AN ELEVATING PLAY

'The play was beautiful and finely acted and staged, whilst the overflowing attendance demonstrated that elevating plays will be patronized.' Rev. L. Minehan, Toronto, Can.

Degeneration of Names. Thomas Hardy showed his keen eye for the characteristic in giving his heroine the distinguished name of D'Urberville, corrupted by long rustic wear to Darbyfield. But many stately English names have gone further down hill than that, for example the mean and trivial Snooks, which has little to recall Sevenoaks. One would suppose that an easy prize winner in a degeneration race, yet Professor Weekley, in his book on the romance of English names, finds some that have descended as far and started higher. There is nothing very distinguished, for example, about Codlin--a novelist would hardly dare use it save for a comic figure. As Quodling it is merely queer. As Querdling it begins to seem foreign, and the etymologist can make a shrewd guess where he is coming out, while Querdelyon is but the thinnest of links for the illustrious Norman or Ajmal. Coeur de Lion. In England, the meanest little names may have the greatest history, especially if they started as French, which fares badly on English tongues.

Berberine Belief. Everything that goes wrong is attributed by the Berberines, a tribe of the Sudan, to the devil. Ethel S. Stevens, in 'My Sudan Year,' quotes a story told her by Bishop Gwynne of his 'boy's' coming to him one day and announcing, 'The devil is in the house.' 'Oh,' said the bishop, 'that is very interesting! When did he arrive?' 'He came in with the cook from the soup market yesterday evening.' 'Really?' commented the bishop, puzzled. 'Yes, and in the night--he came out of the cook and passed into me.' 'Oh, and what did he do?' 'He went to the cupboard and broke a plate and the top of the jam jar.' 'A light broke in on the jam?' 'Oh, he was after the jam! I suppose he ate some?' 'Yes,' said the boy, 'he did!' The idea of devil possession is not merely an elaborate form of excuse; the native servant really believes in it.

When Pope Was Dead. Alexander Pope, the deathless poet of England, had a large and intimate experience of the theater. In his time he was a welcome visitor behind the scenes, and most of the contemporaneous dramatic authors and actors were glad to be on friendly terms with him. Mean and little and contemptible as he was in many of his personal relations (recall Lady Mary Wortley Montagu's estimate of his infinite littleness), he nevertheless had a broad outlook, this, of course, from the viewpoint of the intellectual. He was in ready sympathy with the struggles on the stage, and he wrote this ap-ogy for imperfections that are inseparable from plays no less than from other works of finite, therefore imperfect, beings: 'Whoever thinks a faultless piece to see, thinks what never was nor is nor shall be.' --Exchange.

Where Living is Cheap. 'The cheapest place in the world is Antioch, in Syria,' says a returned traveler. 'Being on the Mediterranean, the climate is just right in the coldest months. I once passed a winter there, and all it cost me was $1 a week, though I leased a fine house and kept three servants. For the house I paid 20 shillings a month rent, while the servants were satisfied with 2 shillings a week. Mutton cost three halfpence a pound. Eggs were a penny a dozen and chickens two pence halfpenny each. The finest of fresh fruit and vegetables (in February, too) were so cheap that they were not sold in quantity. You got all you wanted for so much per week. All I required for my household cost me 1 shilling weekly. An American resident of Antioch told me that he and his family lived comfortably on $35 a year.'--Westminster Gazette.

Roach and Rain. There is one sport which benefits by the advent if not by the actual arrival of rain. This is fishing. While the rivers are still clear of floods and there is light enough for the fish to see the bait, but no sun to betray the shining hook, the fisherman has a chance to make a big catch, for fish rise and bite greedily before a rainstorm. The roach, known as the 'weather fish,' leaves his muddy bed, sometimes as long as twenty-four hours before the actual storm breaks, and swims around continually, all the time gasping for breath.--Hamburger Nachrichten.

A Disconcerting Habit. 'Yes, Dinah is a very good cook, but she has one failing. She's passionately fond of my perfumes.' 'You can lock them away from her, can't you?' 'Of course. But I can't get used to hear her snuffing under the door.'--Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Yate Wood. The yate, one of Australia's numerous hard woods, seems to be the strongest known timber, with an average tensile strength of 24,000 pounds to the square inch and a maximum as high as 35,000, about equal to cast and wrought iron.

Well Worked Bell. A bell in a temple in north China has been kept ringing for a century. A tax is levied in the district for paying rings of rings to work incessantly day and night.

ROUND THE WORLD

A mirror which reflects true colors is said to have been invented. A complete census of Mexico for 1910 shows the population to be 16,100,000.

St. Louis will soon build a new sewer five miles long at a cost of over $2,000,000.

Philadelphia officials now quit all marriage license applicants along eugenic lines.

Extensions of the boundaries of Glasgow last year made it the second city in population in the United Kingdom.

More than five times as many immigrants entered Brazil last year as went to that vast country ten years ago.

The Rockefeller sanitary commission for the eradication of the hookworm has treated 400,000 cases in the past three years.

A competitive test of milking machines in England by the royal agricultural society recently was won by a Swedish machine.

Of all the males in England and Wales, aged ten years and upward, 837 per 1,000 are occupied and 163 per 1,000 are unemployed.

Efforts are being made to extend navigation on the Rhine to Lake Constance. Three prizes, $10,000, $7,000 and $5,000, are to be given.

Rural districts in Denmark show less than one-twentieth of 1 per cent illiteracy. In the United States the corresponding figure is 10 per cent.

Vacuum-cleaners are coming into use in New York for cleaning sidewalks, sweeping them after 8 o'clock in the morning being forbidden by law.

A French inventor has turned out an arc light projecting lantern with which may be used opaque pictures, glass lantern slides or motion picture films.

At the request of the government of China a Chinese student has been assigned as aid in one of the field parties of the United States geological survey.

only. The characters in it will not be heard. They will be seen, while an orchestra plays the music intended to illustrate their story.

London streets are growing more dangerous every year. In 1904 155 persons were killed and ten injured in traffic accidents in the metropolitan area. Last year the figures were 537 and 20,000 respectively.

The toxic tendencies of alkaline waters have been corrected with nitric acid experimentally by an Australian chemist, which leads to the belief that vast areas of unproductive land may be safely irrigated in that manner.

Tree planting societies have been started in Norway to cover the mountain sides and unutilized areas of the country with forests, as they were centuries ago. The annual report shows that last year 144 societies planted 2,276,000 trees.

Hollow concrete tile blocks will be made at Panama, the canal commission having arranged for the erection of a plant for their manufacture. Most of the permanent buildings at the new town of Balboa will probably be erected with these blocks.

Thirty-nine million passengers in all crossed San Francisco bay between December, 1911, and December, 1912, an increase of over 2,500,000 as recorded in the year previous. They were carried on the five ferry lines touching the east and north shores of the bay.

Construction of the Peter the Great fortress, the greatest fortress in the world, designed for the protection of St. Petersburg, Russia, has begun. This fortress will consist of a chain of island forts extending across the gulf of Finland, a distance of over thirty-seven miles.

Last year over 80,000 ministers preached sermons on the prevention of consumption on tuberculosis day, which will be held on Dec. 7 this year. It is hoped this year to swell the number to 100,000 and to urge similar action besides in a large number of the schools and other societies.

Dr. Pierre Roxel, who has just announced the discovery of an anti-cholera serum, is director of the Pasteur Institute, Paris. He made his statement before the Academy of Sciences and said that monkeys which had been injected with cholera had been cured by inoculation with the serum.

The shades of the builders of the pyramids might have been interested onlookers at the sight of iron girders weighing forty-six tons each going up nineteen stories to the top of a building being erected in New York city. This is said to be the first time that girders of this weight have been lifted to such a height.

Wee to the ruler who founds his hope of sway on the weakness or corruption of the people.--Washington Irving.
