HUMOROUS QUIPS

Mrs. Youngwed's Trials. 'Twas the bride's first try at breakfast, And she got a bit confused...

Later on she had more trouble, And her head began to ache, He had bought a piece of bacon...

Hubby chanced to mention sweetbread: Said to have some nice 'tomboid be 'I will make some, dear, tomorrow...

'Henry love,' she said one morning, Husband asked, 'What is it, pet?' 'If some egg coal you would order...

To the grocery she went kicking, 'Take that flour back, it's too tough, Plus I made no one could cut them...

At the butcher's she was fussy, 'Give me something Mr. Grogg, Without bone or fat or gristle...

'Mum,' said he, 'You want an egg?' 'No, I want a hen.'

Taking No Chances. 'Is Mrs. Tracey in?' the caller asked. The hired girl looked her over with suspicion...

'Are you an agent for the rough dry laundry?' she asked. 'No, indeed.' 'You ain't introducing any foolish labor saving patents for the kitchen, are you?'

'No.' 'The reason I ask,' the girl explained, 'is that a lady I let in yesterday turned out to be selling electric wringers and I heard her tell Mrs. Tracey that half the society women of the Oranges had bought her machines...

A Paradox. Miss Eleanor Sears is as witty as she is athletic, and Boston has recently been smiling at one of her 'mots'. Miss Sears, so the story runs, was discussing at a tea the strange, softening effect upon the heart that the seashore seems to occasion...

The Difference. The Hon. David Keen is a Canadian senator possessing a fund of amusement of the Scotch assortment. On one occasion while he was seated in a barber's chair at Halifax, N. S., a garrulous and rather inconsequential acquaintance entered...

Psychological Study. 'What makes you think that that man has a melancholy disposition? His remarks are always highly optimistic.' 'That's the point,' replied Miss Cayenne. 'Only a person of melancholy tendencies would have to go to so much pains to cheer himself up.'

How It Happened. 'And you say you've nearly lost your eyesight?' asked the woman at the farmhouse door of the tramp. 'Yes'm.' 'Is that the itinerant's reply? You see, ma'am, there's a new fifty-dollar counterfeit bill out and I lost my eyesight looking for one.'

Too Wise For That. 'Geeze are supposed to be symbols of all that is foolish.' 'Well, go on.' 'But you never see an old gander board a million kernels of corn and then go around trying to mate with a gosling.'

What Hurts. 'This speeding is something awful. No wonder such dreadful accidents happen from their going so fast.' 'It's not the going fast that makes accidents, ma'am, it's the stopping quick.'

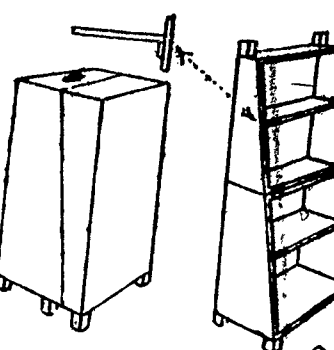

Practical Solution. Teacher: If you were getting dinner for six people and had but five potatoes, how would you divide them to give each an equal share? Small Sadie: I'd mash 'em.

The Underman. Gillet: The people in the flat above us are constantly fighting. Perry: Doesn't your wife object? Gillet: No. She likes to have a fuss made over her.

Misunderstood. 'Well! Saw my wife off for the West Indies this morning.' 'Jamaica?' 'No! She went of her own accord.'

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Stepladder Made From an Ordinary Packing Box.

A wooden packing case or box, about thirty inches long, fifteen inches wide and ten inches deep, with the cover attached, can often be obtained at the grocer's...

The two pieces are then hinged together with one inch flat hinges let into the two parts in such a fashion that when the ladder is closed the hinges will allow the two pieces to come closely together.

Mustard Pickles. Two quarts cucumbers, one quart green tomatoes, cut these in small pieces. One quart little onions, cut in half. One large cauliflower divided into tiny flowerets...

Boston Chowchow. One peck green tomatoes, one bunch celery, six small onions, two green peppers, two pounds brown sugar, one tablespoonful each of salt, cloves, cinnamon, pepper and salt...

Apple Sauce Cake. One cupful of sugar and one cupful of shortening creamed together. Add one tablespoonful of salt, one quarter teaspoonful of cloves, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, a little nutmeg and one cupful of raisins.

Wild Grape Jelly For Game. Pick over, wash and remove stems from one peck of wild grapes. Put in a preserving kettle with one quart of vinegar and one fourth cupful each of whole cloves and stick cinnamon broken into pieces.

Sweet Potato Pie. Roll sufficient sweet potatoes to make a pint of pulp. When pressed through a sieve add a pint of milk, a small cupful of sugar, a little salt, the beaten yolks of two eggs and a teaspoonful of lemon juice.

Quince Honey. Pare and grate five large quinces. To one pint of boiling water add five pounds of sugar. Stir over fire until sugar is dissolved, add quince and cook fifteen or twenty minutes.

FOR THE CHILDREN

The Gobble-uns.

Once they was a little boy wouldn't say his prayers, 'Aa' when he went to bed at night away upstairs...

'An' one time a little girl 'ud ails laugh an' grin, 'An' make fun of ever one an' all her blood an' kin...

'An' the gobbie-uns 'll git you if you don't watch out.' 'An' little orphan Annie says when the blaze is blue, 'An' the lampwick splutters an' the wind goes woo-oo!'

'An' you hear the crickets quit an' the moon is gray, 'Aa the lightning bugs in dew is all quenched away.

'An' the witch's dance. This should be the close of the Halloween party. Place a small table in the middle of the floor and have every one join in forming a big ring...

Halloween Fortunes. Place beside your bed a glass of water containing a silver of wood. If in your sleep you dream of falling off a bridge and some one rescuing you...

Friendship Love Indifference Hate. Another stunt which most young people know well is the cancelling letter. Write some person's name on a slip of paper and then count off all the common letters...

Ringing. This game is never old and for rainy days there is nothing like it. There are many topics that can be jingled into funny rimes if the rimers have ingenuity.

Halloween Suggestions. Corn red, white and yellow makes a splendid decoration. You can thrust the ears into the meshes of fish nets which you drape on the walls.

Pale green grape paper is nice to drape the refreshment table with. Don't fail to provide plenty of pop-corns, with poppers and a fire to toast the popcorn.

IN THE HANDS OF THE ENEMY

Bride and Groom Kidnaped to Make a Double Wedding.

There was to be a double wedding between Donald Syphax and May Southworth, parties of the first part, and Pembroke Hughes and Della Hickox, parties of the second part.

The truth was (and the parties of the first part learned it) that the parties of the second part, having heard that both couples were to be given a hot time on the wedding night by their friends...

An enthusiastic number of friends attended the wedding, including Mr. Hughes and Miss Hickox. The ceremony had been performed, the bride's health had been drunk in the supper room...

The merry crowd were not to be cheated entirely of the sport they had anticipated. Bob Southworth, a brother of the bride suggested that a couple personate the one that had escaped and asked the Hughes-Hickox couple...

Now it appeared from the first that the bride auto was stronger and faster than any of the others and possessed a chauffeur who was bent on leaving them behind.

You're in the hands of the enemy," said Bob Southworth. "Lucia and I have you in charge, our brother Ned is chauffeur and we're going to make this a double wedding after all."

They were going like a barometer and in an hour pulled up at their destination. Meanwhile the pair had consulted, invented plans of escape only to throw them aside and at last came to the conclusion that since they must be laughed at it would be better to be laughed at without a scandal.

When the party in the automobile returned to the house, where dancing and feasting were in progress, and announced the second half of the double wedding...
