Burn Garbage and Prevent Disease

Modern armies in camp or in the field, incinerators for burning up animal and vegetable refuse which, if permitted to accumulate, would constitute a serious menace to the soldiers and therefore to the nations in whose service they are.

Garbage is just as big a menace to the health of the inhabitants of a city as it is to the soldier in the field, and it does not cease to be a menace until it is burned up.

Easier for You Than for the Soldier.
The soldier must forage for his food, but the incinerator while you have GAS.

Let us tell you the experience of our towns-people with gas-fired garbage incinerators.
