Advertising and Salesmanship

The Rochester Business Institute will start a course in Advertising next Tuesday evening, February 4th, and a course in Salesmanship Thursday evening, February 6th.

These courses will continue on Tuesday and Thursday evenings for ten consecutive nights and will begin at 8 o'clock sharp. The plan of these courses has been arranged by the managers of the school, assisted by Edward S. Babcox, advertising manager, Yawman & Erbe Manufacturing Company. The courses will be conducted by S. C. Williams, John F. Forbes and Mr. Babcox, who will be assisted by ten successful advertising managers and salesmen of Rochester. Each of these ten men will confine himself largely to his own line of business and will explain what he does to get results.

Each course is intended to lay a sufficient foundation to enable those taking it to decide whether it will be profitable for them to make a more thorough study of the subject, and will point out to them how best to do it if they wish to go on.

The cost of these courses is moderate and they will be valuable both to those who continue the study further and to those who do not.

There will be ample opportunity every evening to question the man who presents the topic. A folder giving details as to evenings, topics, speakers and prices will be mailed promptly to any address. Information may be had by phone if desired.
