give the little ones cassers or make ginger cookies and add a little more sugar than the recipe calls for, and to the common kind, but add two tablespoons of Casser Oil and the secret is yours. From the day and the time she are sitting out of the house and see how well the remedy works.
